ELEVEN HUNDRED "MOTHERS" RAISE $13,000 IN SUNDAY POLIO FUND DRIVE

NEWTON WOMEN working on forthcoming Multiple Sclerosis Fund Drive are, standing, left to right: Mrs. Saul Rubin of West Newton; Mrs. Harry Blank, chairman; seated, left to right: Mrs. Al Lerner, Newton Center; Mrs. Ramon Silton, Waban. Sunday, February 19, has been set aside by Governor Christian A. Herter as "M. S. Sunday." Volunteers will be collecting in door-to-door solicitation, and canisters will be placed in local stores, to raise funds for research and patient rehabilitation on Multiple Sclerosis, a mysterious and crippling disease.

More Than $25,000 Collected to Date—Need $10,000 More

Eleven hundred Newton "mothers" marched for dimes Sunday and collected more than $13,000 for the polio fund.

The "mothers" included high school students, girl scouts, and parents of both sexes, wearing "today I am a mother" labels. By the time all the returns are in a total of $15,000 is expected.

Mrs. Frederick O. Dutton, mothers' march chairman, said returns are not yet in from Newton Upper Falls, parts of Waban and Newton Highlands.

Sunday's collection raises the total raised in the 1956 March of Dimes to more than $25,000. The Newton committee hoped to raise more than $35,000, and may still do so, said Frederick A. Hunt, co-chairman. It will, however, take $58,000 to care for all Newton patients, he said.

Sunday's response was "terrific," Mrs. Dutton said. "Last summer's epidemic made people more polio conscious," she explained, pointing out that many Newton residents had large checks all ready for the canvassers.

This year's total represents a 50 percent increase of last year's $9,400 total. All divisions but one have met with much better responses than last year, Mr. Hunt said, explaining that there was a 50 percent drop in coin card collections. Special gifts, and special events, such as the march and the Blue Crutch campaign, all have netted more, he said, and it is possible that people are waiting for these instead of mailing in their cards.

Boys and girls helped in nearly every village Mrs. Dutton said, but they did an especially outstanding job in Chestnut Hill. Mrs. Edward Frutman, and her son, Robert, a Newton High School sophomore, organized teenagers in the neighborhood for the march. Mrs. Frutman was the only adult involved in this section of the drive, which netted $740.

Says Scholarship Never A Bargain

"Scholarship has never been found on the bargain counter" was the idea that dominated a meeting of the Parent-Teacher-Student Association at Newton High School last Thursday. An audience of junior and senior high school parents heard from Newton High School teachers about the courses of study and level of achievement necessary to attain college entrance.

NEWTON TEACHERS were the principal speakers, representing Social Studies, English, Mathematics, Foreign Languages and the Reading Clinic. All agreed that planning for college must be early and detailed. Parents must find out exactly how many courses are needed in different basic fields and see that they are taken soon enough and in the right order. Equally pressing, they felt, is the need for parents and students to realize that it will not all be easy and fun.

The chairman, Floyd Rinker, head of the Department of English, stressed in his opening remarks that there is an aversion to serious thinking which has noticeably affected enrollment in the difficult subjects: mathematics, physics, chemistry and languages. In the light of the present world situation, these difficult subjects are necessary to our survival as a nation.

Francis Foster, a Social Studies teacher, who is Counselor for Student Citizenship, told how extremely important it is for a student at high school level to assume new, more adult responsibilities.

PARENTS WERE URGED by Miss Gertrude Creedon, English teacher, to listen to and discuss written and spoken school work, to supply quantities of books, and to help students work hard on the parts of English which are not fun. Language is basic to success because we think in words.

Mathematical knowledge has to be built carefully from the ground up, warned Eugene Ferguson, Department Head of Mathematics. Poor work in an early course makes good work in later courses almost impossible. He mentioned that almost half of college aptitude tests are made up of arithmetic computations and practical problems.

Tenley to Bid For Skating Crown Today

Newton's own Tenley Al. bright, undaunted by a painful ankle injury, will go into the last half of her bid to win the Olympic figure skating crown today (Thursday) at Cortina, Italy.

TAKING a clear-cut lead over her nearest rival, Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., Tenley, with a total of 1080 (points to 1054.95 points for Miss Heiss and 1008.1 points for Ingrid Wendt), the Austrian girl, will compete today in the free skating routine, is confident she can hold her lead. She is an excellent free skater and all Newton is rooting for her to win the coveted crown.

The 20-year-old Tenley was almost in tears after executing the half-way mark in the contest.

"NOW I CAN ADMIT for the first time that my ankle hurts," she said. "I couldn't say anything earlier because they would say it was an excuse if I didn't win. But since I have won, I admit it. It's been hurting all along."

Youths Aid White House Conference

With a map of Greater Newton before them, representatives of Newton Youth Organizations met this week to map their part in the large planning program for the Newton White House Conference on Education which will be held March 16 and 17. Representatives of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and the Boys Club made plans for their participation in "D (Delivery) Day" — a day in February when they will deliver to every home in Newton a flyer announcing the Conference.

THIS MEETING is one of many being held under the auspices of the Conference Committee to plan for the conference. "It indicates the all-out effort and cooperation on the part of every group and segment of Newton's population to make the ideas behind this conference a reality," stated Mrs. James Zimmer, Executive Chairman of the Conference. "It is our purpose to gather together at this meeting Newton's people from every walk of life — parents of all school children, public private and parochial, educators, interested citizens, taxpayers — to talk out the problems confronting all of us in the present educational crisis."

JP Leaders Have Handpicked Slate Ahead of Convention: House Leader Gibbons Bows Out as Candidate for Governor

It appears that the contests for the top places on the Republican State ticket are all over before they ever really started.

GOP leaders, anxious to avoid any election-year rifts within their own party, from all indications have settled matters at a series of closed-door conferences.

A few weeks ago, it seemed certain that a number of wide-open battles for endorsements would be waged at this year's Republican State convention. Now the likelihood is that the only real conflicts, if there are any at all, will be for State Auditor, Secretary of State and possibly for State Treasurer.

So far there has been no rush of aspirants seeking the GOP nominations for either Auditor or Secretary of State, two offices which the Republicans do not have much luck in winning, and State Senator John Adams of Andover is far out in front in the running for the endorsement for Treasurer.

It is significant that Republican State Committee Chairman Elmer C. Nelson has planned a one-day GOP State convention in Worcester on Saturday, June 16. The delegates will assemble at 10 in the morning and will be on their way home by 4:30 in the afternoon.

Dr. Elliot Joslin, world renowned authority on diabetes, was the principal speaker at the 71st Annual Meeting of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, Inc. which was held last week at Allen Riddle Hall at the hospital.

Scholarship

Raymond Ethier, French teacher, spoke for Miss Emily Burdon, Head of the Foreign Language Department, to tell parents that college language requirements can often be completed on the high school level if there is careful planning and hard work. One language studied to proficiency is better than a smattering of several.

CHAIRMAN of the Reading Clinic, Miss Edith Rideout, said parents must be readers because imitation of parents is basic to high school students. Reading aloud to them helps vocabulary and pronunciation. "Good students come from homes with books," she said. The idea that students ought to do whatever they want has been misinterpreted: "Students want direction if kindly given."

Every teacher stressed that good scholarship and entry into college were impossible without spending a great deal of time outside class on reading, writing, thinking and memorizing, which you may term homework, if you choose. Mr. Rinker added to the idea by saying that the home influence is still far more important than the school influence and that some sacrifices may be made at home to give the student a time and place for study. "Teachers," he said, "are discouraged by parents and students who want something for nothing."

Kent Barrabee, sophomore student, summed up his talk on program planning by saying, "The school depends upon the parents, the parents depend on the school, and the students rely on both."

THE IMPORTANCE of marks was emphasized by Miss Jacqueline King, a senior, whose topic was "I Wish I Had Known." Miss King urged students to budget their time in order to have ample hours for study and still have leisure for worthwhile extra-curricular activities.

Speaking for the parents, Mrs. Robert G. Toher said that more information should be given to parents and students in junior high school regarding curricula. Homework might well be given in elementary grades and definitely on the junior high level. Mr. Norman Green, a junior high school parent, asked the question, "How can a student be made to study?" Dr. Leo Barry, Principal of the High School, who moderated the question period, said that parents should set an example since high school students imitate adults.

Typical of the reaction of the audience of 650, was the comment "This is the first program I have heard that has made learning respectable."

Political Overtones

Practically everything of any consequence will be settled before the delegates will even be elected.

This is how well informed Republicans say their State ticket will line up for next November's election:

For Governor—Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier of Everett.

For Lieutenant Governor—Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons of Stoneham.

For Attorney General—Attorney General George Fingold of Concord.

For State Treasurer—State Senator John Adams of Andover.

An attempt undoubtedly will be made to use the last two spots on the GOP slate to achieve geographical and racial balance.

Some Republican politicians are still holding out hope that Governor Herter will be a candidate for reelection.

But there is every reason to believe that Mr. Herter has decided that this will be his last year on Beacon Hill, barring only the now rather remote possibility that President Eisenhower might make a strong request to him to run again.

The Republican high command, in which Governor Herter has the chief voice, would not be intervening to prevent any damaging battle for their party's gubernatorial nomination, if Herter were to be a candidate.

GOP leaders, of course, will not admit officially that any hush-hush meetings have been held to determine who will run for what in order to avert any battles that would leave scars upon their party. Publicly, they would undoubtedly deny that such a subject was ever discussed.

It is more than a coincidence, however, that Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons has decided that he will be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor and not for Governor.

Gibbons is now serving his 14th year in the House. He has moved up though the ranks and has held just about every office and every honor in that body, including the Speakership.

He would have strong support in a fight for the gubernatorial nomination. The House members usually come pretty close to dominating a State convention. But Gibbons is a good political soldier, and he has suddenly revised his convention objective without any complaint and without any real explanation for doing so.

Congressman Laurence Curtis, who has also been mentioned as a prospective gubernatorial candidate, just as has Gibbons, is similarly out of the contention.

As for Curtis it may be at least partly a case of political self-preservation. He can't afford to become involved in any side conflicts that might weaken him even in the slightest degree.

Curtis is one of the top Democratic targets. The Democrats are going all out in their drive to capture the seat he holds on Capitol Hill.

Massachusetts Democrats have set three primary objectives for next November's election. 1. To regain the Governorship. 2. To achieve control of the State Senate. 3. To unseat Curtis.

A large portion of the funds raised at the big Jefferson-Jackson Democratic dinner this Saturday night will be used for the enrollment of new voters, and a sizeable part of it will be funneled into the Curtis district.

Even ex-Governor Paul A. Dever, who under orders from his physician is not taking too active a role in politics, is helping out with a campaign for the registration of Democratic voters in Newton as a preliminary to the fight that will be made against Congressman Curtis or Senator Richard H. Lee.

There is no certainty yet as to who Curtis' Democratic adversary will be in the November showdown battle. It might be Jackson J. Holtz, who gave him a tight fight two years ago, or it may be former City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., who faced both Curtis and a Republican tide in 1952; or it may be a newcomer.

The Democrats know there is no chance of unseating Edith Rogers or Joe Martin or John Heselon, and they're not going to waste any strength trying. Instead, they'll concentrate it on a drive against Curtis in what may be one of the most hectic conflicts of the campaign.

The Republicans, meanwhile, are stripping down their own decks for battle against tion and planning their own counter-offensive to recapture control of the Massachusetts House of Representatives and to win back the position held by Congressman Torbert MacDonald of Malden.

That's why they're not going to allow any damaging fights within their own party that would weaken their strength and lessen their firepower for November, if they can help it.

The GOP politicians don't know at this point how much help the members of their State ticket will get this year from their party's candidate for President.

A good many Republican candidates rode into office on the political coattails of President Eisenhower in 1952. Practically every GOP contender would benefit to some extent from Ike's popularity, if he runs for another term.

Republican prospects in Massachusetts would be boosted tremendously, if Governor Herter is selected as the GOP nominee for either President or Vice President.

That same Republican strength would not be generated down the ballot, if Vice President Nixon or Senator Knowland were spearheading the GOP fight across the nation.

It is fair to say that some Republican candidates in tight districts in this State might win election next fall, if Eisenhower or Herter were on their national ticket, and lose with Nixon or Knowland.

That's a matter of cold, practical politics. That's why so many GOP politicians spend so much time trying to convince themselves that Ike will be leading their party's fight, and it is why so many shrewd Republican leaders are hoping for the best and getting ready for the worst.

Republican candidates have clubbed each other into semi-consciousness in bitter primary fights in the past, but that apparently will not be allowed to happen in Massachusetts.

The party leaders realize that the convention can leave just as bitter feelings as primaries. When Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., defeated Sinclair Weeks for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator 20 years ago, it started a feud that lasted for 16 years and ended only when Lodge and Weeks came together in the Eisenhower camp in 1952.

Truman to Speak at Fund Raising Dinner

Massachusetts Democrats will stage a big harmony fund-raising Jefferson-Jackson dinner at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel on Saturday night, with former President Harry S. Truman the main oratorical attraction.

There will not be the slightest evidence of the knock-down struggle waged for months for the control of the Democratic State Committee. The Democrats will give another demonstration that they have a far greater knack for putting aside their party feuds than do their Republican cousins.

They will present a united front, and the Democratic battle cry will be sounded by such speakers as ex-President Truman, Democratic National Committee Chairman Butler, ex-Governor Dever, Senator Kennedy and Chairman Burke.

But a meeting of the Democratic State Committee on Saturday afternoon, before the dinner, may not prove quite as harmonious. Democratic State Committeeman Peter J. Ciochetti has served notice that he has a few things to say and that he is going to say them at Saturday's session, dinner or no dinner.

It was Ciochetti, who drew a bead on Senator Kennedy and Mayor Hynes at a State Committee meeting in Worcester a week ago last Saturday and demanded to know why they were selected as delegates to the Democratic national convention from Massachusetts, although the answer to that question is pretty obvious.

Ciochetti has been assembling information on the efforts being made by persons close to Senator Kennedy, notably Kenny O'Donnell, former Harvard football captain, to line up candidates to run against some of the present State Committee members. And he intends to blaze out with both barrels Saturday afternoon.

Democratic State Chairman Burke is determined to maintain party harmony on the afternoon of the day the Democrats are holding their big banquet of the year, but there is considerable conjecture as to how he proposes to achieve it.

the informed citizen

A Weekly Column written and prepared by the Newton League of Women Voters and devoted to the principle that an informed citizen is a good citizen.

Is the probation system in Massachusetts an effective system? Since many criminal offenders are young people who can be rehabilitated it is vital to everybody for it to be very good. Unhappily, the Massachusetts probation system has many inequities—in case loads carried by the various probation officers, in salaries and in handling the problems.

The Wessell Committee, which was appointed by Governor Herter, in its report recommended certain changes in the probation system. It is expected that legislation will be filed accordingly during the 1956 session of the General Court.

It has been demonstrated that probation is a safe, effective, economical method of rehabilitating a majority of offenders. Massachusetts in the past several decades has lagged behind the advances of many states. The maintenance of a prisoner in a correctional institution ranges from $1,000 to $2,500 while adequate and effective probation costs between $150 and $200 per year per case for both investigation and supervision. Massachusetts is spending only a fraction of this on probation services. Adequate probation services in all courts would allow for full use of probation, which will save the taxpayer money and will allow for the development of small, specialized correctional institutions.

The Wessell Report recommends that the present Board of Probation, which has no mandatory powers, be replaced by a Commissioner of Probation with clearly defined powers, and a personnel examining committee to qualify or disqualify applicants for probation officer. This examining committee would be composed of the commissioner, two judges appointed by the Governor, and the Chief Justice of the Superior Court. Probation districts of the Superior Courts should be consolidated into one integrated probation department under a full-time probation director with administrative powers. The costs of probation services in the Superior Court should be assumed by the state. To assume that probation is fully utilized as a correctional instrument the probation staffs of the courts should be increased in accordance with practical standards of work load and performance. At present, case loads in many instances are very large. Finally, it is recommended that consideration be given to whether the practice of making social investigations of offenders prior to determination of guilt should be discontinued.

Watch for legislation dealing with the probation officers as it is in this field of correction that most of the rehabilitation is carried out. To quote from the Wessell Report: "It must always be borne in mind that a large number of offenders coming to the criminal courts and the correctional system are parents and young people between eighteen and twenty-three who still have the possibility of parenthood ahead of them. How the courts and the correctional system deal with the individual affects, directly, the future stability and community life in the Commonwealth."

A study of probation is part of the program of the State League of Women Voters, and in line with this, the Newton League has been studying this subject.

Newtonite of the Week

By LEWIS SIMONS

This week the Graphic is proud to salute Edwin L. Beckwith of 19 Dartmouth Street, West Newton.

Mr. Beckwith is head of the Victory Plastics Company, a subsidiary of the Beckwith-Arden Corporation. For many years this plant has been engaged in the development and production of plastic products.

From the research laboratories of the Victory Company have come numerous innovations which have materially added to our national defense. Of course, much that goes on in the Victory Plant is classified "top-secret," but a few developments are now openly used by the government and can be enumerated.

The plastic body armor first used in the Korean War was developed at Mr. Beckwith's plant. This plastic device will stop a bullet and is now being used as standard equipment by the Armed Services.

Another development being used by the government is the plastic anti-personnel mine. The disadvantage of the ordinary metal mine is that it can easily be detected by magnetic equipment and hence be rendered useless. The plastic mine, being non-magnetic, circumvents this problem.

All the products coming from the Victory Company are not so destructive. During World War II the Air Force was faced with the problem of vacuum sealing their life saving equipment. The plant went to work on this and found a way to seal this equipment without sticking, thus paving the way for the vacuum seal. This process has been carried out into the manufacture of stichless plastic raincoats.

The business man is usually characterized as hard and insensitive, while the artist is thought of as a sensitive, aesthetic man, completely oblivious to practicalities. Mr. Beckwith is a happy combination of both. For a few years he earned his living as a landscape and mural painter, and now, of course, he is a successful business man.

Mr. Beckwith had evidenced an interest in art while attending Harvard University. When he was graduated he decided to follow his bent and went to Paris to study and paint. After his return from Europe he set up a studio on Newbury Street.

Although Mr. Beckwith has given up painting as a living, his interest in art has not waned. His home is luxuriously adorned with many valuable pieces.

During World War II, Mr. Beckwith, an excellent saxophonist, joined a business man's band sponsored by the U.S.O. These men spent many hours playing for the service men's clubs around Boston. This activity lasted over five years.

For the past two years Edwin Beckwith has been an active volunteer for the Massachusetts Heart Association. In 1955 and also for this year, Mr. Beckwith has been the General Chairman for Newton for the February Heart Fund-Raising Campaign. This task requires many hours of hard work.

Mr. Beckwith first became interested in the problem of Heart Disease about five years ago. His mother, who was afflicted with heart disease, was treated by Dr. Paul Dudley White. Through his mother's illness and his association with Dr. White, Mr. Beckwith became aware of the enormity of the heart disease problem.

As the Heart Association matured and the need for volunteers grew, Mr. Beckwith, aware of the great cause the organization sponsored, became a part of it.

Mr. Beckwith is an interesting person because of his many-sided personality. The rare combination of business man, artist, family man, and dedicated community servant allows him to give the most to, and receive the most from, his every endeavor.

Warren Junior High Notes

HIGH HOCKEY TEAM

Fifteen boys from the Levi F. Warren Junior High School were chosen to play on the Newton Junior High School Hockey Team, which is coached by Mr. Charles E. Brown of the Day Junior High School. The boys were picked for their ability to skate fast. Races were held on each grade level, grades 7, 8 and 9, and the winners became members of the all-Newton junior high school hockey team. Practice sessions were held at the Skating Club and at Ware's Cove in Auburndale. Games are played on Saturdays at the Boston Arena. The Warren boys selected were Matthew Herman, Kenneth Carl, Steven Landy, John Kelly, Fred Ferris, Terry Rellly, Roger Urell, David Thompson, Norman Anderson, Peter Sahlin, Richard Barry, William Evison, Steve Baker, Dick Abrams, and Roy Fairweather.

— Reported by Mark Peters.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Warren's varsity basketball squad this year has had a good start by beating Watertown Junior High's team 48 to 33, Belmont Junior High 52 to 31, Day Junior High of Newtonville 39 to 27, and Weeks Junior High of Newton Centre 43 to 35. The team is fortunate in having three boys who are over six feet tall — Vernon Rollins, Bruce Bowers and Richard Monforte. In the Belmont game Monforte threw in 10 points and Rollins got 11 points. Not to be forgotten, however, are the other members of the team:

Jim Gifford, Alan York, Larry Yeo, Whitney Foster, Tom Geary, Bob Kelly, Buddy Ryan, Neal Sparks, Bob Yates, Tom Terrio, Francis Hunt, and Robert Durban.

The team practices every afternoon in the school gym under the leadership of coach John Pennington. The pupil managers are Jim Burdick, Jack O'Grady, Bob Pearson, Dan Funkenstein, Alan Folsom, John Derr, Bob Moore, and Edward Moody. Everyone is hopeful, and almost all are confident, but to the team it's a lot of work for even more fun.

— Reported by John Derr

SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

Mrs. Mary Baker, Personnel Training Supervisor of the Massachusetts State Department of Public Health, spoke before the pupils of Jr. I and Jr. III at last week's assembly. Her theme was "Your Personality — How Attractive Is It?"

This was Mrs. Baker's fourth appearance at a school assembly and she again held her audience spell-bound as she, in her usual informal and enthusiastic manner, stressed the characteristics, traits and habits that combine to make a pleasing personality.

EXCHANGE OF PAINTINGS

Under the direction of their art teacher, Mrs. Janet Swearer the twenty-five members of the Jr. II art elective group are working on paintings drawn from their own experiences to show the American way of life. From these Mrs. Swearer will select the best ten and submit them to the American Junior Red Cross with the hope that one or more of them may be chosen for the actual exchange of paintings with foreign countries.

TRAFFIC TIP: Allow extra space for stopping when snow or ice is on the pavement, says the AAA. Allow extra distance for the OTHER fellow to stop, too. Winter driving calls for slower speeds, smooth starting and stopping, and MORE SPACE in case of slipping. Keep your distance.

PAPER DRIVE

Do you have any stacks of old newspapers in your basement? These newspapers are a fire hazard there, but if you give them to the Exchange members, they will put them to good use. The current project of the Exchange is a paper drive to earn money to entertain the students who are coming to visit Newton. The Paper Drive is planned for Saturday, February 4. Call Newton High School (LA 7-6267) if you have some papers to donate. ALL STATE CHORUS

The All State Chorus, to which Newton was the host last year, will be held in Pittsfield, Massachusetts on April 5, 6, and 7. The chorus consists of high school boys and girls from all parts of the state. Those who wish to participate try out in their schools and may apply if their music director considers them well qualified. It is then up to the officials either to accept or reject the applicants.

This year's chorus has 266 voices, including 86 sopranos, 72 altos, 48 tenors, and 60 basses. The students who will represent Newton High are Elaine Holmes, Carole Weeden, Robert Vincul-la, Gilbert Bickum, James Haney, and Mark Golub. They will practice for three months, but the chorus will not sing as a whole until a few days prior to the performance. When they are together they will have long hours of practice in order to perfect their singing as a group. The chorus is to be under the direction of Miss Iva Dee Hiatt, who is the director of Choral Music at Smith College.

For those who are talented and enjoy singing in public, being a part of such a large chorus is a wonderful experience. Sue Stone, one of Newton's representatives in last year's chorus, says "It is a thrilling experience in making friends and learning how to work with others more successfully."

AIR RAID SIREN

The strange yellow object that was recently hoisted to the top of a small yellow tower is destined to add a new sound to Newton High School life. The apparatus, which rests upon Building 3, is an air raid siren.

A wall with an intensity of 125 decibels will soon become familiar, if not endeared, to all Newton High students. Normal talking is measured at 60 db, and a speeding train makes a noise of 100 db, so, in comparison, the siren will make a tremendous racket. Dr. Navez, head of the Science Department, commenting on the power of the siren said, "It packs a wallop that will send everybody out of their shoes."

The siren, powered by a twenty horsepower motor, will be a vital link in Newton's current program to give 100% air raid warning to the city. Seven of these sirens are being added to ten existing smaller ones. Our siren costs over $2300 and the cost is being split by the city and the federal government.

When the electrically run siren is connected in late April, it will be tested every Friday at noon. This siren, although on top of us, is meant to be heard by a large area of Newton. Hold on to your ears, friends, because that's the blows.

P.T.S.A. The P.T.S.A. has much in store for its members as the year progresses. One committee will soon be set up for the purpose of drawing up a "social guide," a set of suggestions designed to ease student-parental controversies over such matters as dating conduct and curfew hours.

On January 26, junior high school students and their parents will be given an opportunity to attend a meeting devoted to the topic entitled "Preparing for a College Education." It is hoped that information presented at this meeting will serve as an aid to parents in preparing their children for high school — the theory being that it's never too late, Kent Barabee, a sophomore, will speak on experiences with his own course of planning; Jackie King, a senior, on "I Wish I Had Known." Other topics to be covered are: "Citizenship and Success," "Aims in English," "Mathematics and Scholarships," "Study of Languages," and "Reading and Success." Mrs. Toher will sum all this up from a parent's point of view, and Dr. Barry will lead a question and answer period. The meeting was planned by the program committee with Kent Barabee and Karen Obermeyer as student representatives.

A program on Vocational Preference is planned for May 1st. The students will be polled for the purpose of determining the vocations in which there is the most interest. Thirty discussion groups will be designated accordingly — each being presided over by a professional in the specific field. Time will be allotted so as to extend to each student the opportunity of visiting two or three of these workshops.

The building committee, Harry Lubell, Dena Evans, Leo Hughes, and Judy Fields, is discussing the question of building an additional high school in Newton. Still another committee, whose student members are Steve Doctoroff, Martha Hume, Lois Marchant, and Dick McCusker, is working on problems of interest to parents, teachers, and students alike which should be brought up for discussion and solved.

Four home rooms boast a 100% P.T.S.A. membership: 2211 (Mrs. Resnick), 2304 (Miss Kennedy), 2307 (Miss Richmond), and 332 (Mr. Paige). The faculty has an 80% representation, and there is a parent representation of 583 couples. We can justly be proud of such an enrollment!

CHEERS Congratulations to Peter Nelson, winner of the 1000 dash in the BAA games at Boston Garden on Saturday, January 14. Pete's time was 2 minutes 24.1 seconds.

CLUB NEWSPAPER The International Club is publishing a monthly newspaper which will consist of two or three editorials and news articles on current international affairs. Facts for the articles will be gathered from such papers as "The Christian Science Monitor."

CLUBLICITY On December 15th Willa Myerhoff, Christine Leary, and Paul Brown represented The French Club on The French Hour, a radio broadcast from WVOM. After a discussion about The French Club, the three read a fable by La Fontaine, "Le Loup et le Renard."

The Radio Club has been running a code class for prospective hams. The licensed members have been holding a net on the air of ten meters at eight o'clock, Sunday night.

At the last meeting of The Meteorology Club, Mr. Tennenbaum of The United States Weather Bureau in Boston, addressed the club on hurricanes, their growth and their travels.

FLYING FINGERS On January 16 world champion typist, Cortez Peters, came to NHS to demonstrate his typing skills to the Sophomores. He showed the interested Sophs typing speeds up to 140 words per minute and later used the typewriter as an accompaniment to a dance record.

Accompanying him was Mr. Nicolazzo, who used to attend Day Junior High School and who is now a guitar teacher, explained how the electric guitar works.

Fashion Show . . . All girls who have made dresses, skirts, or blouses in the Home Economics classes this year wore them on Friday. Each girl wore a tag to tell the school that it was made at school.

Dr. Groetsma will speak on the Gospel of Assurance, with the following titles: "What God Does Not Promise," "In the World You Shall Have Trouble," "For Every Temptation There is a Way of Escape," "When One Member Suffers—," "Forgive, to be Forgiven," and "We Shall Have an Abiding Comforter." These programs are sponsored by the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

The Martha Guild of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church met at the home of Mrs. James MacCausland last night to make final plans for a Military Whist benefit to be held at the church on Thursday, February 16. Mrs. Duncan Cotting, President, and Mrs. Robert Foote, Program Chairman, will be in charge. Information about tickets may be had by calling Mrs. Lorenz Muther, Jr. BI 4-2408. Following the business meeting, Reverend Frederic Groetsma, D.D., interpreted and led a discussion of the Sermon on the Mount.

An exceptional Junior Choir of 93 boys and girls, ranging in age from eight to fourteen years, will provide music for the morning service of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church at 10:45 a.m., Sunday, February 5. Coached by Mr. Harold Schwab, organist and choir director, who is assisted by Choir Mothers Mrs. Henry Nelson, Mrs. Edward Allen, and Mrs. Frederick Wood, they will sing "Holy Lord, All Bow Before Thee" by Lully, and "The Song of Ruth" by Gounod.

Sponsored by Mr. Vance Williams, the Junior High Pilgrim Fellowship will meet at the church at 5 p.m., February 5, to elect officers.

The Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship will meet at the home of Miss Judy Groetsma on Sunday evening, February 5, to discuss choice of their spring play.

Women's Association Juvenile Delinquency, next topic on the Social Action agenda of the Women's Association of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church will be ably handled on February 8 by Mrs. Alice H. Collins, guest speaker. Mrs. Collins has had a wealth of experience dealing with young people in her position with the Division of Youth Service, Department of Education, Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Before the speaker is introduced by Mrs. Albert Genaske, Program Chairman, Mrs. Vincent J. Marotto will give the Devotional, and Mrs. Dana Sylvester will review Nels Ferre's thought-provoking book, "Making Religion Real." All are welcome to attend and participate in this morning's meeting, held in the Parish Hall at 10:30 a.m.

Before and after the meeting a general food sale, conducted by the Business and Professional Women's Organization, Miss Elizabeth Cameron, Chairman, will be held from 9:30-10:30 a.m., and from 2-4 p.m.

HEALTH FOR ALL

How often we hear that abundant America is the best food country in the world! Praise for the varied American diet is frequently expressed in terms of "calories"—we may hear, for example, that the people of less fortunate lands have only so many calories a day in their diet compared with the high calorie content of the average American diet.

In these days, when so many people are conscious of their weight, we hear about "counting calories." We take this to mean that people who are overweight should avoid rich foods. But the fact is that everybody, even those whose weight is normal, should be concerned with calories—not so much with counting them but with distinguishing between two different kinds of calories, for the kind of calories in our diet holds the key to good nutrition.

An important defect in the U.S. diet is the large consumption of "empty" calories—a defect which has worsened by about 40 per cent in the last 40 years.

What are "empty" calories? They are sources of body energy that provide virtually none of the minerals or vitamins essential for health. They are found primarily in sugar and cooking fats. If the intake of fats and sugar in our diet should be curtailed to cut down on "empty" calories, where do we find the "full" calories that do contain the minerals and vitamins we need? They are found in meat, eggs, and milk, starchy and watery vegetables, and fruit. For better nutrition we should eat more of these foods. It would be ironic indeed if well-fed America should suffer from poor nutrition because we don't know what kind of calories to count!

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association whose sole support is the annual sale of Christmas Seals in Newton.

Burr, Murray Head Williams PTA

Harold B. Gores and Haskell Freedman benefited everyone present at the meeting on Thursday, January 26th with an insight into the Problems And Opportunities in Newton.

Mr. G. W. Brainerd, the principal of the Auburndale Schools introduced Haskell Freedman, School Committee member who presented a factual, concise and such a clear background of the School Committee, their powers and limitations, that all present have a knowledge of the subject unsurpassed in clarity. The fact was stressed that Newton enjoys a Non-Political School Committee, dedicated to their obligation to the youth of Newton.

Harold B. Gores, Superintendent of Schools presented the case of the future and growth of the Newton Junior College. He cited the obvious fact that our school system has to expand in keeping with the increased demand for advanced education. There is a rich academic program and resources in Newton for those children who really desire further education.

Democracy Workshop is a new elective group for eighth graders at this school. Its purpose is to make the issues of American history come to life through the media of plays, debates, films, tape recordings and original writing. It is called a "workshop" because pupils actively participate in a variety of projects.

Last Thursday 15 members of the group presented a play entitled "Down With the King", dealing with the American Revolution. Featured players included Joyce Giles as Beth; Ann Gillvan as Mary; David Katz as Paul Revere; Kevin Buckley as Jerry Craig; Sammy Black as Samuel Adams; Matthew Needles as Sir Matthew Calvert; Nancy Josephson as Eve; and Robert Oxnas as the announcer. Lighting and special effects crews included Carol Barberger, Jane Loew, Jeff Green and Patricia Gath. Martha Bilezikian was the pianist. The action of the play occurs on the night of December 16, 1773 in Boston. The plot involves the conflict between Sir Matthew Calvert, a Boston Tory, and his niece, Beth, who has aided the rebel cause. Other members of the workshop included David Seder, Van Pennell and Alan Otis. Paul Mok, eighth grade Social Studies and English teacher, has supervised the workshop activities.

Temple Emanuel Adult Education Courses To Begin February 15

In announcing the beginning of the Second Semester of Temple Emanuel's Adult Jewish Education Courses, Dr. Albert L. Gordon, Rabbi of the Congregation, indicated that Dr. David Lieber, Acting Director of Hillel Foundation at Harvard University, has been invited to deliver a series of lectures on "Basic Ideas of the Bible". Dr. Lieber's course, which will commence on February 15th, at 9 p.m., will deal with the following themes: "The Nature of Man", February 15; "The Idea of the Holy", February 22; "Sin and Salvation", February 29; "Human Suffering and Evil", March 7; "Death and the Hereafter", March 14; and "God's Chosen People", March 21.

Dr. Lieber, who has his D.D. degree from the Jewish Theological Seminary, with his major in Bible, is especially qualified to deliver these lectures, which will be followed by a question and answer period.

Dr. Martin Goldstein, Educational Director of the Temple,

ALFRED W. HALPER
Named Top New Home Builder

Alfred W. Halper, of 5 Wistwall road, Newton, received the national award as "America's top new-home builder of 1955" last week during the annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders held in Chicago.

Halper's entry had previously won the Greater Boston contest, then for New England, and now for the entire country. It was based on his home merchandising program with emphasis on its appeal and livability. He is currently developing Wayside Acres in Sudbury, a subdivision of split-level ranch homes.

As part of the award, both Mr. and Mrs. Halper will receive a Mexican holiday, leaving February 27 for a month, with stop-overs in Acapulco, Mexico City and other scenic points.

GEORGE S. KIMBALL, JR., of 72 Allen avenue, Waban, son of Mrs. Lumina A. Kimball and the late Major George S. Kimball, who has completed Officer's Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga., was recently commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army, Infantry Division. He has transferred to the Armored Division, and is at present stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., for advanced training. In June, he joins the 3rd Division, Armored, in Germany. Lt. Kimball attended the Fessenden School, the Rivers School, and Newton High School before enlisting in the Army in October of 1954. His basic training was taken at Fort Dix, N. J.

Social Science Club

The Social Science Club of Newton will meet on Wednesday, February 8th at 10 a.m. at the Hunnewell Club. Mrs. William H. McAdams will give a paper on "Women in Medicine and Science".

Hostesses will be Mrs. John Coffin and Mrs. Camillo Merino.

Women's Chorus Forming to Sing Serious Music.

Newton women with naturally good voices are being asked to try out for a small chorus of 12 to 16 now being formed to sing serious music for pleasure. Director will be Mrs. Edith Frost Warren of Cambridge, former soprano on American and European opera stages. In recent years Mrs. Warren has had much success in developing club vocal groups and church choirs.

The new group, as yet unnamed, will study appropriate works of such pre-Bach authors as Bird, Palestrina, and Purcell, as well as Bach, Haendel, Mendelssohn, and other great composers. In addition canons, rounds, and folk songs will be studied. Because the aim is to create a blended multi-voiced single tone rather than a group of solo performers Mrs. Warren will give individual attention to each member's voice quality. The group will not sing in public until a sufficiently high musical standard has been reached.

There is no age limit for candidates, but some ability to read music is required. The group will meet at first at the home of Mrs. Henry H. Balos, 119 Park street, Newton Corner, following screening auditions by Mrs. Warren. Appointments for private auditions can be made by telephoning Mrs. Warren at ELiot 4-4064.

Too many people mistake spectacular effort for success.

Former Newton Man V-P of Plastic Firm

Robert C. Davenport, formerly of Newton, has become vice president and general manager of the Sheet Forming Division of Plastic Products Corporation, located in Bedford Heights, Ohio.

Davenport was born in Newton, and attended Newton Public Schools. He was graduated from Harvard, Class of 1944, with a B.S. degree in Chemistry. He served with the U. S. Army in the Philippines during the war and is presently a Captain of Artillery in the U. S. Army Reserve.

Mr. Davenport has been connected with the plastics industry in this country and in China for the past ten years. Most recently he was vice president and sales manager of the Gregstrom Corporation, Cambridge, Massachusetts. He has been connected with The Bolta Company in Lawrence; Arthur D. Little, Inc. in Cambridge; and The Hercules Powder Company in Parlin, New Jersey, all in the plastics field. He is a professional member of the Society of Plastic Engineers.

Mr. Davenport will assume his new duties with the Plastic Products Corporation on February 1, 1956.

Musical Program Is Presented

A musical program celebrating the 200th anniversary of the birth of Wolfgang Amadeus

Mozart, was given this week in Hyde School by members of the school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Catherine E. Aberle.

The Mozart selections included a minuet composed by him when he was only eight years old, played by a small string group; the Minuet from the opera, Don Giovanni, played by Thayer Hatch; Minuet from Symphony Concertante by the Hyde String Ensemble and one movement of the Sonata in F for piano and orchestra with Susan Hulsman as soloist. Robert Bernstein was the master of ceremonies and introduced each number with an anecdote about the composer.

On Monday, January 30th, a Mozart program will be given by the members of the orchestra at Countryside School under the direction of Mrs. Aberle.

Truth can be bottled up—but eventually it pops the cork.

Heads Mass. State Broadcasters Assn.

Harvey J. Struthers, of 16 Winnetaska road, Waban, general manager of Radio Station WEEI, has been elected president of the Massachusetts State Broadcasters Association.

This new distinction comes to Struthers on the eve of his fifth anniversary at the station, to which he came as assistant general manager on January 23, 1951. Five months later he succeeded Harold E. Fellows as WEEI's general manager, when Mr. Fellows went to Washington, D. C., to become president of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters.

Many a sterling character has been saved by golden silence.

At the annual meeting of the Executive Board of the United Cerebral Palsy of Newton, Wellesley and Weston last week at the Division of Counseling Services in West Newton, Richard A. Leahy of Newton, was elected President for 1956-57.

Mr. Leahy is a graduate of the Newton Schools, the Massachusetts Maritime Academy and Suffolk Law School. He has spent three years in the Merchant Marine and three years on duty in the Navy. He holds the rank of Lieutenant in the Naval Reserve. He is married to the former Rose Griffin and lives at 20 Waterston Road.

Mr. Leahy brings to his new position the conviction "that an honor given is no honor but must be earned." He is tremendously interested in the cause.

Motorists Escape Injury In Crash

A two car collision last Friday, at Lowell Avenue and Austin Street, resulted in two demolished cars although the occupants escaped injury.

The collision occurred at 7:30 A.M. when Warren P. Cox of Watertown was travelling south on Lowell Avenue and Saverio Terrasi of Belmont was driving east on Austin Street. The Terrasi car overturned and a traffic sign knocked down.

The Street and Fire Departments were summoned to clean the road of debris and spilled gasoline.

Newton Legislators Split on Bill to Abolish Death Penalty

Newton members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives split this week during the hot battle over a proposal for abolishing the death penalty in this State for a trial five-year period.

Representative George E. Rawson was one of the leaders in the fight to block the move. Representatives Arthur C. Heaney and Donald L. Gibbs also voted against the bill. The lone Newton vote in support of the bill was cast by Representative Irene K. Thresher.

Rawson declared bluntly that murderers such as the three men now awaiting execution for a slaying not long ago in Newton are not entitled to the hand of mercy and to be spared from the electric chair.

In his argument against the elimination of capital punishment in Massachusetts, Rawson also cited the case of two Newton police officers who were shot down in cold blood by gunmen in a car they had stopped.

An interesting sidelight to Mrs. Thresher's vote was that all four women members of the House recorded themselves in favor of suspending the death penalty.

Agencies Here Given $252,075 To Aid In Work

Gains of $14,425 Over Last Year Is Due to Increase

Thirteen Red Feather Services and the Newton Community Chest have been allotted $252,075 for 1956 by the Chest Board of Directors, it was announced this week by Nathan D. Bugbee, President. Compared with 1955 grants, this year's total represents a gain of $14,425 due primarily to the successful United Red Feather Campaign which raised $6,437,908 last November.

ALDEN R. BELLMAN, Chairman, in submitting the report of the Budget Committee stated "this increased allotment, which has been made possible by the greater amount realized by the 1956 United Red Feather Campaign, is designed in part to meet the added requirements of the Newton Chest for the Newton Boys' Club, the newly admitted agency now appearing.

Tenley and Other Newton Skating Stars Aim for Honors

Olympic Champion, Tenley Albright, and other Newton skaters, who may be future Olympic champions, have a busy season ahead skating in exhibitions and practicing for competitions. If Tenley's injured leg permits, she will probably defend her World's Championship Title, in the competitions to be held in Carnisch, Germany, February 15-19. Then she will be expected to give exhibitions in several European countries before she comes home to defend her U. S. Title, in the competitions scheduled for Philadelphia, March 14-17.

NEWTON MAY ALSO be represented in other events in the National competitions by the following skaters who did very well in the New England Championship Competitions recently held in New Haven, and thus qualified for places in the Eastern States Championship, scheduled for Rochester, February 24-26. Rosemary Crowley, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Crowley of Lake Avenue, Newton Centre, won first place in the New England Competition for Senior Ladies, and Susan Blodgett, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Blodgett, Melrose street, Auburndale, won the Novice Ladies event. 11-year-old Gregory Kelley, son of Dr. and Mrs. Vincent Kelley, of Centre street, Newton Centre, had no competition in the Men's Novice or Juvenile events so retains the Juvenile title which he won last year. Dorothy Dillon, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Dillon of Newton Centre, bears watching, also. She and Rosemary Crowley, friends and close competitors, since they were very young, have given much pleasure to many audiences through their pair skating programs.

THESE COMPETITORS will probably spend the greater part of their practice time working

Judge Finds For Martin In Ouster Case

Rules Aldermen Failed to Hold A Public Hearing

Middlesex Superior Judge Wilfred Paquet last Thursday ordered Newton Aldermen to restore John D. Martin to his $8,000 job as city comptroller.

Martin, comptroller since 1948, brought suit after he was fired December 19 by a 13-6 vote of the aldermen.

Judge Paquet ruled that Martin had not been given a public hearing on charges against him, as required by law. Evidence showed the Aldermen went into private sessions in considering Martin's case.

Former Resident Installed Pastor

The Reverend Clifford W. Rust, Jr., formerly of Newton, was ordained to the ministry and installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Sullivan, Illinois at services held there on January 29th.

Clifford W. Rust, Jr., is a native of Newton Highlands and graduated with the class of 1948 at Newton High School. He received an A.B. degree from Jewell College in 1952 and continued on to McCormick Theological Seminary, from which he will graduate in May 1956.

The Reverend Rust accepted the call as minister to the church, and he and Mrs. Rust moved to Sullivan in October, 1955.

Propose Indoor Ice Skating Rink

The names of three Newton residents are listed on incorporation papers filed at the State House in Boston by the Metropolitan Ice Skating Association. This group plans the construction and operation of a new $225,000 ice skating rink in Watertown. Edward M. Crabtree, 22 Lucille Place, Newton Upper Falls, is secretary of the organization, and is also in charge of public relations. Other members of the fund raising committee are Mrs. Mildred Clevens, 52 Vaughn Avenue, Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Marie C. Crabtree, 22 Lucille Place, Newton Upper Falls.

This non-profit organization is made up of Greater Boston residents who are interested in skating, and feel there is a need for more indoor ice with the proper supervision and instruction for themselves and their children.

Maribel Vinson Owen, internationally known former figure skating champion, and coach of Newton's Tenley Albright, the present World Figure and Olympic Skating Champion will be head of the instruction staff.

Register To Vote

Now is the time to register if you have not already done so, in order to be eligible to vote in the Presidential Primary April 24. Act now! Registration will be held at City Hall Mondays through Fridays from 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. up to March 23.

Appropriate Sum, Make Plans Ready

Event Likely to Be Held Shortly After March 1st

Once again the city is making plans to give Newton's own Tenley Albright a royal reception following her recent Olympic triumph when she won the women's figure skating crown of the world in a contest just recently completed in Italy.

AT A MEETING of the Board of Aldermen Monday night, acting on the request of Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., an appropriation of $2000 for an "Old Home Day" observance in her honor was voted. Plans will be formulated shortly by a committee to be appointed by the Mayor to carry out a proper arrangement for the welcoming home of the Olympic skating champion.

The appropriation was approved in accordance with Clause 27, Section 5, Chapter 40, of the General Laws, which provides for observance in honor of returning residents.

The forthcoming home-coming reception will be the second that the city will have accorded this brilliant youthful star. Last year, following her triumph in winning the World's Ladies' Figure Skating crown in Austria, a home-coming reception, quickly organized, welcomed home in warmth the young lady who has brought such glory to this city.

DESPITE a downpour of rain on the day last year when the home-coming reception was held, and which did much to hold down the number of citizens who would have normally turned out to welcome her, she was greeted by thousands of her well-wishers. Following a motor cavalcade through the streets, a reception for Miss Albright took place in the War Memorial Hall at City Hall.

The hall, however, proved inadequate to hold the large number.

Newton High Drama Festival Presents Three Productions

Newton High School's Annual Drama Festival presents in competition three plays, "The Corn is Green," by Evelyn Williams, are: Philip Bolton, Nancy Levine, Robert Sade, Norman Menagerie, and "Elizabeth Refuses," Friday, February 17, at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium.

LAST YEAR Newton High School inaugurated its own Drama Festival, with each of the three classes competing to see which play, judged by persons prominent in the field of drama, would enter the state Preliminary Festival.

This year, to overcome problems of play selection, casting, and direction, William Spink and Miss Helen Ryan are co-directing the three plays, with members of all classes in the casts and production committees. The winning play, as before, will compete in the Festival in March.

Among the cast of "The Corn is Green," by Evelyn Williams, are: Philip Bolton, Nancy Levine, Robert Sade, Norman Menagerie, and "Elizabeth Refuses," Friday, February 17, at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium.

Indian Centenary Choir to Be In City for Concert March 3-4

The Indian Centenary Choir, an organization commemorating one hundred years of Methodist work in India and Pakistan, will be in Newton on March 3 and 4 when they present concerts at the Newton Centre Methodist Church. This group, comprising eighteen Methodist young people, have travelled half-way around the world, bringing with them a suitcase full of drums, a hand-carved sitar, tambourines, ankle bells, Bibles in four languages and an eager curiosity about the United States. Their concert tour of church and civic groups throughout the States will include the quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Church in Minneapolis.

THE DIRECTOR, American trained Rev. Victor Sherring holds degrees from Southwestern College in Winfield, Kansas, and Garrett Biblical Institute, Chicago. Dr. Donald F. Elbright, who organized the world tour, also accompanied the Choir to the United States. Arrangements for their Newton concert were made through Rev. Elmo F. Young.

These young people are a product of a century of service. Methodists have given to India. Typical of young India today they have graduated from Christian and public colleges or universities. Some have been each in mission schools. They bring a variety of interests and talent: from football to classical dance, from business administration and public relations to home economics, nursery education and political science.

Newton Gas Cost Lowest In Area

Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. reported on Monday that the city of Newton will pay less for gasoline for city vehicles this year than any other community in Greater Boston. By renewing last year's contract Newton will save about $800 in the purchase of about 400,000 gallons.

The maximum price per gallon of regular gasoline to be paid by Newton will be $1.244 as compared with $1.259 per gallon quoted to Boston. High test gasoline will cost 2 1/2 cents more per gallon.

No Definite Action On Proposal

People at Hearing Favor License by 98 to 40 Margin

Although those in attendance voted 98 to 40 in favor of the petition of Albert O. Sinoyan, proprietor of the Garden City Bowladrome at Newton Corner for the acceptance of the provisions of Chapter 207, Acts of 1946, which would permit bowling in Newton on Sunday afternoons and evenings, the Board of Aldermen Monday night finally referred the bowling matter to a committee for action at a later date. The Newton Council of Churches was recorded in opposition, but several clergymen were listed in favor of the petition.

URGING favorable action on his petition for Sunday bowling, Mr. Sinoyan said that he had been in business in the city for 10 years and that most of the surrounding communities permit Sunday bowling, thereby resulting in a loss of business to him on week days as well as Sundays.

The cost of operation of a bowling alley business has tripled during the past 10 years, he contended, while the price has increased by only 20 per cent.

Others who urged favorable action — BOWLING —

Political Overtones

Democrats Confident Ike Not to Run

One of the most surprising undercurrents to the big Jefferson-Jackson fundraising dinner was that the Democrats, although an out-of-power party both in the state and in the nation, actually appeared over-confident about the outcome of next November's election.

Their attitude was much the same as that of the Republicans in 1948, when they assumed that all they had to do was to sit back and wait for the votes to be counted. The Democrats will not repeat the GOP philosophy of adopting a don't-tip-over the applecart philosophy, but they are convinced that the political tide is rolling in their direction.

It will come as almost as much of a shock to the Democrats, if President Eisenhower should announce in the next few weeks that he is going to seek a second term, as it will to the Republicans, if he announces he is not going to run, because nobody could be found at the $100-a-plate banquet who was willing to admit he thought Ike's name would be on the ballot next fall.

Democratic National Committee Chairman Paul M. Butler pretty well summed his party's attitude on the subject when he declared at a press conference that in his opinion "there is not a chance that Mr. Eisenhower will run again."

Butler expressed the belief that Ike's statements plainly indicate that he is leading up to a pronouncement that he will retire to the calm and quiet of private life when he concludes his present term.

To this onlooker it seemed that one Democratic to whom Butler has not quite succeeded in selling that idea is ex-President Harry S. Truman. If Truman were as certain, as Butler professes to be, it is unlikely that he would be devoting so much time to hammering out an issue on the President's ability to execute fully the duties and powers of his office.

Mr. Truman has never been one to tip-toe lightly past any political subject, and he is not doing so on the matter of President Eisenhower's heart attack. In effect, he has served notice that as far as he is concerned, the President's physical condition will be a campaign issue, if Ike does stand for another term.

"I can tell you this," he declared in one speech, "we're going to give the American people a chance to vote for a President and not for a regency or a part-time chairman of a board."

No one had to ask Mr. Truman what he meant by that assertion or when he said that a President should be able to do the work of six men or not seek to occupy the White House, or that the "Presidency is a killing job and a man must be young and vigorous enough to meet the situation."

There is some conjecture among the more conservative Democrats whether Truman's give-'em-hell approach is helping or hurting their party and whether there is much sense to building Ike's physical condition into a campaign issue until and unless the President himself announces that he is to be a candidate. The only purpose they can see for such tragedy is to bring indirect pressure on Eisenhower not to run.

Although Adlai Stevenson should be the titular leader of the Democratic party in the nation and Robert F. Murphy the party's top chief in Massachusetts, the fact is that the real titular leaders in the eyes of rank and file Democrats are Truman and ex-Governor Paul A. Dever.

As a result, Truman's get-in-there-and-slug philosophy has had an effect upon Stevenson who seemingly is veering away from his course of moderation.

While the Democrats will not come out and make any public predictions of things to happen in the opposition ranks, their private consensus of opinion is that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be the Republican nominee for President. They do not believe that Governor Herter has much chance of getting the Presidential endorsement. In Herter's case, of course, the Democratic wish may be father to the thought, just as it is in the instance of Eisenhower.

It is a foregone conclusion as far as Massachusetts Democrats are concerned that Lieutenant Governor Sumner G.

Whittier will be the GOP candidate for Governor. In fact, the Democrats, without waiting to find out who their own gubernatorial candidate will be, already have opened fire on Whittier.

Ex-Governor Dever devoted a portion of his speech at the Jefferson-Jackson dinner to a ringing blast at Whittier, referring to him as "Silent Sumner" and demanding to know where he stands on the issues which have been the subject of bitter controversy on Beacon Hill.

Dever made but passing mention of the Herter regime and in doing so conceded for all practical purpose that the Republican target on which he will draw a bead in the months to come is Whittier and not Herter.

A paradox in the current political situation is that the Democrats appear to be a good deal more certain about who their Republican nominees will be in Massachusetts than they are about the likely identity of their own standard-bearers.

As the Democrats see it, the GOP ticket in the Bay State will be headed by Whittier for Governor, Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons for Lieutenant Governor and George Fingold for Attorney General. But they make no forecasts as to who their Democratic counterparts will be. Ex-President Truman even suggested that Dever run again for the Governorship.

They concede that Governor's Councilor Patrick J. McDonough is running by himself well out in front in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial endorsement, and then they begin asking who McDonough's opponents will be at the Democratic pre-primary State convention in June.

Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, former head of the State commission on administration and finance, will announce his candidacy against McDonough within the next few weeks. Former State Treasurer Foster Furcolo received a fine ovation at the Jefferson-Jackson dinner. His supporters have distributed a pamphlet boomerang him as a gubernatorial prospect, but Furcolo himself neither acts nor talks like a candidate for Governor. Neither does District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne who is widely mentioned as a possibility.

McDonough and Skerry

May Fight for Nomination

It is possible that the contest for the top spot on the Democratic State ticket may wind up in a test of strength between McDonough and Speaker Michael F. Skerry. The only certainty now, however, is that McDonough will be in the thick of the fight regardless of who his adversaries may be.

But what was started out to say was that at their $100-a-plate banquet the Democrats seemed not only confident but over-confident concerning the coming campaign.

For one thing they feel that the fact that they have been out of power for the past three years has served to weld their party together and influence all its factions to join together in a common cause.

They also point to some fairly impressive statistics to support their contention that a Democratic current is flowing.

Since the 1952 election, they cite, they have regained control of both houses of Congress, have picked up nine Governorships and lost none, and in State contests have wrested away 508 legislative seats from the Republicans and lost but five.

The claims and the figures have a familiar ring, GOP politicians were saying almost exactly the same thing back in 1948.

The Democratic analysts figure, incidentally, that Adlai E. Stevenson will have the Democratic Presidential nomination sewed up, if he can get by his conflicts with Senator Estes Kefauver in California and Florida.

Stevenson will be the favorite in the Presidential primaries in both States. He is better organized, but the backing of more party leaders, has more money to spend, and can devote more time to campaigning than can Kefauver who is anchored in Washington part of the time by his Senatorial duties.

But there is a possibility that Kefauver might score an upset in either or both States. If he should, it would deal a crippling and possibly a fatal blow to Stevenson's chances.

PARENTS OF N.H.S. PUPILS

Do you attend the parents' visiting days held at Newton High the second Tuesday of every month? The Civics Committee urges that you take advantage of these parents' days, not only because they are informative to you, but also because they are helpful to your children.

PAPER DRIVE

Saturday, January 28, marked the first day of this year's Exchange paper drive. Twenty teams of workers set out in their cars early Saturday morning, and by noon the accumulation of paper in the drill shed was such that the day's collection had to be curtailed right then and there. The better part of that afternoon and evening was then devoted to the disposition of all collected material. One truck load of magazines alone weighed over six tons. Even in-town stores contributed paper to the drive, and one store owner, grateful for having his paper carted away, voluntarily contributed a $5 check as a token of his appreciation.

John Richmond, a non-Exchange member, and Mr. Grady, a teacher, offered to collect papers with their cars, and the parents of one Exchange member brought hot coffee down to those who were burrowing their way out from under all the newspaper which they had unfolded in the drill shed. On this day between 25 and 30 tons of material was collected and swapped for just under $500.

The general chairmanship and organization of the drive was under Mr. Swan's able supervision; David Hoeh was the student chairman. Mr. Swan has this to say, "The tremendous success of this year's paper drive resulted from the full cooperation of everyone involved. The spirit that prevailed throughout the day was such that the project will long be remembered in terms of the good time had by all rather than in terms of dollars and cents." (The Exchangers even sang while working).

NEWTON STUDENT ON TV
On Tuesday, January 24th, from 2:30 to 3, members of Newton High's Foods and Nutrition class and the Pre-Chief class could be seen on WBZ TV. Miss Mabel Turner conducted a typical glass on the Boston Edison Hear's Electric Living Program. The students participating in this live broadcast were Donald Christenson, Paul O'Brien, Thomas Platt, and Richard Straley, of the Pre-Chief Class, and Jean Latona.

PROJECTOR'S CLUB

Our Projector's Club is made up of fifty members, three of whom are film selectors. They are: Arthur Steinberg, Philip Phillips, and Paul Becker. Mr. Willoughby heads this group whose films bring so much of educational value into our classrooms.

The club has the use of two sound projectors with amplifiers, three screens, two film strip machines, an opaque projector and a tape recorder. Five members from each class are eligible to join.

The most popular films that are shown are Social Studies and Science films; many arts and craft films are also shown. The main purpose of the club is to bring educational films to our classrooms.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council at Bigelow has been in existence for many years and has accomplished many different things to help as well as to improve pupil-teacher relationship. The 1955-56 officers are: President, Barry Wish; Vice President, Richard Perlmuter; Secretary, Nancy Preston; and Treasurer, Jerry Burg. We have sold Bigelow Beanies and Emblems to promote school spirit.

Wednesday, December 7, Student Council Representatives from Day Junior High School visited Bigelow. John Lucas was from the seventh grade, Saama Kalnajs and Diane Rote were from the eighth grade, and President Tom Martin and Secretary Linda McKinney were from the ninth grade. They toured Bigelow and visited Bigelow classes.

Bigelow was the meeting place of the Newton Inter-School Student Council meeting on January 4.

The main purpose of the Council is to promote better school relationships.

Barry Wish, President of our Student Council, is also the President of the Inter-School Council.

8TH GRADE TRIP

January 26, 1956 was a day to remember for Div. 11-14, 8th grade, went to visit a Television Studio, Channel 2. This Educational T. V. Station is in Cambridge, Mass. We were taken to Cambridge in family cars driven by Mrs. Brenner, Mrs. Rosenbaum, Mrs. Rosegard, and Mrs. Copeland. Mr. Peter Winn, Program Director, talked to us about the T. V. Station. He guided us on a tour about the studio.

We saw how the engineers worked and how the cameras were operated. It was a very profitable trip. We thank Miss Joan Molway, our teacher, for arranging our visit.

DANCE AT PERKINS SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

On Saturday night, January 21, six ninth grade girls from Bigelow Junior High School and three girls from Newton High School attended a cottage dance at Perkins Institution for the Blind. The girls from Bigelow were: Suzanne Maguire, Lois Berkowitz, Roddy Pratt, Paula Gorenstein, Barbara Fleischer, and Faith Copeland. The girls from Newton High were: Lois Fleischer, Judy Galtner and Ellen Rosen.

The boys, age fifteen to eighteen, entertained in fine style with dancing, games and refreshments. Also, the girls enjoyed a tour of Perkins beautiful grounds.

The girls certainly had a wonderful time and they're looking forward to going back soon in the future.

Laurel Gretskey, Nancy Frail, and Priscilla Stafford of the Foods and Nutrition class.

Before the program started, the students were taken on an extensive tour of the studio. They examined the control room and watched a TV program in color.

The Edison demonstrators had prepared a breakfast beforehand, and when the program began, the students set the food on the table. Miss Turner gave a lecture on the importance of a good breakfast, and a discussion period followed.

When the program ended, the girls were delighted to receive a corsage of orange chrysanthemums tied with a black bow. The boys were equally delighted to partake of the delicious food which the Edison people had prepared during the show.

TALENT SHOW
Westinghouse recently conducted a nation-wide talent search. From three thousand applicants, forty winners were chosen to go to Washington, D. C. this March to compete for scholarships. Among those going will be Robert Gorn, a senior at Newton High, who was the only person chosen from Massachusetts.

Bob took the aptitude test, and worked on a project, ultrasounds, on which he wrote a paper. The project won second prize at the Massachusetts Science Fair last year.

The group will have an all-expense paid trip to Washington, March 1-5. During this time they will be examined, so that out of this group some science students will receive scholarships ranging from $100 to $2,800.

DICK MINEAR
Three weeks ago the Jewish War Veterans asked Dr. Peltier, Head of the Social Studies Department at N.H.S., to have the student body of Newton High School choose a student who best exemplified the ideas of brotherhood. To avoid a popularity contest, it was decided that the person be chosen by the Civics Committee. The committee set up certain requisites for their choice: the ability to work with other people, tolerance, maturity, industriousness, and enthusiasm. Two candidates were chosen by the Civics Committee and their names were then sent to the Legislature. Dick Minear was finally chosen as this year's recipient.

A dinner was held on Sunday, February 5, honoring those people chosen by each school. At this time Dick received a certificate of award, and a Parker "51" pen and pencil set.

are: John Akerman, Basil Nellos, Jerry Lankin, Lenny Bernheimer, Carl Brackman, Billy Sklar, Steven Shain, Joel Benson, Richard Heston, Mike Altman, Jerry Burg, Mike Franklin.

High School Activities

Warren Junior High Notes

Among the popular clubs which meet during the sixth period Wednesdays at the Levi F. Warren Junior High School are the Future Nurses Club, the Athenian Marble Choppers Club, the Publicity Club, and the Boys' Gym Club.

Future Nurses Club
The Future Nurses Club was organized under the faculty sponsorship of Miss Eileen Collins, Girls' Guidance Counselor, and is sponsored by Mrs. Francis McDonough, a former nurse, and mother of two Warren pupils, Catherine and William McDonough.

The purpose of the Club is to foster interest in nursing as a career and is open to eighth and ninth grade girls.

Present members of the club include Merry Mann, Sandra Gottlieb, Marilyn Pike, Zena Brodie, Barbara Cohen, Judy Leonard, Elizabeth Wares, Wanda Mullen, Bonnie Chabot, Cynthia Paine, Marcia Higgins, Henrietta Lebow, Janice Crowley, Ruth Hamilton, and Frances Walsh.—Reported by Helen Kent, Jr. III

Warren Junior High's Art Club, better known as the A.M.C.'s, is made up of pupils from Jr. II and III who are interested in art but could not fit the art elective into their regular school program. The Club is sponsored by Mrs. Janet Swearer, Warren's art teacher. The name, The Athenian Marble Choppers Club, was chosen by popular vote of the club from many suggested titles.

The officers of the club are: Selby Hickey, President; Sylvia Huberman, Treasurer; Sandra McCann, Secretary. Other members include George Cormier, Pat Malone, Joan Chase, Neal Bernson, Joan Hunter, Kathleen Morse, Louisa Schell, Beverly Bernhardt, Beth Ham, Betty Anderson, Janice Murphy, Linda Grasfield, Elizabeth Wares, Eleanor Muth, Gretchen Moore, Judy Marchant, and Judy Osborn.—Reported by Elizabeth Carr, Jr. II

Boys' Gym Club
The Boys' Gym Club is for the benefit of both teachers and pupils. It is made up of seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys who were selected by Mr. John Pennington and Mr. E. Warren Moore, boys' physical education instructors, for their outstanding skill in apparatus work. During the club period these boys learn how to do stunts on the swinging loops, parallel bars, buck, springboard, ropes and side horse. They then help the instructors in regular gym classes to demonstrate such activities.

Jr. I boys selected for the club are: Peter Arnold, Donald Kurson, John Dier, Robert Pedra, Peter Kotsias, John Walker, Paul Pitts, Thomas Wool, Peter Sahlin, George Tarvio, Peter Ingham, Gerald Cicciu, Carl Hartbower, Warren Yaffe.

From Jr. II come William Skornik, Francis Yerardi, Joseph DeRubeis, Mark Lancaster, Daniel Bratt, Terrence Rell, Dave Thompson, Terry Segal, Robert Gallagher.

Jr. III boys include Daniel Gadsden, Neil Sparks, Bill Carter, James Carter, Cole Lettney, Vernon Rollins, Gerald Rose, Ronald Lager, Paul Nichols, Clifford Wahlman.—Reported by Peter Kotsias, Jr. I

Publicity Club
The Publicity Club gathers material which makes it possible to send school news to the local newspapers. Working under the faculty sponsorship of Miss Ethel D. Green, these reporters now number some twenty-five. Pupils were recommended by the English teachers on all three grade levels for their ability, primarily, to write an interesting story. Each reporter is assigned a division and one or more teachers from whom news must be collected. Many serve as special reporters for special activities.

Serving now from Jr. III are Joan Cooper, Linda Williams, Deborah Lytle, Joan Houston, Julie Bergmark, Elsa Raab, Sandra Barkin, Helen Kent, from Jr. II, Arlene Schenk, Margie Steadman, Elizabeth Carr, Barbara Gorman, Edith Prentice, Carol Sudhalter, Nancy McDonald, Linda Saunders, from Jr. I, Sally Day, Mark Peters, Susan Kenny, Peter Maher, Scott Silliman, Nancy Holden, Joan Caruso, Virginia Jones, Holly Peck, Joan Hoops.—Reported by Joan Caruso

The club is helping to eliminate the teacher shortage in various classrooms. These practice teachers, who are seniors in college, observe the classes for a while and then teach under the guidance of the regular teachers. Miss Gail Crosby, who attended Day Junior High, is now a senior at Framingham Teachers College, is training in the Home Economics classes under the guidance of Miss Barbara Annmidown and Miss Beverly Holmes. In Robert Carr's science classes, Joseph Fluh of Long Island, New York is teaching. The other science practice teacher is Leo Walkow from Roxbury. He is with Charles Brown. All the other practice teachers—Miss Carol Fitzpatrick of Southbridge, Francis River of Natick, and George Newton of Rhode Island are majoring in English and social studies at Boston University. These practice teachers are working with Mrs. Eileen Anderson, Addison Cowles, and Mrs. Jessie Favre.

Spotlight on Weeks

Pop! Out of the hat came not a rabbit, but the Weeks' Presto Club's annual Magical Led by Mr. Downs, who is a professional magician as well as a teacher, budding conjurers produced a mystifying show packed full of amazement. Preston Club members who performed were Richard Berk, Bennett Blumenberg, Richard Goldstein, Steve Levin, Mike Platt, Lee Seigel, Robert Seigel, Steven Wolf, and Steven Zamcheck. In addition to these magicians, Tito baffled Weeks' pupils with the gestures and jokes of a circus clown. The Magical Clown, who has acted all over the U. S., appeared just a few years ago on the stage of the John Hancock Hall at the annual Society of American Magicians' Show. Mr. Downs completed the roll of performers with his clever tricks. The program made another tremendous success.

VARSITY BASKETBALL
After an only fair football season, Weeks' Varsity is looking forward with high hopes to a more successful basketball term. Coached by Mr. MacConnell and led by Captain Howie Jennings, the eighth and ninth grade members of the Weeks' Varsity Basketball team: Dave Connors, Neil Driscoll, Joe Felton, Cliff Gaysants, Lee Karofsky, Bob Gilliam, Jerry Kenney, Bill Morris, Dick Murphy, Mel Nurenborg, Eddie Polen, Charles Renker, Al Riggs, Ronnie Simblist, Stan Wallace, Norman Whitney, and Steve Weiss. The Varsity has won only two games out of the six it has already played. The scores were: Weeks 49, Weston 26; Weeks 36, Day 37; Weeks 29, Bigelow 41; Weeks 34, Warren 43. In playing the Brookline High freshmen, both original teams were divided in half so that there were two sets of squads. Weeks won one and lost the other.

FILMING AT WEEKS
Lights, camera, action! And the filming of an average student's day at Weeks begins. In an effort to help the Joseph Leckie Comprehensive Secondary School in Britain learn about American schools, Weeks' English Affiliation Council is planning to produce a 16-millimeter color film depicting the school day of a typical boy and girl at Weeks. A running commentary on a tape recorder will also be included. To help finance the film, memberships to the Council are being sold. Only pupils who are members are entitled to try out for the leading actor's and actress's roles.

Led by Mr. Knowlton, the Council has one representative from every division. This year's officers are: Ruth Shepard, pres., and Penny Axelrod, secretary and treasurer.

Warren Ways

A particularly engrossing meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association at Levi F. Warren Junior High School will be held on Tuesday evening, February 14th at 8 p.m. It is an occasion that will be of special interest to every parent whose child attends Warren, and who is a socially-minded individual. For not only does every parent want the best educational advantages for his son or daughter, he also is concerned about the contacts the child makes in his school life.

This meeting will be devoted to a consideration of the general population in the Warren School area, the rich human resources of the varied groups, and the rewarding and exciting exchange of ideas that so frequently result.

Our children in their school days are full of the eagerness and animation of youth; their response to the stimulus of learning and wider associations outside the home is a cause for rejoicing. But their parents too frequently have fallen into set patterns, pleasant ones, but limiting themselves to just one or two intimate groups, and letting the rest of the world go by. Since the community in which a child grows up affects him quite as much as his schooling, it should interest the parents in this area, particularly because of the varying religious, ethnic, racial, social, and economic differences to give thought to the benefits of an integrated society.

Mr. Jerome Grossman, Program Chairman of the PTA has arranged for a panel of 3 speakers. Mr. Francis Tom will analyze the composition of the Warren Area. Mr. Don Davidson of the Human Relations Center of Boston University will discuss the benefits of social integration of the individual in the community. Miss Elizabeth Richardson, a social worker and Executive Director of the Newton Girl Scouts will give her practical recommendations.

This is an occasion when every parent in the Warren area, whatever his background, can realize his own importance in the community in which he is bringing up his child.

Two school dances have taken place this year, and one more is scheduled for the week-end. On January 13th, the Ninth Graders held a successful Snowball Dance. February 3rd, the Seventh Graders enjoyed a Leap Year Dance attended by 175 pupils. Friday evening, February 10th, the Eighth Graders will hold their party at the School Gymnasium.

The Thrift Shop at school has a good assortment of clothing, shoes, and skates for children of all ages, and also displays several musical instruments, very moderately priced. All articles are on sale Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

News Of Day

Many new faces at Frank Ashley Day Junior High School this week. Mrs. Edythe P. Dunstan, of Newton Centre, is teaching the Latin and French classes. Mrs. Dunstan, who is taking Mrs. Mary Hogan's place, has lived in England and Hawaii. Fred Goodman from Philadelphia is taking Paul Mok's classes of eighth grade social studies and English.

One way the Day Junior High is helping to eliminate the teacher shortage is to have practice teachers in various classrooms. These practice teachers, who are seniors in college, observe the classes for a while and then teach under the guidance of the regular teachers. Miss Gail Crosby, who attended Day Junior High, is now a senior at Framingham Teachers College, is training in the Home Economics classes under the guidance of Miss Barbara Annmidown and Miss Beverly Holmes. Out of the hat came not a rabbit, but the Weeks' Presto Club's annual Magical Led by Mr. Downs, who is a professional magician as well as a teacher, budding conjurers produced a mystifying show packed full of amazement. Preston Club members who performed were Richard Berk, Bennett Blumenberg, Richard Goldstein, Steve Levin, Mike Platt, Lee Seigel, Robert Seigel, Steven Wolf, and Steven Zamcheck. In addition to these magicians, Tito baffled Weeks' pupils with the gestures and jokes of a circus clown. The Magical Clown, who has acted all over the U. S., appeared just a few years ago on the stage of the John Hancock Hall at the annual Society of American Magicians' Show. Mr. Downs completed the roll of performers with his clever tricks. The program made another tremendous success.

VARSITY BASKETBALL
After an only fair football season, Weeks' Varsity is looking forward with high hopes to a more successful basketball term. Coached by Mr. MacConnell and led by Captain Howie Jennings, the eighth and ninth grade members of the Weeks' Varsity Basketball team: Dave Connors, Neil Driscoll, Joe Felton, Cliff Gaysants, Lee Karofsky, Bob Gilliam, Jerry Kenney, Bill Morris, Dick Murphy, Mel Nurenborg, Eddie Polen, Charles Renker, Al Riggs, Ronnie Simblist, Stan Wallace, Norman Whitney, and Steve Weiss. The Varsity has won only two games out of the six it has already played. The scores were: Weeks 49, Weston 26; Weeks 36, Day 37; Weeks 29, Bigelow 41; Weeks 34, Warren 43. In playing the Brookline High freshmen, both original teams were divided in half so that there were two sets of squads. Weeks won one and lost the other.

FILMING AT WEEKS
Lights, camera, action! And the filming of an average student's day at Weeks begins. In an effort to help the Joseph Leckie Comprehensive Secondary School in Britain learn about American schools, Weeks' English Affiliation Council is planning to produce a 16-millimeter color film depicting the school day of a typical boy and girl at Weeks. A running commentary on a tape recorder will also be included. To help finance the film, memberships to the Council are being sold. Only pupils who are members are entitled to try out for the leading actor's and actress's roles.

Led by Mr. Knowlton, the Council has one representative from every division. This year's officers are: Ruth Shepard, pres., and

FOUR COMMITTEES SET UP BY COUNCIL OF P-T ASSOCIATION

At the regular monthly meeting of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations held at the old Pierce School, 88 Chestnut street, West Newton, Thursday night, February 2, Dr. J. Bernard Everett, head of the division of instruction for the Newton schools, announced the establishment of four committees made up of teachers, school principals, and parents.

One of the committees, set up as a result of a parent opinion survey, will investigate whether or not home work is to be given in Newton elementary schools, and if so, at what level it should begin. A survey showed parents to be in favor of homework at the fourth grade level and up.

Committees on text books, text book policy, and one which will investigate whether or not foreign languages should be taught in elementary schools, also were formed.

Under discussion at the meeting was the question of P.T.A. sponsored programs of an educational and cultural type which may be worked into the curriculum of Newton schools with the cooperation of school authorities. Such a program was given Tuesday, January 31, at the Ward School in Newton, where the P.T.A. of which Mrs. Wilfred Werner is president, presented the Lasalle String Quartet free of charge for the children.

Esther Braun, is in the process of making arrangements for the same program to be held at her school in the near future.

A program coordinator, Dr. Eugene Binder of the Oak Hill School, will hold a meeting on Feb. 20 at the old Peirce School to help program chairmen carry out such projects, and he will also act as a focal point for the exchange of ideas between the various schools in the city to help bring about the most interesting and stimulating programs possible at general meetings.

Dr. Roger Hamilton, president of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, announced that some decision should be reached with regard to the city of Newton joining the national congress of P.T.A. It was ultimately decided to leave the final decision up to the individual schools.

Mrs. Robert Hull, 41 Berkeley street, Waban, announced that the next issue of "Shop Talk," the P.T.A. Council publication, will have articles on "The Care and Feeding of Nominating Committees," school lunchroom programs, school publications, remedial reading, and an article written by Sloan Wilson.

At next month's P.T.A. Council meeting, a nominating committee will be elected.

and value relationships relating to picture painting.

La Salle String Quartet Concert Sponsored By Ward School P. T. A.

The second in the series of fine music concerts which the Ward School P.T.A. is sponsoring as part of the school curriculum took place in the Ward School auditorium Tuesday morning, January 31, with a performance by the La Salle String Quartet. The 3rd, 4th, and 5th grades enjoyed a program of chamber music played by a group which is ranked with the half-dozen great string quartets before the public today. The La Salle String Quartet, originally formed at the Julliard School of Music, and now Quartet-in-residence at the Cincinnati College of Music, brings its talents to school children through Young Audiences, Inc.

Ward School P.T.A. is one of many P.T.A. groups in the country to sponsor artists from Young Audiences, but is the first to do so in Newton. The idea behind these concerts is to give grade school youngsters a taste of first-class musical concerts. In essence, it is a practical application of the universal accepted theory that there is nothing more important in educating a child musically than to have beautiful music performed within his hearing. These concerts are made especially accessible to the understanding of children by the use of a new technique developed by the group for its children's concerts. The musicians are friendly and informal. With a relaxed, matter-of-fact approach they use direct commentary and explanations, encourage children to ask questions, and demonstrate the complex techniques of their art in a simple way. For instance, in their program of short works by Beethoven, Mozart, Debussy, and Bartok, the composer's idea was explained in terms of a "conversation" between the various instruments. There were also demonstrations of the ranges of tone in the instruments and the part each could play in the quartet. As in the preceding concert the children were attentive and interested, eagerly asking questions of the musicians about their instruments and their careers.

The third and final concert of the series by the N.Y. Woodwind Quintet will be presented some time in April.

Officers this year of the Ward School P.T.A. are: Mrs. Wilfred Werner, president; Henry Marcus and Mrs. Joseph Weinreb, vice-presidents; Herbert Cohen, treasurer, and Mrs. Saul Gilman, corresponding secretary.

"Thank You Tea" Held for Those Who Aided Christmas Seal Drive

Tuesday afternoon, the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association held a "Thank You Tea" for the many volunteers who have worked for the Association during this year's Christmas Seal Sale Campaign.

Refreshments, flowers, and decorations for the tea, which was held in the Young People's Parlor of the Second Church, West Newton, were donated by friends and Board members of the Association. Mrs. Frederick H. Fowle of West Newton and Mrs. Robert M. Kimball of Waban were pourers. Mrs. Kimball, General Chairman of the Seal Sale Volunteers, was among those who had given 30 hours or more of their time to the campaign. Mrs. Fowle, Chairman of the volunteers from the West Newton Community Service Club, topped by a large amount the hours given by any individual volunteer with a record-breaking 102½ hours. Mrs. Fowle's volunteer group amassed a total of 203½ hours of service to lead all the group totals.

Other women especially honored for the number of hours donated were as follows: for 40 hours and over, Mrs. Olga Mansfield, Waban; Mrs. Harold Carter, West Newton; and Mrs. Norman Kempf, Auburndale; for 30 hours and over, Mrs. Reginald P. Holmes, Newton Upper Falls; for 25 hours and over, Mrs. John D. Fox, Newton Highlands; Mrs. James R. Doherty, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Alan W. Parmenter, Newton Highlands; and Mrs. Forrest W. Paige, Newton Highlands; for 20 hours and over, Mrs. Harry Brock, West Newton; Mrs. William H. MacDonald, Newton; Mrs. John J. Ellsworth, Newton Highlands; Mrs. George Rawson, Newton; Mrs. James Simms, Auburndale; Mrs. Frank D. Hennigan, Newton; Mrs. George F. Wilson, Newton; and Mrs. William Medlicott, Auburndale.

The leading club group, West Newton Community Service Club, was followed by the West Newton Women's Educational Club, the Newton Community Club, and Newton Highland's Woman's Club. A total of 89 volunteers gave 1125½ hours of service to the Association.

In commenting on the report of volunteer services, Miss Norma Solimene, Executive Director, pointed out that the Association's volunteers set records for the total number of workers, for the greatest individual contribution of time, for total number of hours, and for the shortest period of time to complete the work of the campaign.

The volunteers were thanked by Thomas Sears Hayden, D. M. D., President of the Association, who explained the extreme importance of their contribution to the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association which employs no paid fund workers. By giving their time to this worthy cause, the volunteers enable the staff of the Association to continue without interruption its programs of health education, case finding, and rehabilitation.

Among the members of the Board of Directors who were present to thank the volunteers were Mrs. Henry A. Plimpton of Waban, Mrs. A. S. Macmillan, M. D., of Waban, Mrs. Ernest Kuebler of West Newton, Mrs. James R. Denning of Newton Highlands, Miss Mildred E. Moore of West Newton, and Mrs. Gordan Pinkham of Waban.

Also honoring the volunteers were Mrs. Kenneth J. Waite, President Newton Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, President, West Newton Community Service Club; Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, President, Newton Community Club; Mrs. Earl L. Ham, President, West Newton Women's Educational Club; Mrs. Henry A. Plimpton, President, Waban's Woman's Club; and Mrs. J. Howard Littleton, President of the Auburndale Woman's Club.

Those who won awards were E. Gilfix of 47 Charles Bank road, $110; Catherine Dargan, of 931 Washington street, West Newton, $120; and Howard Strong, of 127 Lake avenue, Newton Highlands, $130.

Perhaps you too can be made as happy as these three local residents. For details see the advertisement of Tip Top Cleaners which appears on another page of this issue.

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Have you ever heard a TV set owner say, "I got a new set and I like it—but it seems to need twice as many repairs as my old one." Actually, that situation is possible... but the set owner has probably forgotten how many service calls were required when his "old" set was "new."

The chance of failure of the vacuum tubes in your TV set is greatest during the early life of the set. The manufacturer tries to protect against this factor with exhaustive tests on the sets before they leave the factory, in order to detect defective tubes and other parts which might fail. That's the reason, too, for the warranty which protects your investment during the early stages of use. If there are defective parts, they'll ordinarily show up early.

After its early "shake-down" period, however, your newer television receiver will tend to give longer, more trouble-free service than the older set... because it's a better set than its predecessors. Television manufacture has improved greatly in the last few years, and today you are able to pay less and get better viewing.

When trouble does occur in your set, whether it's relatively new or an older model, we have the stock of first quality parts and the service experience to solve the reception problem... promptly!

World Day of Prayer to Be Observed First Fri. In Lent

NDALANINGI SITHOLE

The World Day of Prayer, sponsored by the General Department of United Church Women, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., will be observed in Newton on the first Friday in Lent, February 17, at 1:30 p.m. in the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. The speaker at the service will be Mr. Ndabaningi

Sithole, a Christian educator from Southern Rhodesia, Africa, who is doing graduate work at Andover - Newton Theological Seminary.

The service, with the theme, "One Flock, One Shepherd" (John 10:16), which will be used on that day, will be followed in 134 countries, beginning on the Tonga Islands just west of the International Date Line, where Queen Salote will lead her subjects in prayer, and closing at the end of the twenty-four hour period on St. Lawrence Island in Alaska.

THE PURPOSE of the Day, which is in its 70th year of observance, is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer and to make an offering through the Divisions of Home and Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches to interdenominational missionary projects. In 1955 over 20,000 communities in the United States observed this Day, and the offering amounted to approximately $500,000.

The program comes from a different country each year and is translated into over 60 languages. The service for 1956 was written in Cook Training School for Indian Christian Leaders, located in Phoenix, Arizona, which receives a part of the World Day of Prayer offering each year. It opens with a prayer written by Chief Yellow Lark, and includes sections from worship services of the Navaho and Dakota tribes.

The Day in Newton will be conducted by the Council of Church Women. Mrs. Hugh L. Robinson, president; Mrs. James H. Burns, vice-president; and Mrs. Homer G. Bean, chairman of the Spiritual Life committee, will participate in the service, which is identical to that which will be followed all over the world. A chorus of women representing the twenty-three member churches of the Council of Church Women, under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Bernard, will sing. The organist will be Mrs. Hamilton M. Gifford. Prior to the service in the Central Congregational Church, many churches will hold Preparatory Prayer Services in their own churches, going then as a group to the union service.

MR. SITHOLE, who will bring the message of the day, is a teacher from Mt. Silanda Institute, a school founded and conducted by the American Board of Foreign Missions, the overseas service arm of the Congregational Christian Churches in the U.S.A. Born of pagan parents in a mud-and-pole hut, Mr. Sithole was brought up under the rites of the witch doctor. He had no schooling until he was ten, and had never seen a white man, a train, or an automobile. At fifteen he ran away from home to a mission school, and worked his way through school until he had obtained enough education to take a job as a country teacher. Through correspondence courses he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of South Africa. He became a Christian while attending Dada Mission School, and soon after began to tell the Christian story in jails and in remote villages. Mr. Sithole has written several books about the Ndebele, his people, and these are recommended reading by the Native Education Inspectorate of Southern Rhodesia for use in African schools. Both in Africa and in America, Mr. Sithole is correspondent for the Bantu Mirror and the African Weekly.

Among those on the committee of the new Thrift Shop being opened Wednesday by the Friends of the Brooks Hospital are Mrs. George White and Mrs. Aaron Levin, both of Newton.

Newton Highlands Congregational Church Activities

Dr. Earl W. Douglas, executive secretary of the City Missionary Society, will be the guest speaker at the first of a series of Lenten services at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church. Work with the United Community Chest relating to delinquency has given Dr. Douglas cause to question the complicity in many suburban churches. Speaking on "A Protestant Strategy for Greater Boston," he will discuss the roots of this complicity and suggest a program for overcoming it. Dr. Douglas, who is also Associate Minister and Boston Area Director of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, will speak at 8 p.m., Wednesday, February 15th, in the parish hall.

All are welcome to attend the program and to join the fellowship hour immediately following the service. The Deaconesses, Mrs. James R. Denning, chairman, will provide refreshments.

A Military Whist, sponsored by the Martha Guild of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, will be held on Thursday, February 16th at 8 p.m. in the church dining room. Mr. Robert S. Foote, who will conduct the play, says, "Nothing compares with Military Whist for meeting old friends and making new ones. A spirit of jovial friendliness spreads increasingly throughout the evening." Mrs. George W. Arthur is in charge of refreshments to be served after the Flagg of Kirkstall Road, Newtonville are entertaining Mrs. Flagg's sister, Miss June Buchanan who is in Boston to attend the Celebrity Luncheon of the Massachusetts Teachers Association which was held in the Sheraton Plaza last Saturday, at which Mrs. Flagg was mistress of ceremonies. Exit facilities should be designed for use under conditions of panic, bearing in mind the likelihood that persons otherwise normal may behave irrationally in case of a fire. It must also be remembered that panic can occur when there is not a fire connected to the occasion. Several cases of serious loss of life have occurred in panics induced by a mistaken cry of fire.

This condition is most likely to be serious where large crowds are present and least likely to occur in modern fire resistant buildings which are not densely populated.

Many cases are on record where the basic law of life—get out—has been forgotten by the students' background information during the week before each performance.

There will be two performances of the ballet, at 2 and 4 p. m. The program is open to all Memorial School pupils and also to students at the Oak Hill School on Wheeler road. Tickets will be sold at both schools next Monday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Sanford Sachs is chairman of the committee.

Dr. Henry W. Godfrey, acting director of public health, announced last Saturday the appointment of an eighth school physician as a result of the construction of the new Meadow-

An Ounce Is Worth $1,875!

"When is an ounce worth $1,875? That is a lot of money for an ounce of anything, but a one ounce error on a scale making 100 weighings a day at $1 a pound will multiply out an error of $1,875 in a year.

"Every scale in commercial use is a money machine, and if inaccurate is either taking money away from the customer or giving ing away profits of the businessman."

The above is an introduction to a three page pamphlet published and now being distributed by the Weights and Measures Department of Newton. Referring to the pamphlet says the Newton Chamber of Commerce, "It's simple and definite terms of computation sets forth in dollars the cost to everybody, whether buyer or seller, of various scale errors multiplied over a period of time. The pamphlet is published by the Department of Weights and Measures of the City of Newton as a public service, and its value so impressed us that we have secured copies thereof for enclosure with the current Bulletin of the Chamber."

The booklet continues, "To return to the illustration and prove that an ounce is worth $1,875: A scale that is inaccurate by one ounce is costing someone a pound every 16 weighings, or 6.25 pounds for every 100 weighings, (1/16x100). If the commodity is worth $1 a pound at 100 weighings a day for 300 days of a year the cost is $1,875. (6.25x300). That's important money for any little ounce, and it doesn't have to be diamonds that are being weighed. It happens all alone in the market-place."

This is true whether from the cost angle of a producer or manufacturer, as a matter of profit to a merchant, or to you as a consumer. The Newton Weights and Measures Department advises customers to always be sure that a scale registers exactly on zero at no load, before weighing operations are commenced, and the pamphlet concludes with this advice to merchants "Don't give merchandise away—give merchandise a weigh."

Mrs. Harry C. Brock and Mrs. O. Sidney Parker will be co-chairmen of the dessert-coffee hour at 1 p.m.

The president, Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, will conduct the business meeting at 2 p.m.

The Fashion Show and Tea, sponsored by the Ways and Means Committee, will be held Wednesday, March 7, at 2 p.m. at the Second Church in Newton, West Newton.

High School Music Club to Hear Concert by Miss Akiyoshi

It has been announced by Henry Lasker, advisor of the Newton High School Music Club, that Miss Toshiko Akiyoshi, leading girl jazz pianist of Japan, will be the guest performer at the next meeting of the club on Wednesday, February 15.

Miss Akiyoshi, who is 26 years old, studied music in Manchuria. She has been exposed to American jazz only since 1947, and has extracted and analyzed American jazz recordings as to melodic line and harmonic content. She did this purely on her own as there was no instruction in this field available in Japan; and was frequently assisted by American musicians.

After correspondence with Lawrence Berk, Newton resident and director of the Berklee School, she was awarded a scholarship to the school. In order to enrich her background and further her musicianship, she is studying classical music with Margaret Chaloff, well-known teacher of piano.

Her first appearances in this country will be at George Wein's Storyville. Mr. Wein, an alumnus of Newton High, and a guest of the Music Club on several occasions, will accompany Miss Akiyoshi along with several musicians from Storyville.

Citizens Aid In Church Rebuilding

All Faiths Join In Sending Contributions To Help In The Work

Plan Special Caucus To Aid Republican Cause

This is a crucial year for all Republican women of Newton. A special caucus has been planned to lay out organizational work for this important year. The Newton Women's Republican Club urges all Republican Women to attend the caucus to be held at the Wellesley Country Club February 29 from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. "Brunch" will be served, and the speakers will be Thomas A. Pappas, of the National Finance Committee, who will speak about "National and State Finance Goals"; Carolyn Standley will tell the audience about "Campaign Organizational Activities"; and Elmer C. Nelson, the Republican State Chairman, will give a fascinating talk on the subject of "The Responsibilities of Elected Officials."

All Republican women of Massachusetts are welcome. Please make out a check for $1.50 payable to Mass. Federation of Women's Republican Organizations, Special, and send check to the Republican State Committee, 8 Beacon Street, Boston, not later than February 27 if you wish to attend. This charge covers the cost of the "Brunch."

If anyone wishes transportation or additional information, phone Mrs. David M. Schulman at BI 4-3936.

The next meeting of the Newton Women's Republican Club will be held at the Beethoven School, in Waban, on March 12th, at 8:15 p.m. More news of this important meeting will be announced at a later date.

Committee Making Plans For Tenley Albright Reception

Definite word has been received that Olympic Skating Champion Tenley Albright will arrive at Logan Airport at 7:10 a.m. March 4 and plans are going ahead for her homecoming celebration, according to Administrative Assistant James E. Murphy and Recreation Commissioner C. Evans Johnson, co-chairmen of the affair.

Plans call for a reception at the airport with a small ceremony, then she will be escorted to her home to rest up for the afternoon's activities.

A parade will be held at 2 o'clock, and a ceremony with Governor Herter, Senators Saltonstall and Kennedy and Congressmen Laurence Curtis as speakers.

Although city officials are planning most of the event and $2000 has been appropriated to finance it, service clubs have been invited to participate either by pooling their resources for a gift to Tenley or by getting together on a float for the parade.

City Treasurer Archie R. Whitman will act as treasurer, and Mrs. Worthing West of the Recreation Commission as secretary. Four committees will be named to handle the details of the reception at the airport, for

Please Send Copy In Early For Next Week's Issue

Although The Graphic will be delivered to the homes as usual next Thursday morning, due to Washington's Birthday falling on next Wednesday, it will greatly facilitate matters if correspondents and advertisers will send their copy in as early as possible.

All news copy should be received at The Graphic office not later than early next Tuesday morning. The same request applies for all advertising copy.

Classified advertising, however, may be called into The Graphic office until next Wednesday noon, as usual.

Your cooperation in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Plan Inoculation For Polio Here Of 3000 Children

Newton Health Director Dr. Henry W. Godfrey has requested enough Salk polio vaccine to inoculate the nearly 3,000 children who received their first shots last year.

ALTHOUGH the vaccine will not be set up its vaccination program immediately, but will wait and see whether the state will inaugurate a public program for all children up to age 14. It would be more convenient to give all the shots at one time, than to give them to the second and third graders now eligible and then to the younger and older children.

40 or 50 doctors would be required to give the shots, working in teams each morning for 10 weeks. The shots for pregnant women probably would be handled by Newton-Vellesley Hospital.

PARENTS who prefer to have their family doctors give the shots may do so by signing a card requesting it and the vaccine will be sent to the doctor. Obstetricians will be able to obtain the vaccine also upon request.

Commendation Ribbon Given Newton Man by Air Force

A native of the "Garden City" is Technical Sergeant Roland D. Mahoney of the 551st AEW&C Wing Communications & Electronic Section.

Born and raised in Newton, Sergeant Mahoney attended Boston College for three years, majoring in Political Science and History. He expects to complete the requirements for a degree in the near future. He graduated from Newton High School in 1946, Sergeant Mahoney spent two years in the Pacific as a CID Agent and then returned to college.

When the Korean fracas started, he went in again, spent 13 months in Korea working liaison with the Office of Special Investigation (CSI) and UN Investigative Agencies.

For his outstanding service Sergeant Mahoney was awarded the Commendation Ribbon by direction of the Secretary of the Air Force.

The citation which accompanied this award read in part: "Technical Sergeant Mahoney... has apprehended deserters from the military service of the United States, recovered thousands of dollars of Government Property and suppressed Blackmarket and Narcotics activity."

Sergeant Mahoney has never hesitated in working long and tedious hours with complete disregard for his personal health and safety, when called upon to do so by the respective Air Force Commanders. In spite of a physical handicap he has worked on many cases without aid, which involved the arrest of dangerous criminals.

IN ADDITION to the Commendation medal, he was recommended for award of the Bronze Star Medal for his accomplishments in Korea.

Throughout his service career Sergeant Mahoney has been associated with Criminal Investigation and Staff Judge Advocate Activities. He hopes to return to his field of activity should the opportunity present

Interest In White House Conference Is Large

Community enthusiasm is building to a new high as plans for Newton's White House Conference on Education swing into high gear. Sparked by the hard core of 200 committee workers, and furthered by spontaneous offers of help from all over Newton, the conference shows every promise of being the most dynamic community project ever organized in Newton.

Lay-directed and executed, self-supporting through its registration fees and the generous donations of several public-spirited individuals and organizations, the undertaking is truly a grass-roots affair. The professional skills of many busy people are being given freely to provide for all citizens this opportunity for the interchange of ideas on the most vital issue of our day: education in a democracy.

THE PROGRAM committee under the leadership of Melvin J. Dangel and E. Graham Bates announces that while specific details are still being worked out, its plans are in general completed.

Dr. Clarence H. Faust, President of the Fund for the Advancement of Education of the Ford Foundation, will deliver the key address. His subject will be "Education Is Everybody's Business."

The conference itself will take place at the Newton High School on Friday evening.

Newton Red Cross Aids at Fire

During the fire Saturday night at the Eliot Congregational Church, Newton Red Cross Chapter responded. Twelve members of the Disaster Unit reported for duty and six Canteen members also served.

Both on Saturday and Sunday, sandwiches and doughnuts were served.

The Boston Chapter Disaster unit offer its assistance which was gratefully accepted.

The Chapter has also made facilities available for the Production Group of the church, whose materials and quarters were destroyed.

Conflagration Completely Destroys The Eliot Congregational Church

Citizens of all faiths have joined in to aid in the rebuilding of the Eliot Congregational Church at Newton Corner which was completely destroyed by fire last Saturday evening.

The beautiful edifice was reduced to a shell and the many church fixtures, organ, stained-glass windows and many other irreplaceable items were lost in the devastating blaze.

Already other Newton churches and synagogues have offered the Eliot Congregational Church congregation the use of their buildings during the emergency.

Already, plans are being made to rebuild the structure but it is doubtful if any of the walls which are left standing can be used in any proposed rebuilding plan.

Dr. Ray Eusden to Preach At Newton Methodist Church

Dr. Ray Eusden, pastor of Eliot Congregational Church in Newton will bring the sermon at the Newton Methodist Church this Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m. The congregations of Eliot Church and the Methodist Church will unite for the morning service with Dr. Paul Uhlinger conducting the service. The combined choirs of the two churches will bring one of the anthems and the Children's Choir of the Eliot Church under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Schumacher will bring the anthem they had planned to give at Eliot Church as they usually do on the third Sunday of the month.

Committees from both congregations are studying plans for the use of facilities for the two churches, due to the destruction of Eliot Church building by fire last Saturday evening. Announcement will be made next week of further plans for worship services and their times, Dr. Eusden and Dr. Uhlinger state.

Court Finds In Favor of John D. Martin

Middlesex Superior Court Judge Wilfred Paquet has ordered the reinstatement of Newton Comptroller John D. Martin, without loss of pay, and damages of $109.56 to be paid him by the city. City Solicitor Matt B. Jones immediately filed an appeal to the Supreme Court.

"Eliot Church Rebuilding Fund" Is Established

Through its directors, consisting of William M. Powers, Paul S. Richard and Harold L. Higgins, the Newton Improvement Association has established an "Eliot Church Rebuilding Fund" to aid all future plans.

In a statement issued Tuesday, the Association said:

"The tragic destruction of the Eliot Church on Saturday evening was for both its parishioners and neighbors a terrible personal loss. As a building, it has stood not only as a powerful reminder of its rich tradition, but as a friendly symbol of good in our community, and throughout the City of Newton.

"Citizens of every faith, both in Newton and in the surrounding communities, have expressed a spontaneous desire to contribute something to the rebuilding of the Eliot Church. In view of this desire, the directors of the Newton Improvement Association have established the 'Eliot Church Rebuilding Fund'.

"Donations and contributions, whether large or small, may be made to the Fund by mailing or delivering to the Newton National Bank, Centre Street, Newton, care of Charles E. Smith, Trust Officer."

Eliot Congregational Church possessed many beautiful and irreplaceable stained-glass windows which were completely destroyed during the fire. One, a stained glass window, depicting John Eliot preaching the Gospel to the Indians, was shattered. This window was put in when the structure was built in 1889.

ANOTHER LOST ITEM is a nativity painting by either

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Despite Medical Report, Ike May Still Decide Not to Run

It may not be entirely safe to leap at the conclusion that the report by President Eisenhower's doctors means that he is going to stand for reelection. It is a reasonable assumption, and it is the one being reached by virtually all Republican politicians and by the vast majority of political observers.

GOP leaders, however, would do well to temper their jubilation with a measure of caution because even before the President suffered his heart attack there were some signs that he was disposed not to seek another term.

All the evidence available seems to indicate that he himself has not yet reached the decision, which only he can make, and there is still no certainty that he will decide to lead next fall's Republican campaign or to undertake the strain of the Presidency for another four years.

He would be a heavy favorite to achieve reelection, if he does run. The presence of his name on the ballot would greatly improve GOP prospects in the contests for other offices, including the fight for the Massachusetts Governorship and the battle that will be waged for control of the next Congress.

Coreggio, or Caravaggio, both 16th century Italian artists. An original painting by either of these two would be priceless. Donated by the late Mrs. Henry Murphy, the painting hung in Rev. Ray A. Eusden's study, except at Christmas time when it was placed in the sanctuary.

The organ in the church alone was worth $100,000 and could never be replaced. It was a Casavant four manual organ. Tapestries, church records and other irreplaceable items also have been completely destroyed. Saved were the church's oldest records, describing its beginning in 1845. The bell is still hanging in the clock tower. The yoke that holds it is charred, but the bell is still usable.

The general alarm fire drew apparatus from Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Watertown, Waltham, Needham, Mattick and Wellesley and the combined forces of fire-fighters worked throughout the night to bring the blaze under control. Had it not been for the sleet and rain during the fire, a more general conflagration might have resulted as large sparks and fire fell as far away as Commonwealth avenue, almost three miles distant.

A PRELIMINARY check of the granite walls, the only part of the edifice left standing, indicated that the upper parts were unsafe. Christopher Norton of the State Building Inspectors' Office has expressed the preliminary opinion that the walls would have to be removed to a height of about 20 feet. However, no final determination has been made on the safety of the walls, he stated.

Chief John E. Corcoran of the Fire Department announced that he was working on a detailed report of the blaze, while Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell stated that his investigation as to the safety of the walls and steeple is incomplete.

In the meantime, citizens of all faiths are joining hands to aid in the work of rebuilding plans of the Eliot Congregational Church and following next Thursday's meeting of church officials, future plans and details will be announced.

itself. Sgt. Mahoney was personally commended by Major General William O. Senter, Commander of the OCAMA, for prompt and efficient investigation and administration of claims for and against the United States while working for the Office of the Staff Judge Advocate at O'Hare Field, Chicago, just prior to assignment at Otis. Along with his claims duties, Sergeant Mahoney was Administrative Supervisor of Staff Judge Advocate's Office of the 470th Air Defense Wing at O'Hare Field.

MARRIED, the Sergeant and his wife, Madlynne, recently became proud parents of a baby girl, Theresa Colleen. They have one other child, a boy, Roland D., III, age 1½. Their temporary residence is at Depot road, North Falmouth. Sergeant Mahoney's permanent home is at 84 College road, Chestnut Hill.

March 16, and all day Saturday, March 17.

The Friday evening session will feature outstanding speakers on the subject: "What Should Our Schools Accomplish?" Speaking for the public schools will be Dr. W. Linwood Chase; for the church-supported schools, Mr. Brassil Fitzgerald; for the independent schools, Dr. Francis Parkman.

THIS CONFERENCE fashioned after the National White House Conference called by President Eisenhower last fall, and similar to the thousands being held in communities all over the country, is designed to appeal to every taxpayer, resident, and parent of children in public, parochial, or private school.

The Friday evening session will also hear Newton's delegates to the Washington conference: the Honorable Irene K. Thresher, Mr. Haskell Freeman, and Mr. Joseph Kaplan.

The all day Saturday program will open at 9:15 a.m. with group discussions on four subjects: "Winning and Holding Good Teachers"; "Our Choice: Standards Down or Costs Up?"; "How Many High Schools For Newton and What About Our Obsolete Schools?"; and "Some Other School Problems."

The Saturday luncheon should have a capacity crowd to hear Dr. Faust. In the afternoon reports will be brought in on the morning workshops, with suggestions and recommendations on "Where Do We Go From Here?" Mr. Harold Wooster as chairman of the Follow-Up Committee will lead this part of the program. Conference summaries will follow with the audience participating and under the direction of Dr. Wendell Yeo.

Dr. Gilmour will succeed the Reverend Dr. Paul S. Minear of Newton Centre, who will become Professor of New Testament at Yale Divinity School.

Dr. Minear will complete his duties at Andover Newton Theological School in June. Dr. Gilmour will come to the school in September.

Dr. Gilmour has recently completed a sabbatical leave from Queen's College during which he served as Assistant to the Director of Religious Administration of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Ottawa, Canada.

A native of Manitoba in 1905, he is a graduate of the University of Manitoba with B.A. degree, 1924; Union Theological Seminary, New York, B.D., 1928; University of Marburg, Germany, 1928-30; and University of Chicago Ph.D., 1937.

A member of the Presbyterian denomination, he was ordained a minister of the United Church of Canada in 1928.

During World War II he served as a flight lieutenant and squadron leader in the Chaplaincy Corps of the Royal Canadian Air Force from 1941 to 1945.

A noted author of many religious works, he also wrote the introduction to and the exegetical commentaries on the Gospel of Luke in the Interpreters' Bible. One of his new books "The Gospel Jesus Preached" is scheduled for publication this year.

He married the former Mary Young in 1928. The couple has two daughters, Nora and Mary, and a son Harvey.

Care of Heart Not Confined To Any One Month of Year

Care of your heart is a daily occurrence not confined to the month of February, designated as National Heart Month, but it is well, that some time be set aside for renewed emphasis.

The episode of last September that took place in Denver, Colorado, has brought heart disease into a clear focus. Our concern for President Eisenhower is far reaching, but how did you react to the news? Did you feel despair for the President, lose hope because he had a heart attack? Just how did your fears manifest themselves? I am sure you reacted with a variety of emotions.

Misconceptions about illness are many, but the fables connected with heart disease are disturbing to us. Many feel that it is time to "give up" after a heart attack. Now we know that this is not true. Research has made enormous strides in discovering new surgical techniques, drugs and methods of rehabilitation. Often the cardiac patient can be helped to lead a productive and normal life in his home and community. Early diagnosis and medical care may prevent and cure some forms of heart disease. Self diagnosis and treatment are dangerous tools in any illness.

The foregoing is a summary of the discussion given by Mary Steinkrauss, Nursing Supervisor at the recent monthly board meeting of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association. The Newton Visiting Nurse Association participates in part-time nursing care of the cardiac patient in his home. In 1955, the visiting nurses made 1,726 visits to cardiac patients, approximately 10% of our annual nursing care visits. Instructions regarding diet, bedside care of the patient and prevention of heart disease are given throughout the nurses' visits. The availability of this service upon advice of his physician, may help to shorten the patient's hospital stay. With a better understanding of heart disease, members of the family can help the patient and themselves adjust more easily to the illness.

The American Heart Association provides for continued heart research education for professional groups, public health and industrial programs. Display material loaned by the Boston office of the American Heart Association emphasizes the highpoints of the discussion today. Support your Heart Association so that their services may continue and expand.

Highland Congregational Church Activities

"Getting the Church into the Community," subject of the second Lenten Service at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, will feature a discussion of the history and organization of a "Fishermen's Club," based on the work of Jesus' disciples. The Reverend Nathaniel M. Guptill, of the First Church in Newton, met with the Deacons and Dr. Frederic Grootsema at the home of Mr. Robert S. Foote, to describe the many Fishermen's Clubs he has organized both here and elsewhere in New England. The members receive special training to go out in their community, two by two, to enlist people in church membership, and to integrate new members into the life of the church. The Board of Deacons will assist Dr. Grootsema in leading the program. A cordial welcome is extended to all who wish to attend this meeting on Wednesday, February 22nd, at 8 p.m., in the Parish Hall of the church. The Women's Association will serve refreshments at a fellowship hour directly after the meeting. Mrs. Edgar H. Delamater, in charge.

Dr. Frank W. Maurer, retiring chairman of the Prudential Committee of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, commended the Dorcas Guild for their contribution of fifty dollars to the Founders Hall Fund in a letter read by Mrs. Robert

S. Lowry, Secretary, at the February meeting. A new broadloom rug has been purchased by the Guild for the nursery and kindergarten Sunday School room, which they have chosen to furnish and maintain. Mrs. Edward C. Allen, Project Chairman, Mrs. Robert R. Logan, and Miss Eileen Burns have washed the room and painted furniture. Mrs. Fritz I. Fern is recovering two chairs.

The following representatives of the church explained some of their particular duties to the Junior High Pilgrim Fellowship at their February 12th meeting in a program entitled, "Inside Our Church": Mr. Howard G. Hobbs, Chairman of the Board of Deacons, Mrs. James D. Wynne, Co-Chairman of the Board of Deaconesses, Mrs. Frank I. Black, President of the Women's Association, Mr. R.

Basic Airman William M. Sammarco, 51 Dearborn street, West Newton selected Sampson AFB, Geneva, New York, for his basic training site along with Peter N. Iannuzzo and Robert L. Gray, of Waltham. They will train together at Sampson under the Air Force "buddy system."

The remainder selected to train at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. They are: Robert E. Marcell, 31 Harold Terr., David R. Johnson, Newton YMCA, George D. Relf, 21 Thaxter rd., Newtonville, Louis J. Blisky, Jr., 41 Keefe

The group also included two N.H.S. classmates residing outside Newton, Robert Fairbanks and Michael Fenton.

Also enlisting in the USAF was former Navyman A3C Frederick H. DeDoming who is enroute to Lackland base for a two week period of processing and reclassification.

The fledgling airmen will come under a new Air Force training program initiated in January. Under this program basic airmen selected for specialized training at an Air Force technical school will remain at the basic training center only six weeks instead of the usual eleven weeks for those

— Political Overtones —

A great many Republican politicians may win election contests next November, if Ike is a candidate, and lose them, if he decides that what he wants to do is to retire to the quiet of his farm in Gettysburg.

The ebb and flow of political tides across the nation will be affected by the decision he makes, and public careers will hang in the balance.

It would be safe to say that the report by the medical jury means there is a good possibility that President Eisenhower will run. If it had been the other way, it, of course, would have eliminated him as a prospective candidate.

Right now the guessing is that he will run. But it still is only a guess. Neither Republican nor Democrat leaders can afford to get too far out on a limb in either their plans or their predictions.

Herter Has Strength Throughout Country

It is necessary to leave Massachusetts and visit some other state in order to fully appreciate the presidential possibilities offered by Gov. Christian A. Herter.

Persons vacationing in Florida, for example, have been surprised to find newspapers in that region booming the prospects of "the big man from Massachusetts," if President Eisenhower doesn't run again.

The same thing is true in states throughout the Middle West and other sections of the East, where Herter has made public appearances in recent months.

But there is nothing at all surprising about it, if you stop to analyze the situation. If Ike decides that his physical condition will not allow him to stand for reelection, what presidential candidates does the Republican party have?

Vice-President Richard M. Nixon obviously is one possibility. Gov. Herter is a second, and Sen. William F. Knowland of California a third. That just about completes the list.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California obviously considers himself Presidential timber but is just about alone in that opinion. The only effect his entrance into the race would have would be to lessen the chances of Knowland and Nixon.

The governors of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, states which have big blocs of convention votes, are all Democrats. Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois is a Republican, but he does not match Herter's caliber.

Unless you believe that the GOP might dust off Thomas E. Dewey or Harold E. Stassen, it doesn't have many other choices that come to mind quickly.

Herter is the outstanding Governor in the country. Knowland is the Republican leader of the Senate, and Nixon is the vice-president.

Some political observers point out that Herter is at a geographical disadvantage since he is from a state at one extreme end of the nation. Nixon and Knowland certainly share that disadvantage because they are from the opposite extreme of the country. In addition, they are from the same state.

This onlooker believes that there is a much greater likelihood that Herter will be nominated for President than there is that he will be selected as Ike's vice-presidential running mate, if Mr. Eisenhower makes up his mind to seek another term.

There is a great deal of hostility toward Nixon both within his own party and outside it. Many Republicans do not like the idea of his being in a position where he would step into the Presidency, if anything happened to Ike.

But it would be both embarrassing and awkward to drop him from the GOP national ticket, if President Eisenhower is renominated. It would be something the Republican party hasn't done since the Civil War days, when it nominated Abraham Lincoln for a second term.

The President himself probably would be reluctant to have Nixon thrown aside, even though that is exactly what many of the party leaders might want to do, and he might insist on Nixon's renomination.

The situation, however, would be altogether different, if Ike steps out, and in such an event we believe that Herter would be a favorite over either Nixon or Knowland.

Massachusetts is not as big a state as

California, but Herter in all likelihood would go to next August's Republican national convention with the solid support of the delegations from the six New England States and probably the bulk of the votes from such big Eastern states as New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

That would be a fight in which Nixon and Knowland would cut up the votes in the West and Herter would stand practically alone in the East. Knowland would get substantial backing from the Old Guard wing of the Republican party, but not as much as did the late Robert A. Taft, who never could quite make it.

The way we see the present political picture is that Gov. Herter will assume a key post in President Eisenhower's cabinet, if Ike runs for reelection and wins. And Herter looms as potentially the head man in his party, if the President decides to retire to Gettysburg.

In 1954, Herter was the only Republican Governor in the country who won by a greater margin than he did in 1952. He served for 10 years in Congress, was a recognized authority on international affairs, and was selected one year as the nation's outstanding Congressman.

The foreign policy he advocates parallels almost exactly that of President Eisenhower. He is a liberal Republican, just as is Ike. If Herter is not the logical GOP choice to carry the GOP Presidential banner, if Eisenhower is not a candidate, he certainly comes very close to it.

Nelson for Unbowed Wor. Convention

As our high school freshman daughter would put it, The Boston Herald "goofed" when it recently published an editorial demanding that Republican State Committee Chairman Elmer C. Nelson resign so that he might be replaced at the head of the GOP organization by someone more sympathetic to Lt.-Gov. Sumner G. Whittier.

In the same editorial, Nelson was very firmly told that he also should get off the Big Ten delegate-at-large slate to the Republican national convention to make way for someone from Western Massachusetts.

The editorial obviously assumed that Whittier is to be the Republican candidate for Governor, which is a fairly logical assumption, but it went even further than that and adopted the attitude that Whittier already has the privilege of exercising the rights and prerogatives of the gubernatorial nominee, which is taking a little too much for granted.

The Herald left the Republican party wide open to the charge that it, state convention to be held in Worcester next June already is being rigged and that the delegates attending that convocation will merely be puppets dancing on the end of strings maneuvered by the party's high command.

Governor Herter was quick to recognize the risks involved, if such an impression became prevalent, and he lost no time in letting it be known that he did not consider himself either a dictator or a king-maker and that he was not backing anyone for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

It, of course, would be within the governor's right to endorse a candidate for the nomination to succeed him, but if he did, he would not do so in the manner of The Herald and curly order a party workhorse such as Nelson to walk the plank.

The only reason The Herald or Whittier would want to get Nelson out as the Republican State Committee chairman is that they obviously suspect that some place along the line Nelson may try to trip up Whittier and prevent him from getting his party's endorsement for governor.

Nelson obviously is not very enthusiastic about Whittier. It does not breed enthusiasm when a candidate or his editorial backers are trying to throw you out.

But Nelson cut his political eye teeth a long time ago. He is one of the shrewdest as well as one of the hardest working politicians in the State. He knows that Whittier is an odds-on favorite to win the gubernatorial endorsement, no matter what transpires between now and the middle of next June.

What Nelson apparently is trying to do is give any and all Republican candidates for governor an opportunity for a fair fight at the GOP State convention.

Getting Acquainted With the Stuttgart Area

We received an additional 100 gallons of gas this month. I put in a request for an additional 50 gallons and the request went up to the General. He OK'd it. I think I mentioned that we are rationed as far as gasoline is concerned and get only 100 gallons a month. We used our allotment up in 11 days last month, so I explained our trips and requested the additional for "educational purposes." We got 100 gallons.

SATURDAY MORNING we visited a German commerce high school of 4000 students. We enjoyed it very much and were impressed with the way the boys dressed. Most of all of them had ties and sport jackets on. The first class was history, and we couldn't understand any of it. The teacher seemed to handle the class very well. The students asked us to tell them a little about America. We told them about high schools in the States.

The second class was an English class with another capable teacher. The subject of the day was the American press. I spoke most of the period about our newspapers. Ruth told them, in answer to a girl's question, about women's magazines. One question they asked me was, "What is the difference in standards of living between America and Germany?" This posed a difficult job. However, in the future, I believe that I will be a little more honest. I hemmed and hawed, and did my best to do the job without America sounding unbelievably wonderful, pointing out the advantages the Germans have. I think that this is a fine, brotherly way to handle such questions, but these people are old enough to be told the facts—in old figures—if it is done in a kind way.

The last class was also an English class. The teacher had no control over the pupils at all. We talked to this class too, and commanded a great deal more attention than the instructor did when he spoke.

WE WERE TAKEN to the school by the youngsters in the Baer family which we met through some of Ruth's friends back in the States. The father of this family is a jeweler, and I had him fix my watch. He did a fine job—put on new hands, gave me a new case and winder, and a new watch band. All for 45 DM, which we thought was very reasonable. He also gave it a good cleaning.

On Sunday we went to see some nearby castles. We first went about 10 miles southwest of Stuttgart. On the way we passed a hill which was supposed to be the highest hill around Stuttgart. It was made from the dumping of bomb rubble that was hauled out of the city. We went on to our first castle.

The castle is named Solitude, and was built by Prince Charles Eugene of Wurtemberg. It was his hunting lodge. During his glory, he had the Russian Czar visit him, and decided he wanted to impress him. If he impressed him sufficiently, the Czar wouldn't attack him later on. He had a ten mile road built, straight as an arrow, from the front of his lodge to his main castle in Ludwigsburg. He had this covered with salt, so that the Czar would be taken from the lodge to the castle and back on sleigh during the heat of the summer. The Czar was impressed. The lodge wasn't very large, and had been refurnished recently. I was unimpressed. It looked too new, you know. I was more impressed by the numerous little houses that were scattered around the lodge. These housed the soldiers who made up the prince's bodyguards. After inspecting the Lodge, we drove over to the main castle. This was quite a place, but still too modern to fill the imaginary idea I had of a castle. It looked to me, more like parliamentary buildings. We went through the throne room, numerous bedrooms and writing rooms, the chapel and theatre. There is almost no war damage in Ludwigsburg, so the castle was saved although it is close to the center of town. American bombers dropped leaflets telling the folks the town would be saved because of the priceless landmarks of castles, etc.

LAST NIGHT we went to Esslingen, about 10 miles northwest of Stuttgart. I have a youngster in school. He does a lot of hunting and came across an ammunition cache which he told me about. It was at the "Burg," another castle. I decided to go out and check the place over to see if it was safe for him to be fooling around. We reached the castle a little too late to do much checking, but we were surely impressed with this castle. It was one of the medieval structures, and was just the type of thing that I imagine when I think of a castle. The whole thing is on top of a hill. The walls are many feet thick, and there are round blockhouses every so often where the people lived who defended the castle. The main wall enclosed approximately 10 acres. All along the wall there were niches for soldiers. At no place was the wall less than 30 feet high. At one place the wall had fallen to pieces. It gives a person a strange feeling to stand in a place like this where people were waging wars with only stones and swords and bows and arrows a few hundred years ago. The most impressive part about the whole thing was the size of the structure. These high walls, made of cut stone weighing tons apiece, were built without the aid of bulldozers or derricks. Mighty impressive!

William of Roxbury, and James, John and Francis of Newton, and eight grandchildren.

Neither Whittier nor The Herald should object to that, if Whittier is sure of being nominated as The Herald says he is. Such a policy would not cause the scars and the bad taste that would be left, if the other potential gubernatorial contenders are shoved roughly aside to make way for Whittier.

An ironic twist to the situation is that The Herald, in demanding that Nelson step out as a delegate-at-large to the national convention, asked whether there aren't any Republicans west of Worcester.

Indeed, there are. One of them is Governor's Councillor Bruce Crane from Dalton out in the beautiful Berkshire Hills. Crane has indicated that he may oppose Whittier for the Republican nomination for Governor, and he is mainly the one for whom Nelson is trying to assure a fair fight.

It would appear also that The Herald needs a little touching up on its geography in demanding that Nelson get off the delegate slate for someone from Western Massachusetts.

The person who desires the place on the delegate slate is Whittier who lives in Everett. Nelson resides just outside Worcester, and according to our rough computation he lives at least 30 miles further west than does Whittier.

Whittier from all the indications has a real chance to become governor. He should be able to win the nomination without a damaging struggle. His big fight will come next November, when he matches his strength with the Republican nominee.

The lieutenant-governor's editorial sponsors may be doing him a great disservice in trying to make Nelson walk the plank. Nelson might be a very valuable aide in the campaign next autumn. It's just possible that Whittier and the Republican party may need his experience, his steady hand and his organizational talents, when the going gets rough.

Cronin Faces Real Opponent in Furbush

Back in 1948, a chunky young man commanded the attention of several thousand persons by leaping to the front of a platform and leading three cheers for former President Harry S. Truman during a big rally in Boston.

He was still cheering when everybody else ran out of breath. Newspaper reporters, seeking a touch of color for their stories, sought him out to get his name. They were surprised to learn that he was a member of the Democratic State ticket, a candidate for Secretary of State and that he was Edward J. Cronin of Chelsea.

Cronin was one of the political products of the Democratic sweep that year. He scored a tremendous upset by defeating the supposedly unbeatable Frederick W. Cook, and he went on to win reelection in 1950, 1952 and 1954.

At the moment Cronin is on an official junket to Trinidad with Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier, but if the news catches up with him concerning the Republican candidate he probably will face in next November's election, he's likely to catch the first boat home.

--- the informed citizen ---

A Weekly Column written and prepared by the Newton League of Women Voters and devoted to the principle that an informed citizen is a good citizen.

What is as indispensable to a government as food is to an individual? Isn't it money? Without a continual flow of this a government would become so weak that it would be ignored both at home and abroad.

Most of the money for government use comes from taxation. This is recognized as an essential function, perhaps the most basic function of government. The U.S. Supreme Court has said, "The power of taxation is the one great power on which the national fabric is based."

Unless a government is to have a split personality which would lead to discontent at home and distrust abroad, it will carry out its functions through means that accord with its principles. The way it uses its Constitutional powers is a test of the genuineness of its principles, a touchstone for its integrity.

One declared purpose of this country which is embedded in the Constitution is "to establish justice." Our statesmen continually approve this purpose, and we reaffirm it each time we pledge allegiance to "one nation—with liberty and justice for all."

The central problem of justice in taxation is how much each person shall pay. While every one in a democracy should be liable for some payment in support of his government, what he should fairly pay has to depend on what he has. Equal payments would be impossible; governments would starve. Equality in taxation means that those in the same financial situation should pay the same amount. Justice demands that each should pay in accordance with his financial ability.

There has been general agreement on this since the people came to have a voice in government. Before that it was the practice to pack the tax load tightly on the backs of the mass of the people, usually by hidden sales taxes. Open ones often caused violent disturbances. Even then people desented unjust impositions, and a sales tax on any article is bound to take a larger proportion of a low income than of a high one.

If taxes are to be levied according to financial ability, the government must know each man's full financial strength. Over the centuries various means of measuring have been used. Once real property was a good measure, but when the immense fortunes, invested in widely varying ways, arose, and large incomes from business and professions became common, income came to be the most inclusive and reliable measure of ability to pay taxes, even though not a perfect one. (A man might have extensive unproductive properties held for pleasure or gain. Often local taxation can reach these.)

Since all taxes are going to be paid from income, unless a capital levy is decreed, the direct approach of taking for the support of the government a percentage of a taxpayer's total income, or net income, is the method through which the result can best be foreseen and weighed, by taxpayers as well as legislators.

There are some who ask how sufficient revenue can be raised by such a method. But after all, since all taxes are going to come out of income, where is the difficulty? All the money is there. There is no "new source" on which to draw, as some have suggested. There are only different means of taking the money out. The essential question for all those concerned about fulfilling the purposes of the Constitution is "Which way leads to greater justice?"

The personal income tax has three advantages which put it in the lead. First, it can take account of the total intake of a taxpayer. No other tax even tries to do this. Next it can vary its rates as income varies. Only an income tax does this, yet this flexibility preserves the fairness of the tax as a man's circumstances vary from year to year. It also adapts the tax to the variety of incomes within a year, for men's ability to pay may vary more than in proportion to their incomes—the cost of a home, beyond the middle incomes seldom keeps step with rising income.

Finally, the income tax permits deductions for special obligations such as the support of dependents, interest on debts, special losses, and family sicknesses. It strips a man to his real tax-paying ability. No other tax does this. A general sales tax, even with food and medicine exempted, instead of giving a deduction for a new baby, presents a tax bill for the crib in which he lies, the blankets to cover him, the bottle from which he may drink, his clothing, and even the pins to hold on his ever-wears.

Massachusetts has a personal income tax. The New England Committee of the National Planning Association has called it "one of the poorest in the country." It advises a broadening of the base, but this cannot be reasonably expected as long as one rate applies to all incomes from the lowest to the highest. And it criticizes the peculiar kind of "progression" used in Massachusetts.

This progression, or graduation, was set in the law in 1918. Its regularity has been distorted by temporary taxes and surtaxes, but the original rates were 1 1/2% on "earned income", 3% on gains from sales of capital assets, and 6% on income in the form of dividends and interest. This is graduation, not because a man who gets more income can afford better food, better clothes, and more taxes, but because his income comes from an apparently out of favor source, such as investment in business—Harold M. Groves, the well-known economist, thinks that if we are to make a distinction, which he disapproves, it would be more logical to put a higher tax on income that comes from merely holding a job than on that which comes from providing jobs.

It is not time that Massachusetts set vigorously to work to improve its personal income tax so that it may better measure each taxpayer's ability to pay, and result in a just distribution of the tax load, which we have been warned is bound to continue to increase. The greater the load, the more important that it be fairly distributed.

Auburndale Club To Present Mystery Play Feb. 17 and 18

The mid-season presentation of the Players Group of The Auburndale Club is the mystery play "Laura," by Vera Caspary and George Sklar, to be given in the Auburndale Auditorium Friday and Saturday nights, February 17 and 18 at 8:30.

Based on the novel by Vera Caspary, "Laura" has been hailed by play-goers for its suspenseful drama and its unusual twist. With its psychological overtones this play offers audiences an evening of intense interest and enjoyment, and gives a talented and experienced cast an excellent showcase.

Appearing in "Laura" will be several veterans of past Auburndale productions whose names and abilities are well known and appreciated, as well as a virtual newcomer or two, experienced elsewhere, who are welcome additions to an enthusiastic dramatic group.

Jeanne Andersen, Rex Parker and Bill Taylor are starred, and ably supported by a cast which includes Jane Sullivan, Fred Weston, Nels Johnson, Gertrude Rogers and Bill Noble.

Charles Ganss, director of the Auburndale plays, is presenting with this play his 63rd amateur production. Long a distinguished director in New England, he is familiar to many a local theater-goer for the excellence of his productions.

Surrounding the on-stage cast are a score or more of Auburndale Club members responsible for the appearance and smooth running of the production. These people eagerly give of their time and energies with each play to insure a perfect performance, and the reputation of Auburndale productions for beautiful sets and stagings are tribute to their efforts.

Chairman of the production staff is Emily Kermath, who is assisted by Sam Cooper as stage manager, Brud Andersen as production manager, Leigh Woodward, scenic design; Malcolm Floyd, scenic painter; Red Rogers, lighting and sound; Bill Medlicott, Charles Butler, George Betten, George Renaccio, Doug McKenzie, scene construction; Peggy Parker, cast manager; Jean Woodward, hand properties; Peggy Bailey, stage furnishings; Lorraine Johnson and Marion Kelley, make-up; and Margaret Kermath and Barbara Floyd, costumes.

Newton Five Bests Waltham; Meet Brookline Tomorrow

A strong defensive ball game, and a red hot Howie Whitmore, helped the Newton basketball team to a 52-51 triumph over Waltham last Friday night.

Playing at the beautiful Brandeis gymnasium for the second time this season, the Tigers duplicated their past winning effort. Whitmore with 18 points was high scorer. Russ Halloran hit for 11, while shifty Leo LeBlanc scored 15 for Waltham.

The team has been rather disappointing this year. One would think with Whitmore, 6-4; Kenney, 6-2; Halloran, 6-1; and Beggs, 6-00, that Newton could handle their own under the boards. The majority of the time they have failed to do so.

Newton is in desperate need of a playmaker. A man who can keep the club hustling, keep control of the ball, and set up those hoops. At times Al Martin has filled the bill, but not consistently enough for a championship club. To be fair, they have played some good basketball, such as their win over Rindge and spirited loss to Brookline, but in general, except for Russ Halloran, the team has been too erratic.

Looking forward, the team has two games this week. The more important is Friday evening versus Brookline. In their last meeting, Brookline upset the Tigers by one point in overtime. With a phenomenal outside shooting percentage, speed, and an all-out hustle, Brookline compensates for their lack of height. Jerry Feld and Mike Ellison were the big guns in their last meeting, and probably will duplicate their past performances against the Garden City boys.

If Newton can show spirit and hustle, which has been missing in many games this year, they could pull it out. From here, there appears to be too many ands, ifs, and buts, so we'll have to pick Brookline.

College Notes

Miss Dolly Nickerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nickerson, 21 Maple park, Newton Centre, has been named to membership in Phi Kappa Chi, women's social club at Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio.

Miss Nickerson, a major in speech and drama, graduated from Newton High School in 1955, where she was a member of National Honor Society, A Cappella choir, and took part in the spring festival.

Sullivan and Lee To Clash Again At W. N. Armory

Badman Buddy Lee of California and Irish Pat Sullivan of Boston, collide in the feature of the Burns-Kerr Legion Post's wrestling card at the West Newton Armory Saturday night.

Sullivan and Lee clashed at the Armory two weeks ago and the match was declared a no-decision contest when Sullivan was injured after being thrown out of the ring by Lee. Sullivan was knocked unconscious in the mishap and was taken to the hospital by Newton police.

As Sully lay on the Armory floor after being tossed from the ring, Lee stomped on him, arousing the wrath of the crowd. Lee has since stated that he's determined to drub Sullivan because he (Lee) considers the irrepressible Boston Celt "cockey."

Promoter Fred Bruno has lined up a strong supporting cast. In the special bout touching off the mat fireworks at 8:30 o'clock, Tarzan BoLo, 255-pounder from French Morocco, will tackle fiery veteran Les Ruffin of Chicago.

A clash between two talented gal grapplers completes the card. In the semi-final event, Slave Girl Moolah, world women's junior heavyweight champion, meets peppery Jean Hogan, the Dallas, Texas, firecracker.

Whiting Chapter

The historic Isaac Royall House of Medford will be the subject of an illustrated talk by Mrs. Ralph Stuart at a meeting of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D.A.R., on Monday-afternoon, February 20 at the Workshop in Newton Highlands. This beautiful old mansion, originally built in 1637 by Governor Winthrop and remodeled almost 100 years later by Col. Isaac Royall, Sr., a wealthy merchant from the West Indies, served as General John Stark's headquarters in the Revolution and was the scene of councils of war in which Washington, and other noted generals participated. It is noted for its antique furnishings and architectural excellence.

Mrs. E. Leslie Colton will also speak on the American Red Cross, of which she is State Chairman for the D.A.R.

Dessert will be served at 1 p.m. by coffee hostesses Mrs. Norman Green, Miss Madeline Foster and Mrs. Charles A. Lytle. The business meeting will open at 1:45.

Stearns PTA

The executive board of the Stearns School P.T.A. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baccari on Wednesday night, February 8. Plans were made for the Whist Party to be held Thursday, March 15, at 8 p.m. Members of the committee in charge of the Whist Party are: Mr. and Mrs. Baccari, Mrs. Notartomaso, Mrs. Patriacca, Mrs. Gigliotti, Mrs. Tramontozzi, Mrs. Mogk, Mrs. Powers, and Miss Yoffa. There will be many prizes and refreshments will be served. This annual affair met with great enthusiasm last year and it is expected that this year will be even better. Tickets are 75 cents and the money will go towards audio-visual materials for the school library.

Track Team Wins Division I Title

A great Newton track team smashed Rindge's streak of 21 straight dual victories to win the Division I title, 43-34, in the feature meet at East Newton Street Armory last Saturday afternoon.

Sophomore sensation, Marty Beckwith, took another first in the high jump. Football was represented quite well in this meet. Halfbacks Nelson and Gilvar won the 600 and 300 respectively. End Jim Yancey placed third in the high jump; tackle Jimmy King took second in the shot put; defensive back Connerney placed third in the 300.

Deciding factor in the meet was the hurdles. John Head raced to a first, and Gardner Rollins made a third. These boys earned Newton six points and the meet. Joe Elder turned in his usual great job for Rindge. He won the 50-yard dash and helped Tech to their win the relay. Coach Duffy of Rindge, pointed out that Tech has to spot their opponents 15 or 16 points in the shot put, high jump, and hurdles because of lack of time to properly develop the boys in these events. Newton definitely won because of better balance and stronger depth.

Duffy, who recently received national recognition in Sport Magazine for his outstanding job at Rindge Technical, called Newton's Coach Boyle one of the very best in the nation. Mr. Duffy could not be more right.

Hard Fighting Tiger Six Upset By Belmont 3 to 2

A hard fighting Tiger sextet was outplayed and upset by a spirited Belmont team, three to two, at Boston Arena last Friday night. The big tiger, fighting for its first championship since 1940, will have to wait at least one more year. Newton opened the hockey season by losing its first two games, both by one goal. Then they seemed to hit their stride, by winning six in a row. A victory over Belmont would have put the Tigers into a title go with Melrose. The Newton loss combined with the Melrose victory, gave Melrose the G.B.I. title.

The score was tied at two goals apiece with a minute and six seconds left to play. John McBride broke through the Newton defense, and flipped a pass to the uncovered Robertson. Robertson dragged Newton goalie Brian Dooley out of position, and slammed home the winning goal. Crowley, Belmont's fine left winger, beat Dooley twice, to keep Belmont in the game. Co-captain Gerry Butterworth and Dave Crosby cut the twine for Newton. Crosby has played good hockey all season, and should be an outstanding star next year.

This club deserves much credit, for at the start of the season they were picked to finish no higher than fourth or fifth. Instead they tied with Stoneham and Belmont, just three points behind Melrose. Outstanding for Newton all year has been the netminding of little Brian Dooley. In nine games, Dooley has allowed only fourteen goals—a stellar performance. Hats off to Coach Hall who has kept this club fighting and spirited throughout the season.

Mothers Stage Successful Bazaar For Boys' Club

Mothers of The Newton Boys' Club held a very successful Bazaar and Games Carnival at the Clubhouse at 98 Dalby Street on Saturday. More than 350 people attended the all-day event. Mrs. Jennie Schipani, Chairman of the Committee, was more than pleased with the cooperation given by the workers as well as the contributors.

A Day Camp sponsored by the Mothers Club is financed through events such as this. A good portion of the budget required by the mothers was realized by this event.

Among the events held on Saturday was a Carnival of games in which the boys and girls participated. Booths erected by the members of the Service Club and the Junior Staff, Ten Club and Sub-Teen Club gave the club gym a real carnival look. Excitement was the keynote among the youngsters. For the adults who attended the mothers supplied a cake sale, novelties sale, clothing sale, embroidered goods and many other articles for the home.

Two large Infant of Prague beautifully robed were presented to the Bazaar by Mrs. Jennie Schipani. The statues were won by Mrs. Diane Fucci of 93 Whitman Street, Malden, Mass., and Peter Gatti of 8 Middle Street, Newton.

The committee is grateful to all who helped to make this event the success that it was. A luncheon prepared by the Mother's Club was given on Friday for the executives of Council of Social Agencies, Mrs. Amedee Fremault was Chairman of the Committee.

Members of the Mothers' Club also chaperoned the two Valentine Dances held last Friday night when the Teen Club and the Sub-Teen Club turned out in large numbers. Decorations were made by members of the Sub-Teen Club. Prizes were awarded to the outstanding Valentines made. First prize was presented to Patsy Patuto, second prize to Roger Covenor, a number of honorable mention prizes were awarded to other boys and girls.

Next Friday night the Teen Club will hold its regular Friday night dance. On Friday, February 24th, the Sub-Teen Club will hold a Leap Year Dance. At this dance the girls will select their dancing partners, while the boys do the waiting.

During the latter part of March the Teen Club will hold a Dinner Dance at the Clubhouse. This affair will be for couples only.

Third Wellesley Concert Series To Be Held February 29

MONIQUE BRUCHOLLERIE

Wednesday, February 29, at the usual hour of 8 p.m., the third concert of the 1955-56 Wellesley Concert Series will be presented at Alumnae Hall, Wellesley College. Having afforded two unique events in Thomas Schermer's Mozart Festival and Gian-Carlo Menotti's Operas, the Series is particularly pleased to present a third exclusive concert for this area: the extraordinarily gifted young pianist, Monique De La Bruchollerie. Nicknamed "Monique De La Musique" by Newsweek, termed

"electrifying" (The Boston Herald), "thrilling" (The Boston Globe), "formidable" (The New York Times), "extraordinary" (The New York Herald Tribune), she has repeated in this country the brilliant successes she has had in Europe, South America, Australia and North Africa. These successes were presaged by her unexampled feat of winning in rapid succession first honors in the competitions of four countries, France, Poland, Belgium and Austria. She made her pianistic debut in Paris under the baton of Munch and was introduced to this country by Ansermet. She has appeared as soloist with the Boston Symphony, the New York Philharmonic, the Chicago Symphony, the Minneapolis Symphony, and many others, and in recitals throughout the United States.

Everywhere, her sound musicianship, brilliant technique and exciting programs have given great pleasure to her audiences. From Wellesley's particular point of view, the fact that she is the wife of a well-known engineer and the mother of two children, thereby combining successfully her careers as musician and as wife and mother, is of especial interest. Her program at Alumnae Hall will be a varied one and will mark the first concert there by a woman solo pianist in many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guests At Newtonville Women's Club

"Music in the Life of Lincoln" will be the title of the program presented by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Bernard at the next meeting of the Newtonville Women's Club, Monday p.m., February 20, in the clubhouse at 61 Washington park.

Mr. Bernard, Professor of History and Curator of the Edward C. Stone and F. Lauriston Bullard Collections of Lincolniana at Boston University, tells the story of the music Lincoln heard, liked and enjoyed as a youth in Indiana, as a country lawyer in Illinois and as President during the Civil War. Mrs. Bernard, well known soprano soloist, sings some of the songs illustrative of each period in Lincoln's life.

Coffee in the Social Hall at 1:30, will precede the business meeting at 2:15, presided over by Mrs. Frank M. Simmons, president. Mrs. Austin Vickers will be hostess for the day, with Mrs. E. Rudolph McKay and Mrs. Charles W. Tenney pouring.

A food sale will also be held at this meeting. At a recent meeting of the club Mrs. Allen R. Barrow, Chairman of the Recreation Department Project of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, arranged an exhibit of work done by both children and adults in the department.

Mrs. Barrow has solicited material such as cotton and woolen material, yarn of all kinds, beads, thread, cigar boxes, tins with cover to paint, felt, leather, scissors, paints and brushes, knitting needles, silk stockings, clean and old, and many other articles to carry on the work in arts and crafts for girls.

Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, Supervisor of the Recreation Department work at City Hall told of the activities during the eight weeks in the summer when more than 1100 girls attend in one week to take part in this program. Mrs. Hovgaard, a very understanding woman, contends that if girls become interested in arts and crafts at an early age, it will carry over into later life.

Mrs. Robert Toher, one of the recreation teachers, was happy to display the attractive articles which had been made by the girls, out of seemingly worthless material. During the winter, classes are also held at five or six Newton schools as extra-curricular activities.

Adults classes are held at the Newton High School in knitting, crocheting, copper work and furniture finishing. There is a small fee for these classes and information regarding them may be obtained at the High School — Mrs. Barrow pointed out that these classes are held in the evening.

Anyone with material or articles to donate to this project may leave them at Mrs. Barrow's home, 630 Walnut street, or call DE 2-0559; she will gladly pick them up.

Eddy House Dedication Recalls Mother-Love of Young Widow

The story of how mother love in the heart of a young New England widow, who ninety years ago left her husband buried on the banks of the Tigris River in Turkey, lies back of the dedication held last Friday afternoon in Auburndale, of a home for Mrs. Beryl Bowden Masters, another young widow, and victim of polio, whose doctor husband and small daughter lie buried in the soil of Africa.

THE NEW HOUSE, which is part of the Walker Missionary Homes, a unique project of the Congregational Christian Churches, is called the Eddy House in recognition of Mrs. Josephine Russell Eddy of Newtonville, and her late husband, Dr. D. Brewer Eddy, widely known Congregational leader. Mrs. Eddy has been on the Board of Managers of the Walker Missionary Homes since 1910 and an ardent worker for the Homes throughout the years.

The new Eddy House, which is at 169 Grove street, Auburndale, has been built with the special needs of Mrs. Masters in mind and she will live there with her three sons, Christopher, 13; Robin, 10; and Michael, 6. Michael, a polio victim like Mrs. Masters, is paralyzed from the waist down. It was especially designed by architect Albert M. Kreider of West Newton and built by J. Derenzo of Needham. It has ramps and stove, sink, refrigerator, cupboards and other facilities so located as to be accessible to Mrs. Masters from her wheel chair.

THE DEDICATION of the Eddy House recalls the tragic story of Mrs. Masters, whose life was shaken to its foundations in the brief space of twenty-two days in 1951. While serving with her doctor husband in Mt. Silinda, Southern Rhodesia, Africa, polio struck killing Carolyn Masters, 4, permanently crippling Mrs. Masters and Michael and taking the life of Dr. Masters. Mrs. Masters and children were flown to America by the American Board in 1952. Although English by birth Mrs. Masters is now a permanent resident alien and will become an American citizen as soon as the necessary time elapses.

The dedication service was led by Dr. Randolph Seaman Merrill, minister of the Central Congregational Church of Newton, Newtonville. An introductory statement was made by Harold B. Belcher of Melrose, Treasurer of the Walker Homes. Franklin G. Field, well known in Boston musical circles, sang "Bless This House."

The Walker Missionary Homes are a successful experiment in Christian community living and the New Eddy House is the latest link in the chain of Christian concern which was started in 1868 by Mrs. Eliza Harding Walker whose name they bear. Born in Waltham, and educated at Mt. Holyoke College, Mrs. Walker sailed for Turkey under the American Board in 1852. Thirteen years later her husband died of cholera and she with her four children, the youngest only six weeks old, made a 500 mile trek on mule back to a port on the Black Sea.

IN AMERICA Mrs. Walker and the American Board discussed the hardships of missionary families who had to leave young children in this country for education. Mrs. Walker first took into her home two such children of South Sea Island missionaries, then others, and others, until the first Walker Missionary Home was founded in 1868 under the Board. In 1929 the Homes were incorporated and now have their own Trustees and Board of Managers.

From a home for children the Homes expanded to take in missionaries on furlough, nationals visiting the USA, and retired missionaries. From one house they grew to seven, located on 3½ acres of land in the heart of Auburndale, Mass. Workers and nationals from 14 countries have lived there.

The present Superintendents of Walker Missionary Homes are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Olds, 144 Hancock street, Auburndale.

William G. Schofield of Newton, author of a new biography of John Boyle O'Reilly, "Seek for a Hero," was one of the speakers at the Boston Catholic Book Week Forum and Fair held at New England Mutual Hall last Saturday. This Fair was sponsored by the New England Unit of the Catholic Library Association in conjunction with the League of Catholic Women.

Joseph Ryan of Newton Centre Named Area Head of Seal Drive

JOSEPH RYAN

Joseph Ryan of Newton Centre, vice-president and sales manager of O'Brien Distributing Company, Charlestown, has been named Greater Boston area chairman of the 1956 Easter Seal campaign to help crippled children and adults in Massachusetts.

The announcement was made by Don DiMaggio, president of American Latex Fibre Corp., in Lawrence, and former Red Sox player, who is state chairman of the $280,000 appeal of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped. The campaign will be held from March 1 to Easter Sunday, April 1.

Easter Seal services in the Greater Boston area include the Bay State Medical Rehabilitation Clinic, 255 Charles street, Boston, and a J.O.B. (Just One Break) Program, which provides jobs for crippled adults in competitive employment.

Other Easter services throughout the state are rehabilitation centers in Springfield and Worcester, physical, occupational, and speech therapy, rehabilitation and architectural counseling and community planning for the handicapped, and student training.

In accepting the area chairmanship, Ryan called attention to the crippled children whom Easter Seals are helping get from a wheelchair onto their own feet and back to school and the crippled adults to whom Easter Seals mean a job instead of a hospital bed.

"It is not just a philanthropic act to help the physically handicapped be independent. It is good business," Ryan said. "By generously supporting the Easter Seal appeal, we can provide vitally needed rehabilitation services so that more crippled children and adults may have happy independent lives."

Dr. Leo Barry to Address Chicago Meeting Shortly

During the third week in February Dr. Leo Barry will address a meeting of the National Association of Secondary Schools in Chicago, Ill. His topic is to be "What Program of Studies is needed in 13th and 14th Grades." Dr. Barry plans to present a proposal recommending the establishment of a joint committee, consisting of representatives of liberal arts colleges, secondary schools, and military organizations, with a view to having a liberal arts supplement to the junior college movement in this country. It would be hoped that such a committee might produce a plan which would lighten the "anticipated load" on the colleges and the secondary schools in their liberal arts training.

College Notes

Rawson Files Two Bills For Purpose of Better Firearms Law

As a second avenue of attack on the problem of dealing with the antiquated and confused firearms laws of the Commonwealth, Representative George E. Rawson of Newton has filed two bills for Public Safety Commissioner Otis M. Whitney.

House 1865, entitled "An Act Relative to Crimes Involving Firearms" plugs many loopholes in the present law and inserts definite, and in some instances increased, penalties for violations of the firearms laws.

House 2294, entitled "An Act Relative to Sale, Possession and Licensing of Firearms," furnishes a more exact definition of firearms and provides improved conditions requisite to the sale, possession and licensing of firearms.

THESE BILLS were carefully worked out by the Department of Public Safety in consultation with its own ballistic expert, Sgt. Collins, and the ballistics expert of the Boston police. The sponsors believe that passage of these bills will go far to clean up the present difficulties which lie in the way of preventing some of the unfortunate incidents which occur too frequently in this state.

The bill previously filed by Rep. Rawson and Commissioner Whitney for a commission to study all the aspects of the firearms problems will also be pressed for passage, as there is still much to be done. The safety of the public is the only motive of the sponsors.

Write Article For College Bd. Rev. On Kenyon Plan

Dr. Harold B. Gores and Dr. Leo Barry have written an article, at the suggestion of the C.E.B., for the College Board Review entitled "After Three Years."

The article features a high school's look at the Advanced Standing Program and presents a review of the effectiveness of the original "Kenyon Plan" in our schools. It also hopes to encourage other schools to adopt advanced courses to their programs.

Newton is one of the few schools having as many as 19 Kenyon classes arranged on the basis of independent sections, with pre-Kenyon classes in the sophomore and junior year, and it is hoped that other schools will follow suit.

The Lasell Reporter

The College was host recently to a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Association of Deans of Women, held in the Wass Science Building. Miss Ruth H. Rothenberger, Lasell's Dean of Women and president of the Massachusetts Association, occupied the chair.

Purpose of the session was to lay plans for the statewide deans meeting to be held on April 16 and 17 at Framingham State Teachers College. Deans of Women from Northeastern, Brandeis, Cambridge Latin and other institutions were present.

Dean Rothenberger will leave for Cincinnati on March 21 to attend the National Convention of this Association, where she will serve in a dual capacity as president of the Massachusetts group and as delegate from Lasell.

The presidents of five New England institutions of higher learning were also guests of Lasell last week on the occasion of a meeting of the Executive Board of the New England Junior College Council, which met here at the invitation of President Raymond C. Wass, who is also president of the Council. Distinguished visitors included the presidents of Worcester and New Haven Junior Colleges, the presidents of the University of Bridgeport and of the Garland School, and the Dean of Westbrook Junior College.

Plans for the second annual Father-Daughter weekend, scheduled for March 9 to 11, are rapidly nearing completion, according to an announcement by Sally Herman of Stamford, Conn., general chairman of the affair.

Introduced last year on an experimental basis at the request of a number of Lasell's out-of-town students who thought it might be nice to honor the men who make it possible for them to be here, the weekend turned out to be one of the most spectacularly successful social events of the season. Climax of the two-day festival was a dance, with music and costumes reminiscent of the early Twenties, at which the fathers, according to some observers, showed at least five times the energy and enthusiasm of their daughters' regular dates.

Mrs. Emily P. Flint of the Atlantic Monthly Press will be key-note speaker at the annual Book Fair to be held this year on March 20-21. Organized around the theme of "The Miracle of Books," the Fair is under the direction of the energetic head librarian of the Lasell Library, Miss Frances Atwood.

Included will be an elaborate exhibit of current and standard authors set up by the combined Library staff and the Art Department, as well as an informal tea for students, faculty, and guests, with Mrs. Raymond C. Wass acting as hostess for the occasion.

Also on the theme of the Book Fair, although preceding it by five days, will be a lecture to the freshmen Orientation Class by Dr. Donald J. Winslow, chairman of the English Department of Boston University's College of Liberal Arts, on "Building a Personal Library."

Dr. Winslow's cordial cooperation is based on a friendship with the College which goes back many years. Not only is the Winslow home at 136 Woodland road almost completely surrounded by the Lasell campus, but Dr. Winslow is himself the son of Lasell's president emeritus, Dr. Guy M. Winslow, now of Medford. Further, he is married to the former Lois Nelson, who was for six years an instructor of English on the Lasell faculty.

The Workshop Players, College dramatics club, presented a one-act play before the members of the Tuesday Evening Club at the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale recently. The play, "The Morris' 'White Queen, Red Queen'" was directed by the group's advisor, Miss Margaret Wetherill, and will be repeated here on the campus later in the year as a part of Lasell's Stockingfoot Theatre, informal arena performances that have proved very popular among the students in past years.

JESUS MARIA SANROMA

Sanroma to Present Concert At Our Lady's February 22

Our Lady's Parish, Newton, Rt. Rev. Walter J. Furlong, P.A., pastor, will present one of the greatest musical treats of the season on Wednesday evening, February 22, at Our Lady's High School Auditorium. It will be a night when brilliant and satisfying American music will be given by Jesus Maria Sanroma. Mr. Sanroma is one of the greatest pianists in America and is also a former member of Our Lady's Parish.

Famous throughout the Americas, Sanroma has been functioning for years as an effective musical one-man good will delegation. Pan-American understanding owes much to his persuasive pianistic ability and personality. Of Catalan background, Puerto Rican birth, and New England upbringing, Sanroma is truly an "American."

Sanroma was born in Fajardo in 1903. His name is a common one in Latin countries where the first-born is often called "Jesus." In ordinary conversation, Sanroma answers to the nickname "Chu-Chu." As a child Sanroma's gifts were so outstanding that the government of Puerto Rico sent him, at thirteen, to the New England Conservatory in Boston. At sixteen he was graduated with honors, winning the Mason and Hamlin prize of a grand piano. Later he studied with Antoinette Szumawaska, one of Paderewski's few pupils, in Boston, and with Arthur Schnabel in Berlin.

Sanroma has been awarded three honorary degrees: Doctorate of Music from Boston College and the University of Miami and a Doctor of Fine Arts from the University of Puerto Rico.

The concert is being sponsored by Our Lady's Holy Name Society. John L. Martin, Jr., President, heads a ticket committee of 125 men. There are no reservations.

High School Activities

SCHOOL RECORD

Captain Russ Halloran of the Tigers poured in 41 points against the undefeated Brockton quintet, which, although in a losing cause, set a new record for points scored in one game. On the greatest athletes ever to attend Newton High, Russ also holds the season's record for scoring with 308 points in his junior year.

Russ says very modestly of his feat against Brockton, "If you shoot enough, the law of averages is bound to be in your favor." This may be true, but the law of averages doesn't account for a 70% shooting average. Les York, backcourt man, said "Russ couldn't be stopped against Brockton. He just faked every one of them out of their gym shoes." Center Howie Whitmore added, "41 points seem unbelievable against Brockton, but Russ really had it."

SOCIAL AFFAIRS BOARD

Maintaining the Social Room, 324, is one of the functions of the Social Affairs Board, which is chaired by Bill Walker. The other student members are Susan Breitzke, Elaine Solomon, Evan Jones, and Judy Michaelson. The faculty advisor is Mrs. Allen. The Board appoints host and hostesses for the Social Room, which contains subscriptions to Seventeen, Life, Reader's Digest, and a sports magazine, cards, records, and plenty of space to just sit and chat with friends.

A second important duty of the Social Affairs Board is to approve all school dances — the band, price of tickets, etc. Also, the board plans and runs a party at the opening of each school year for all high school students new to Newton. Here these students get a chance to become acquainted with other new pupils and can find out more about Newton High.

Did you know that Robert Morse, a graduate of Newton High, is now on Broadway in the "Matchmaker?"

Whether or not to take the college aptitudes and achievement tests this year is a question many juniors are thinking about at this time. Every year a new group of students faces this problem.

Taking college board tests may be disadvantageous. The pupil must take the tests again in his senior year. When the college compares the results of the two tests, it would like to see considerable improvement. Otherwise, it might feel that the pupil's knowledge has not increased as it should after the year.

On the other hand, a pupil may feel that if he takes these tests in his junior year, he will be better prepared for them the next year. He will learn what to expect and will perhaps not be as nervous the second time. The experience will be a great help to him in reviewing the following year.

RED CROSS CHOR. On Wednesday, February 8, the first meeting of the newly formed Red Cross Choir took place. Programs for future shows were discussed, such as the one in April when the Choir

Warren Junior H. S. Notes

The Levi F. Warren Junior High School may not have an Olympic star in its midst, but the school community is very proud this week to extend congratulations to many pupils who are already "stars" in various fields. And so, to the following we say, "Congratulations, and best wishes for many more such performances in the future."

SKATING STAR

Do we have a future Olympic skating star in our midst? Susan Blodgett, of the eighth grade, last year won the Juvenile Championship, Eastern Division of the United States, in Ladies' Figure Skating, at Paterson, New Jersey. We have just learned that on January 21 of this year, Susan competed and won the Novice Ladies Division New England Figure Skating Championship. She will now go on to compete on February 24 at Rochester, New York, for the championship of the Eastern, Novice title.

A MATH. STAR

In the Literary Cavalcade, a publication of Scholastic Magazines used in Jr. III English classes at Warren, a monthly feature is a series called "Get Ready for the Big Test," whose purpose is to "nip 'exam jitters' in the bud." Katherine Ryan of Jr. III detected an error in a quiz called "Pattern Analysis," an error she noticed because of her training in Mathematics involving building of geometric figures. At the suggestion of her English teacher, Miss Esther Pepin, Kathy wrote to the magazine and received a reply containing this statement: "Kathy, we've come to the conclusion that you are a better three dimensional thinker than the artists who drew this example."

SPELLING STARS

On January 24 a school-wide written spelling bee was held to select the champion spellers from each grade to compete in an oral spelling bee in February. By way of the broadcast system, Miss Avis Walsh and Mr. Francis Tower dictated words to the entire student body. Following correction of the spelling papers by homeroom teachers, the Spelling Committee, with Miss Esther Pepin, Chairman, assisted by Mr. Paul Roberts and Miss Geraldine Seaver, selected the top ten from each grade level. These thirty pupils will compete in an oral spelling bee during an assembly on February 28 to determine the winner, or Warren Junior High School Champion Speller.

The following were selected to represent their grade: Junior I: Barbara Crowe, Patricia Deats, Helen Greenberg, Leslie Hart, Joan Hoops, Debby Isaacs, Margery Loewenberg, Peter Maher, Joan Ring, Edith Sherman.

Junior II: Leonard Berman, Margie Casselman, David Gascon, Judy La Rue, Linda Laurie, Norman Saunders, Elizabeth Seidenberg, Carol Sudhalter, Margherite Williams, Dick Schulman.

Junior III: Julie Bergmark, Genya Currens, Steve Glunts, Stephanie Grant, Sylvia Keiler, Robert Kelly, Hellmut Seidenberg, Ellen Thurber, Frances White, Jeannie Winer.

The following three "runners-up" in each grade will be called upon to stand by and serve as alternates should there be absences from the above list on February 28:

Junior I: Sue Draisin, Mark Peters, Peter Sahlin.

Junior II: Nancy Freedman, Judy Rower, Edward Twigg.

Junior III: John Kelley, Martha Meaney, Phyllis Yoken.

SINGING STARS Miss Geraldine Seaver, teacher of vocal music, announces the selection of the following pupils from Jr. II and III to constitute the Warren Junior High School Choir.

BOB HYNES, newest member to Corcoran Motor Sales Company of Wellesley, was recently discharged from the U.S.A.F., where he was career guidance specialist. He is a native of Newton Highlands where his family has lived on Faxon road since 1941. Bob and his wife live in Newtonville.

Fine Jail Term In Tax Evasion

Judge Francis J. W. Ford of Federal Court imposed sentence of a year in jail and a $3000 fine on Philip Levine of 421 Waverly avenue, Newton for income tax evasion.

In imposing sentence, Judge Ford criticized the defendant for insisting on a trial by jury when "you had no defense whatsoever" instead of pleading guilty to the charges.

a mixed glee club. From Jr. II come Flora Butterfield, Margery Casselman, Janice Cowley, Barbara Petery, Patricia Weden, Margherite Williams, Robert Clinton, Hartley Kelley, John McCarthy, Gwynn Nicholson, Joseph O'Donnell, Joel Reinhold, Edward Twigg, Peter Waine. Those from Jr. III are Carol Bean, Jan Lee Clement, Katherine Dynes, Robin Marsh, Margaret Rapp, Dorothy Reed, Mimi Shaw, Connie Worthen, James Burdick, Paul Daly, John Derr, Roy Fairweather, Edward Moody, Stephen Richmond, Hubert Silver, Tom Terrio.

LUCKY DANCERS

Several pupils won honors at the Junior I Leap Year Dance on February 3 in the school auditorium, sponsored by the P.T.A. In three spot dances, the couple nearest a magic spot when the dance stopped were awarded prizes. Ann Lyons and her partner, Peter Sahlin, won the first one, Ann receiving a lovely nylon handkerchief and Peter a joke book. The same prizes were awarded to Brenda Watson and Charles Charest and to Ingrid Nickelsen and Robert Dangel, winners of two other spot dances.

Chosen through the drawing of numbers were Elka Jung as Queen of the Dance and Joseph Leary as King of the Dance. Both received a box of chocolates and later led the Grand March.

Junior Weekend Festivities Held At Sacred Heart College

"As You Like It" was the theme of the Class of 1957's Junior Weekend at Newton College. The Weekend Committee, headed by Nancy Kottenstette of Grouse Pointe, Michigan, chairman of the Sacred Heart last Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Kenilworth, Illinois, gave Shakespearean titles to the various weekend activities, and carried out the Shakespearean theme in every detail, even to the dance invitations which were parchment scrolls written in Elizabethan Script and tied with black and red ribbons.

Friday night, the weekend opened with "The Tempest," a jazz concert at the Mansion Inn, where Harry Rodgers played for the Newton students and their dates.

The Formal Capulet Masked Ball held Saturday night, was preceded by a dinner at Stuart House at Newton College. The Dining Room was done in Elizabethan decor with red and black decorations, the family colors of the Capulets.

From the College campus, the students and their escorts went to the Dorothy Quincy Suite of the John Hancock Building, where Sammy Eisen's music entertained them until twelve o'clock.

Sunday, Holy Mass was followed by Brunch at Stuart House. "All's Well That Ends Well" on Sunday evening when the girls said their goodbyes and closed the weekend of festivities.

Among those serving on the Junior Weekend Committee were Michael McGarty of Boston, Diane Russell of Pleasant Ridge, Michigan, Josephine Medart of St. Louis, Mo., Ann O'Neill of Wellesley, and Margaret McMurrer of Auburndale.

Church Bells In City to Announce World Day of Prayer Tomorrow

The World Day of Prayer tomorrow (Friday) has been proclaimed by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and will be observed in Newton by the 1:30 afternoon service to be held in the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, and by the ringing of church bells throughout the city. Conducted under the auspices of the Newton Council of Church Women, the service this year will have as its speaker Mr. Ndabaningi Sithole, an educator from Africa who is at present studying at Andover-Newton Theological Seminary. Others participating in the service will be Mrs. Hugh L. Robinson, president of the Council; Mrs.

James H. Burns, vice-president; and the Rev. Randolph S. Merrill, pastor of the hostess church.

DURING the same 24-hour period of the first Friday in Lent, the identical service in 60 different languages will be held in 134 countries around the world and in over 20,000 communities in the United States. The meetings will be under trees, in cathedrals, in thatched-roofed huts, and in simple churches. The women who will attend will be dressed in grass skirts, in blue Chinese trousers, in warm fur hoods, and in silks and satins. Some will pray who cannot read; some will pray who are not fed; some will pray shivering in rags; some will pray from velvet-cushioned pews; but all will pray to one God who "speaks and summons the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting." (Ps. 50:1)

The offering received at the service will be allocated through the Divisions of Foreign and Home Missions of the National Council of Churches, to interdenominational work in the following areas: American Indians, low-income farming communities, agricultural migrants, education for Christian leadership in India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, and French Cameroun, Christian literature, foreign students in the United States, and the International Missionary Council.

A HIGHLIGHT of the service in Newton will be the chorus composed of representatives of the 23 member churches of the Newton Council of Church Women. ## Lasell Day Camp Plans Cancelled

The Lasell Day Camp, an eight-weeks summer program of planned recreation for the children of Auburndale and vicinity originally scheduled for July and August, has had to be cancelled because of unforeseen difficulties, according to a statement released today by the Administration of Lasell Junior College.

As originally announced in this newspaper on January 26, the Camp, a non-profit public service, was to have been under the direction of Warren L. Huston, assistant supervisor of Physical Education, Health and Safety in the Newton Public Schools, and former director of a similar program at the Fessenden School.

The Lasell Administration regrets the necessity of disappointing the many local parents who had already expressed interest in the idea and hopes that it may be possible to initiate the program at some future date.

Members of the cast, under the direction of Mr. Arthur Claridge, are Roderick Hagenbuckle, West Newton; Freeman Hill, Boston; Stuart Tenney, Washington, D. C.; Malcolm Starr, Providence; Paul Petter, South Kent, Conn.; and Ronald Reisinger, St. Louis, Mo.

This Will Cost You from $7 to $9

IT CAN HAPPEN TO ANYONE, as Boston police step up their intown parking drive. You park where the signs say "no parking any time". You think you'll get away with it. When you come back... your car is gone! A tow-truck has dragged it away.

There's only one thing to do... pay up... because the police don't take excuses. Parking in any for-bidden or restricted downtown area these days can put your car on the tow-truck's hook. By the time you get it back, you're out $7 to $9... plus time lost... plus wear and tear on your car.

The smart way is to ride MTA intown. You'll miss all the jammed-up traffic... avoid high, intown parking fees... and save a lot of wear on your nerves.

For travel about your home district, the MTA's 15¢ local fare is the cheapest transportation you can buy. Try it for shopping or other trips. You'll save money on rides in your home district.

The Shields of the Earth

By GEORGE LAWRENCE PARKER
Centuries ago the Old Hebrew Psalmist cried out, "The shields of the earth belong unto the Lord." His appeal to the High Heavens for a shield and a protector is multiplied today a thousand-fold. All over the world nations, towns, and individuals are trying "to run to cover," trying to find a protected spot, or a protective weapon, or a safety-valve philosophy or a fool-proof form of political government that will assure them of security enough to live by.

The root cause of our multiple anxiety is not exactly fear and certainly it is not mere cowardice. Man was never more courageous than he is today. The main cause of our anxiety is nearer the surface than we think. It lies in the plain scientific fact that we have tied ourselves up into one single bundle of humanity and no nation, no individual can escape the dangers and inconveniences of our crowded situation. The telephone, the cable, the radio, the aeroplane, the bombers and the ships of the sea make us one single community.

Civilization and history call upon us to turn, all at once, in the bed we have built for ourselves or else all of us will be spilled out together. Science used to talk about the survival of the fittest; today our ordinary talk speaks about the survival of humanity as a whole. We have made all sorts of shields for ourselves, ranging from radar to the atom bomb and the underground shelter, from U-boats in the ocean to planes in the air that travel a thousand miles in an hour. But most of our shields have reversed their meaning and have become our enemies and destroyers.

Evidently, the shields of the earth are in very bad condition. They don't seem to belong to anybody. It is high time, therefore, that we look for our shield elsewhere. My conviction is that we shall find it exactly where the old Psalmist found it, "the shields of the earth belong unto the Lord."

We can be sure at once that this is not a mere traditional or superficial religious statement. Instead of that it is so scientifically correct and true that it discovers the shield in the household closet of man's own nature. Man carries the shield around with him all the time but does not seem to know that fact. Looking for protection to high theories and to artificial laws, thinking that they will uncover our shield, is like a man who at midnight, without a light, looks into a dark closet for a black cat that is not there.

The real shields of the earth belong to our moral constitution; to our citadels of decency; to our high towers of cooperation, of kindness, understanding and love; to our sense of relationship with each other; to our recognition that we are all helpless creatures until we arrive at brotherhood among all mankind.

These are the shields of the earth and there are no other shields. They belong unto the Lord. The making of them is a slow process: so slow that the Lord Himself has called upon us to assist Him in creating them.

Newtonians

An excursion into New England of the early 1800's was a delightful experience for Mr. and Mrs. Stephen L. Eakman, 22 Perkins street, West Newton, who were guests January 20-22 at one of the famous Yankee Winter Weekends sponsored by Old Sturbridge Village and the Public House, Sturbridge.

Time unraveled into the romantic past when the Eakmans and their fellow weekenders turned their backs on the Twentieth Century to participate in a program of activities which included hearty meals with such Yankee standbys as syllabub, hot mulled cider, wild game dinners. Lobster, chowder, Indian pudding, and even pie for breakfast.

The Eakmans had an opportunity to ride in sleighs and visit the early New England houses and shops where craftsmen carry on the old-time crafts of spinning, weaving, candle-making, pottery, woodturning, blacksmithing, and pewter-pouring.

The visit to Old Sturbridge Village ended on Saturday night with an old fashioned square dance in the Great Room of the Village Tavern.

THE BOYS CLUB

Have you as Garden City residents looked at your back rows recently. We visited the Boys Club on Dalby street last night and were struck forcibly by (1) how happily occupied the group was (2) what an extraordinary relationship exists between the boys and the director, Gus Moscaro (3) what an abysmal lack of facilities we as taxpayers have provided for this key area! Gus is truly a dedicated man with the ever present goal of enriching the lives of his boys with wholesome experiences they most surely would lack otherwise. He operates with the barest minimum of funds, space and equipment. Can we not help, give these boys a good gym, an addition to the building for a real tool shop and perhaps at the same time a room that is adequate in which to dance, lounge or watch TV? On this list would also be an office space holding more than just two chairs with some feeling of privacy when needed. All this would take not very much in dollars from this privileged community of ours which prides itself in developing leaders and discouraging juvenile delinquents. Our budget allows us to have the best in schools, parks and gardens; surely we can want no less for this area of vital need in Nonantum.

We as citizens of Newton can do something if we will. Pay the club a visit and see how far a modest contribution would go. Any ideas for improvements welcome. Philanthropists—please note!

BANDITS AND TAXES

The FBI reports that the cost of tracking down the Brink's bandits will cost the taxpayers throughout the nation, over $1,218,211 over a period of six years, excluding, of course, any interest on this amount in six years if on deposit at 3%. You figure it out.

Once more the over-burdened taxpayers have to pay up and try to keep smiling. If any of the robbers have any assets, the FBI and our Federal Courts should confiscate every asset and turn same over to the FBI for credit to the taxpayers' account.

It will be interesting to know what our Legislators will bring forth out of the proposed sales tax in Mass. Many states which now have sales taxes have no income taxes. A moderate sales tax applicable to all is the best remedy for relief to taxpayers to be used primarily for our educational program with its costs zooming every year.

It is time for our legislators to straighten their visors and look ahead to halt the yearly upward surge of taxes. A reasonable and equitable sales tax if given a trial for two years should convince all as to whether or not it is a practical solution.

What would happen if all taxpayers went on strike?

Now is the year, 1956, for the passage of legislation for an equitable sales tax on a trial basis for two years, having the law enacted to read as such, subject to repeal by the voters if found unsatisfactory.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, 391 Walnut Street, Newtonville. Sunday morning service 10:45, Sunday school at the same hour. Wednesday evening testimony meeting at 8:00. How greater intelligence and wisdom can be gained through scientific understanding of God, divine Mind, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" will include the following selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (128:4-11): "The term Science, properly understood, refers only to the laws of God and to His government of the universe, inclusive of man. From this it follows that business men and cultured scholars have found that Christian Science enhances their endurance and mental powers, enlarges their perception of character, gives them acuteness and comprehensiveness and an ability to exceed their ordinary capacity." Also emphasizing the divine source of wisdom is the Gold Text from the King James Version of the Bible (Proverbs 2:6): "The Lord giveth wisdom; out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding."

Your Income Taxes

This is the second in a series of eight articles on Federal and State Income Taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Where can I get the answer to a question on Federal taxes?

If you have an unusual tax problem, you should go to the local office of the Director of Internal Revenue or to a competent tax man.

Is the pension I receive from my former employer considered taxable income?

Your pension is considered taxable income unless you contributed a certain amount to the pension plan through payroll withholdings. An illustration will help to clarify the latter situation:

Assume that a man retired on January 1, 1955, at age 65. During his period of employment he contributed a total of $9000 toward a pension plan. The $9000 represents his investment in the pension plan.

Assume further that the individual received $150 a month during 1955 from his pension. Of the $1500 received in 1955, he will have to report $1200. The remainder, $300, is considered a return of his investment. The taxpayer will continue to report the $1200 each year for the remainder of his life.

The $600 exclusion is determined in the following way: Divide the investment in the contract ($9000) by the annual payments ($1800) multiplied by the number of years a person of the taxpayer's age is expected to live (this number can be obtained from actuarial tables available either from insurance firms or the Director of Internal Revenue). In the case of the taxpayer in this example the multiple is 15, so the $9000 investment is divided by $1800 times 15, or $27,000. The resulting fraction is one-third, which is the proportion of the annual payments of $1800 which is considered a return of investment and not subject to tax. Thus, subtracting one-third, or $600, the taxpayer would report $1200 of his pension income for the year as taxable.

I retired on January 1, 1955, and I am receiving a pension of $100 a month. During my period of employment I paid $3200 into the pension fund. This was in addition to the amount contributed by the employer. How should I report this income in my 1955 tax return?

You will not have to report your pension until you have received $3200. Thereafter, the entire amount received each year will be considered taxable income. Your pension is covered by a special rule which applies when both employer and employee contribute to the cost of the annuity and the annuity payments during the first three years will equal or exceed the employee's contribution.

Are contest awards and prizes considered taxable income?

Generally speaking, yes. The payment received is usually deemed to be consideration for services rendered by the contestant to the company making the award. In some instances, however, the amount received may be considered a gift rather than income for services rendered. A gift is not taxable income.

I am employed at a salary of $120 a week. I was absent from work because of sickness for three weeks. During this period my employer paid me my regular salary. How should I report this on my 1955 Federal return?

If your employer has a wage continuation plan and you were injured or hospitalized for at least one day during your absence, you may deduct $300 as "Sick Pay" on page 1 of the Federal return. If you were not injured or hospitalized, your deduction will be $200. The $100 deduction for the first seven calendar days is not allowed unless an employee is hospitalized for at least one day during his absence or is injured.

Newtonite Of The Week

LEWIS PAUL SIMONS

This week the Graphic is proud to salute Mrs. Harry R. Hofford of 24 Omar terrace, Newtonville.

Nancy Hofford is a charming young woman with a good solid organizational head on her shoulders. Presently she is plying her talents to the Women's Auxiliary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, of which she is president. The Jaycettes, as the Auxiliary is known, is two years old. Mrs. Hofford was the organization's original president, and her reelection is a tribute to her effectiveness. Wives of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce members make up the body of the Jaycettes.

The 15 Jaycettes organized themselves for two purposes: (1) to be social aids to their husbands' group, and (2) to carry on self-sponsored civic projects.

Mrs. Hofford is responsible for planning the activities of the Jaycettes. To this end she has done a magnificent job, as evidenced by the following programs.

At Thanksgiving the Jaycettes send a basket of food, which feeds a family of 6 for 2 days, to a needy home. This gift is given through the Newton

MRS. HAROLD R. HOFFORD

Welfare Board so as not to embarrass anyone.

Each Christmas the girls give a party for 25 children from the Rebecca Pomroy Home in Newton Corner.

In 1955 quite a bit of time was spent knitting afghans for the Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

During last summer's flood the Jaycettes gathered clothing and baby food which was distributed through the Salvation Army to the flood victims.

This year the girls have been spending much of their time at the Children's Unit of the Metropolitan State Hospital for the mentally ill. They visit the children regularly, giving them companionship and the feeling that somebody is interested in them. They also prepare materials which are used in the physical therapy treatments for the children.

Mrs. Hofford told me about an incident which demonstrates the high mindedness of the Jaycettes. The girls had decided to visit the Newton Nursing Home, but realizing that the benefit of these visits would be diminished if it were known that they came as a project, they did not let it be known who they were.

The Jaycettes meet once a month. After their business is conducted a speaker is presented to the group.

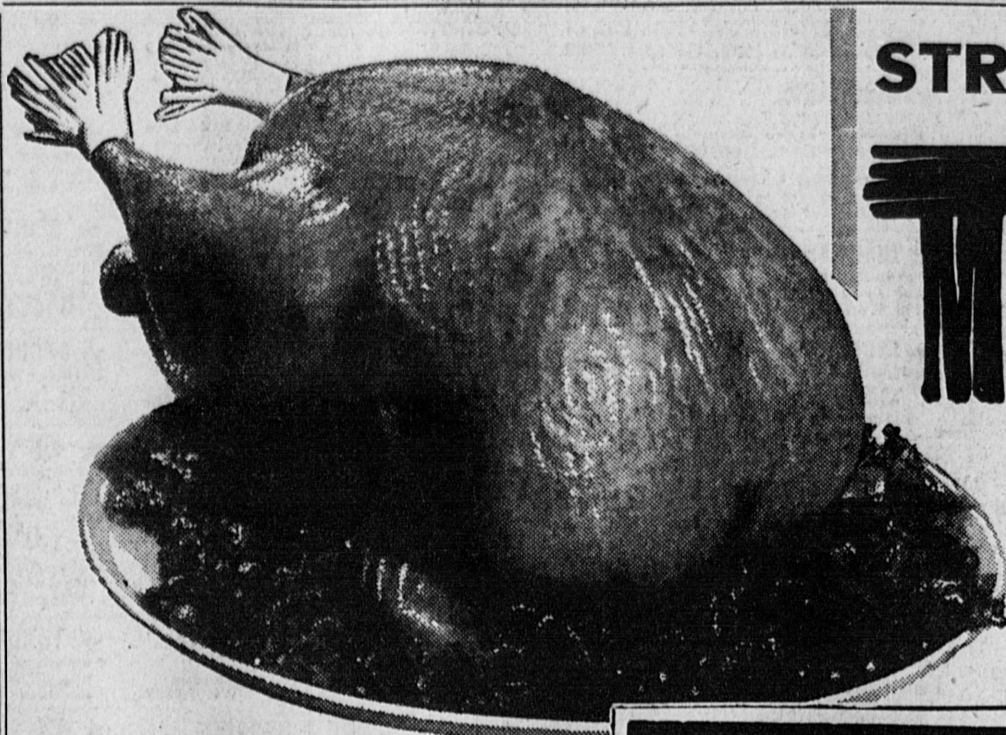

It is certainly laudable to see a young woman (Mrs. Hofford is 27) conduct the affairs of such an active organization. The programs are excellently planned and do much to bring happiness to many people. We wish this young organization success and continued growth. Any woman who becomes associated with the Jaycettes is wisely using her time.

Plans All Set For Event on Sun., Mar. 4

Sunday, March 4, Newton and its citizens will open their hearts and extend a royal welcome home to Tenley Albright, who won the Olympic championship for the women's figure skating crown.

Plans have been completed for the welcome home event and the celebration will far exceed any ever held in this city as the community will pay homage to its world renowned personality.

MISS ALBRIGHT will arrive home from Europe at the Boston Airport in the early hours of March 4 and some several hours later will be accorded a royal welcome by her neighbors in this city.

Plans call for a huge parade consisting of at least ten bands and drill teams, veterans and civic organizations and many other features in order to show Tenley that Newton and its people are proud of her accomplishments at the Olympic games in Italy.

The parade route has been announced and it will form at Washington and Crafts streets, proceed up Washington street to Newtonville square and then proceed along Walnut street to the High School.

HERE CEREMONIES will be held in Dickinson Stadium which is capable of seating several thousand people. Should the weather be inclement, the welcome home ceremonies very likely will be transferred to the high school auditorium.

Mr. Struthers, General Manager of Radio Station WEEI, will be the Newton representative of the National Conference of Christians and Jews for the observance of Brotherhood Week, February 19 to February 25.

This great event gives us all a chance to reaffirm our faith in the fabric of American life and strengthen the threads of many races and creeds woven into it.

Mayor Whitmore stated "the sponsoring of events in recognition of the continued need for greater brotherhood among men has been planned by churches, synagogues, fraternal and community organizations, as well as civic clubs, which, on a year-round basis, endeavor to build that peace and freedom, and strengthen amity among all groups upon

Dr. Kattwinkel Yields Post At N-W Hospital

The Board of Governors and the Executive Committee of the Medical Staff of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital announce, with regret, the retirement of Dr. Egon Kattwinkel as Chief of Medicine, effective March 1. Dr. Allen W. Locke of Wellesley will succeed Dr. Kattwinkel.

Associated with the Newton-Wellesley Hospital since 1931, Dr. Kattwinkel has been Chief of Medicine since 1951. He has served as Chief of Cardiology since 1946, and will continue to do so.

Volunteer Army Stages All-Out Drive for Heart Fund

The greatest volunteer army in the history of the Heart Fund will stage an all-out, doorbell-ringing drive through the entire community Sunday, to raise funds for the most intensive attack ever attempted on heart disease.

Heart Sunday this year will find more than 85,000 Heart Neighbors ringing a minimum of a million doorbells across the Commonwealth to make possible a broadened program of research, education and community services by the Massachusetts Heart Association, and this community, Heart Fund leaders announced today, will carry its share of this imposing total.

The high point of the February-long campaign is Heart Sunday, its major fund-raising effort. State chairman Howard Johnson said today that despite the urgency of the heart disease toll, there will be "no high-pressure approach on Heart Sunday."

Ndalaningi Sithole, speaking before over 600 women attending the World Day of Prayer service at the Newtonville Congregational Church, declared that in order to have the experience which has been his as an educator in South Africa and a student in the United States, the opportunity must be given "that opportunity," he said, "came my way through missions in South Africa, and through Christian men and women all over the world who prayed and who financed those missions."

BORN TO pagan parents, and educated in mission schools and through correspondence courses with the University of South Africa, Mr. Sithole claimed that he and others like him were altered by the influence of the Christian Church because "the Christian Church has something to say to the world." The church in South Africa, he went on to say, was faced with practical difficulties in the field when it came to teach the spirit of Christ: there was no written language in South Rhodesia until the church came, and no hospitals. "Today," he said, "there are 21 million Christians in Africa: 40% or 90 million of the continent can read and write; the Bible has been translated into 32 of the 700 main languages, part of it into between 200 and 300; there are churches and hospitals and schools.

"The Church has been an instrument for good," he affirmed, "bringing together warring tribes, and creating better understanding between the whites and blacks. The Christian faith," he concluded, "has something for not any one tribe or race, but for all mankind. Jesus has given us a good standard, the standard of the cross; and when we look at the world through the eyes of the cross, life becomes bigger than ourselves, as yellow ceases to be yellow, black ceases to be black, and white ceases to be white; God becomes our Father, Jesus our brother, and we become 'one flock with one Shepherd'."

MR. SITHOLE was introduced to the congregation by Mrs. John S. Reuling, state chairman of the World Day of Prayer and a member of the Executive Committee of the United Church Women of Massachusetts. In introducing him she pointed out that although he was sixteen years old before he had contact with civilization

Parental Request Forms to Be Sent Out Tomorrow

Parental request forms will be distributed throughout the city tomorrow (Friday) to parents of pre-school children aged six months to five years of age from door to door by various civic groups for the purpose of securing consent to vaccine inoculations as a preventative of polio.

SIMILAR requests forms for school children, age five to 15 years of age will also be distributed through each public and parochial school. These cards, when completed by the parent, are to be returned to the school promptly within the week. There will be no vaccine available at present for adults, except for pregnant women, according to the Health Department.

On both these request forms, the parent fills in the data needed, and indicates whether the child is to receive the polio vaccine at school (public clinics) or whether it is preferred that the family doctor give the vaccine. If the family doctor is preferred, his name and address must be written on the request card. The doctor will obtain the free vaccine from the Health Department and though no charge will be made for the vaccine, the family will pay the doctor's usual fee for administering it.

Statement of Appreciation Is Issued From Eliot Church

The Prudential and Church Committee of Eliot Church met the day following the destructive fire of Saturday evening, February 11th, to consider in a general way the matter of carrying on the church effectively in the face of the tragic loss of our edifice. Everyone is deeply appreciative of the brotherly and neighborly offers of assistance which have come from churches, synagogues and organizations, transmitted by ministers, rabbis, church and group officials.

A special committee has been appointed to consider the immediate steps to be taken. The consensus of opinion is that Eliot Church is such an integral part of its section of Newton that the first consideration of invitations should be given to the Newton Corner churches and groups. However, all invitations have been most gratefully received and given careful consideration with appreciation.

Our leaders and church members understand the sincerity of all offers and especially the willingness of churches, synagogues and groups to sacrifice their own convenience and programs to make possible the presence of an invited guest congregation in their places of worship.

We hope that we of Eliot Church will plan thoughtfully with appreciation and consideration, having in mind the needs and requirements of our most generous hosts in this difficult interim period.

Preliminary Plans Discussed For Golden Jubilee Week

Preliminary plans for the appropriately named Golden Jubilee Fair, sponsored by the Women's Alliance of the First Unitarian Society in West Newton were discussed at the home of Mrs. Harry E. Raymond, West Newton, on Tuesday, February 14th. Alliance Fairs have been conducted bi-annually for the last 50 years to raise funds for the support of Unitarian activities and organizations.

In the spirit of unity this year's Jubilee will be held October 26th and 27th is headed by a committee of five, namely, Mrs. Robert K. Burns, Mrs. Langden W. Chandler, Mrs. Samuel Nesson, Mrs. Harry E. Raymond and Mrs. Chester W. Wilson, rather than by a general chairman as in the past. With this committee co-chairmen will co-ordinate all activities of their respective table assignments which to date are as follows: Aprons, Mrs. Helen W.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Herter Will Not Oppose Nixon for Vice Presidency, but Would Be Ready if Ike Decides on Another Running Mate

Governor Herter startled many political experts and most of his listeners by making a speech in Washington which was construed in some quarters as virtually eliminating himself as a candidate for either the presidency or the vice-presidency.

While some confusion has developed over Mr. Herter's remarks, the fact is that both his political status and his intentions seemed quite clear to this observer. The uncertainty actually surrounds President Eisenhower, not Governor Herter.

The Governor obviously assumes that Mr. Eisenhower will be a candidate for reelection. It is apparent that he also surmises that Ike will again pick Vice-President Richard M. Nixon as his running mate, although that assumption probably is not as strong as the first one.

Herter, of course, will not be a candidate for the presidency, if Eisenhower consents to run. If Ike announces in the near future that he has decided to stand for reelection, the Governor will simply sit back and await developments concerning the vice-presidency.

tures, was a most enlightening talk given by Safety Officer Charles Feeley of the Newton Police Department, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Dorfman, a member of the Women's Traffic Squad of the local Police Department. In his talk, Officer Feeley stressed the work which was being done to educate the youngsters particularly, on the necessity of observing traffic laws at all times, the proper way to observe traffic regulations and the safety precautions which should be taken always both by pedestrian and driver. He also cautioned mothers about allowing young tots out to play on busy streets without proper supervision. Mrs. Dorfman told of the work which she and other members of the Women's Division of the police department were doing to protect youngsters from traffic hazards while going to and from school.

The cooking school itself was very ably conducted and many appetizing and appealing dishes were mixed and cooked right before the audience and many fine points of the art of cooking explained.

THE MEAT CUTTING demonstration by experts from the Star Market, Newtonville, showed the audience the proper way of cutting meats and also how to select the finest qualities when purchasing all types of meats.

— Political Overtones —

Governor Herter knows, as do practically all other seasoned politicians, that whatever happens, there will be no open fight for the vice-presidential nomination at the Republican national convention and that the decision as to who will fill the second place on the GOP national ticket will be made at a conference of a small group of men.

There is no question but that the Democrats will center a large part of their fire on Nixon, if Eisenhower and Nixon are the Republican standard-bearers next autumn.

Top Democratic strategists believe that Nixon is extremely vulnerable and that a well-conceived attack upon him will shift a great many votes away from President Eisenhower, particularly since they intend to drive him to the voters that Nixon would become their president, if anything happened to Ike.

A number of highly placed Republican leaders, including some of President Eisenhower's closest advisers, also feel that Nixon is the weak spot in their picture and that he would be a liability rather than an asset to their ticket. So far they have not been able to bring the President around to their line of thinking, but they have not stopped trying, and the likelihood is that they will not stop trying right down to the eve of the San Francisco convention—if Ike is the candidate.

It will be President Eisenhower who will make the final decision as to his running mate, in the event that he himself consents to bear the presidential banner a second time. Mr. Eisenhower has some strong ideas about the right of a candidate for the presidency to choose the man who teams up with him on his ticket.

He went so far at a press conference last year before his heart attack as to declare that a presidential candidate should refuse the nomination, if he could not get a running mate acceptable to him. The President, most of whose adult lifetime was spent in the army and is still a comparative novice in the field of politics, is reportedly unable to understand the opposition to Nixon. Whether his lieutenants can make him understand it in the next six months remains to be seen.

The Eisenhower advisers point out that Nixon's approach to politics is directly opposite to that of the President. Where Eisenhower is for unity and conciliation, they assert, Nixon is for division and aggression.

Nixon himself has added fuel to the fires flaming against him. His statement in a Lincoln Day address when he said, referring to the Supreme Court, that "a great Republican chief justice has ordered an end to racial segregation in the nation's schools," was a serious blunder. The Supreme Court is not a one-man body, and partisan politics is supposed to stop at its doors.

But if President Eisenhower decides to run again and if he stands firm in his insistence that he wants Nixon on the ticket with him, then Nixon it will be, for the objection to Nixon is overshadowed by the great desire to have Ike lead the Republican campaign in 1956.

Under no circumstances would Governor Herter oppose Nixon for the vice-presidential nomination, if Nixon is Eisenhower's choice, and that is why at the moment Herter does not consider himself a candidate for anything.

If those White House advisers, who want Nixon dropped, should get their way, the logical selection in Nixon's place would be Governor Herter. But Herter can only wait to see whether such a situation develops.

And if Ike confounds the GOP politicians with an announcement that he will not run again, Herter would be the top contender for the presidential nomination.

Those Republicans who are apprehensive that Herter will fade out of the public scene, if Eisenhower and Nixon make up the GOP national ticket, can put aside their concern. Herter unquestionably will step into the cabinet, if President Eisenhower achieves a second term.

Real Contest for Democratic State Offices

Hard fights for the Democratic nominations for governor, lieutenant-governor, attorney-general and state treasurer already are taking form. Some of them will be carried over from the pre-primary convention in Worcester into the popular primary next September.

It is possible that candidates who have not yet disclosed their political plans may move into certain of the races, particularly the gubernatorial conflict, but this is how the contests shape up at this time:

A stiff battle for the right to run as the Democratic nominee for governor will be waged between Executive Councillor Patrick J. McDonough of Dorchester, former State Treasurer Foster Furcolo of Longmeadow and Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, one-time state auditor and former chairman of the state commission on administration and finance.

Buckley has declared that he will make his big bid in the September primary and will not be bound by the action of the state convention. Furcolo may adopt a similar attitude. McDonough, as a result of his jump on the rest of the field, stands today as the favorite to get the nod of the convention but then would face a bitter fight in the primary.

The big question mark in the Democratic gubernatorial picture is District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne. Some of the persons close to Byrne declare that he will seek the governorship. Others, who have access to him, predict that he will not. Byrne, the one person who really holds the answer, is saying nothing, and it may be that he has not made his final decision.

If Byrne stays out, McDonough will have the role of favorite. Furcolo's strength, however, is difficult to appraise. He defeated Congressman Philip J. Philbin by an overwhelming margin for the Democratic endorsement for the U. S. Senate at the 1954 pre-primary convention, but it was difficult to estimate how many votes he got on his own and how many ex-Governor Dever swung to him.

There also is a great deal of uncertainty as to what part, if any, Dever would take in a primary conflict. He has indicated that he will remain neutral. Even if he did not, however, he probably would find it much more difficult to take votes away from the colorful McDonough than it was from Philbin who did not make a strong fight in the Greater Boston area.

In appraising McDonough's prospects, it is well to remember that he made a very late start in 1954 and then came surprisingly close to defeating Robert F. Murphy for the gubernatorial endorsement at the pre-primary convention, even though Murphy had powerful backing from fellow members of the Legislature.

Murphy on his own could not have defeated McDonough, who topped him for three ballots. It wasn't until Dever stepped in and broke the logjam that Murphy was able to win. McDonough made his fight in six weeks last time. This time he is devoting six months to it, and he will be a hard man to match.

Top contenders for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor are Executive Councillors George A. Wells of Worcester and former Rep. James A. Burke of Hyde Park.

They were the contenders for the same endorsement in 1954, and Burke won. On that occasion, however, at least half of the delegates had left the convention hall and gone home before the balloting started for second place on the Democratic ticket.

Burke might have won under any circumstances, but it would have been hard to convince Wells' supporters that that was so. Their return match should be an extremely interesting one.

A hot battle for the Democratic endorsement for attorney-general will be fought by Boston City Council President Edward J. McCormack, Jr., nephew of Congressman John W. McCormack; Rep. Joseph D. Ward of Fitchburg and Governor's Councillor Endicott (Chub) Peabody of Cambridge, former Harvard football player.

McCormack's supporters would have been much better satisfied if there had been no pre-primary convention. They are fearful that the conclave may be controlled by legislators, as it was in 1954, and that the House members may be able to swing the endorsement of Ward.

They have been urging McCormack to bypass the convention and run in the primary, where he would be the favorite. The popular City Council head is still watching developments but is almost certain to do so, if he feels the convention is rigged against him.

Beautiful Eliot Congregational Church, dedicated to the teaching and principles of God and to the salvation of man, stands today in ruins. Yet from these ruins will rise another Eliot Church edifice to carry on the work which has been so ably undertaken in the demolished structure in the past.

It will rise again only after great efforts by members of this church and, we hope, by the generous and responsive action of all citizens of this community, irrespective of their religious beliefs. For Eliot Church served a great need and did a great work. Administered ably and completely by Rev. Dr. Ray A. Eusden, it accomplished a great good which cannot be erased by the fire which ravished destruction upon the beautiful edifice.

Already there are indications that many citizens of this city, irrespective of creed, are responding to the need for funds with which to rebuild a structure which once again will be Eliot Church, in deed as well as in fact.

But admirable as the response has been thus far, it is not enough. The church cannot be rebuilt unless money for its re-building becomes available. It is not enough that the members of the Eliot Church congregation respond to the limit of their financial ability. It must be that citizens not of the Congregational faith nor of the Eliot Church aid materially by responding and joining with the membership of the church to attain what must now appear a herculean effort.

Yet who will say that it will not be accomplished. While man has faith in his God nothing is insurmountable and the effort to accomplish fast becomes the more easy because in its rebuilding, the Eliot Congregational Church can, and will, do much in the future for the salvation of man.

Let every citizen who can possibly do so, lend his effort to that of the members of the Eliot Congregational Church and send their contribution to the Eliot Church Rebuilding Fund, thus helping in the work of God and giving inspiration to the Eliot Church congregation.

The contributions need not of necessity be large. If enough give a little, the total will be immeasurably increased and the burden of the task greatly lightened for an already burdened congregation who have the will to carry on.

Now is the time to show brotherhood and neighborly cooperation. Now is the time to send what you feel you can afford in aiding a work which is a community's work. A donation by you, no matter how small, to this great work will serve an inspiration to those of the Eliot Congregational Church to carry on and complete the task.

be paid to the contest for the Democratic endorsement for state treasurer, particularly since a Democrat is now holding the office. This year, however, will be an exception.

Democratic leaders would like to give the heave-ho to State Treasurer John F. Kennedy. They don't want him on their ticket, but getting him off may be quite an operation.

If Kennedy is defeated at the State convention, which he probably will be, he undoubtedly would run again in the September primary.

State Civil Service Commissioner Clement A. Riley of Norwood won the nomination at the 1954 convention, but Kennedy upset him in the primary and might well do so again.

State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley and Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin both will be unopposed at the State convention and probably in the September primary as well, although Cronin is likely to have all the fight he can handle, if popular Senate President Richard I. Furbush is his adversary in the November election.

Cronin, incidentally, accompanied Lieutenant Governor Whittier on the recent official junket to represent the Commonwealth in Trinidad. While representing the state, according to dispatches, Cronin put on rags and marched as a beggar in the big parade of Trinidad's celebration.

That is a rather novel costume for an elected official supposedly representing the great Commonwealth of Massachusetts, but apparently it was Cronin's idea of the thing to do.

Buckley, who remains out of the limelight, has no prospective opponents in either party at present. No one has stepped out to challenge him for the Democratic nomination, and so far there are no candidates for the Republican endorsement for state treasurer.

--- the informed citizen ---

A Weekly Column written and prepared by the Newton League of Women Voters and devoted to the principle that an informed citizen is a good citizen.

Budget-time is upon us again — municipal wise, that is. Prior to January 1st budgetary requests were prepared and presented to the Mayor by all City departments, but, as you know from the Mayor's inaugural address, all, including that of the School Department, were returned for further scrutiny with a view for possible cutting and consequent tax savings. In February the budget requests as finally prepared by the Mayor will be submitted to the Board of Aldermen for consideration.

Between the time of presentation and April 1st, the Finance Committee of the Board will be sitting late into many nights hearing the heads of the various departments explain their budgetary requests; these hearings are not open to the public.

Finally, sometime in March, for it must by law be approved by April 1st, the budget as recommended by the Finance Committee will come before the Board of Aldermen in open meeting where, after discussion of each item, the budget will be voted. With the exception of the School Department budget request, the Board of Aldermen may cut the budget requests as submitted by the Mayor or accept them without change, but there can be no increase of them.

But what of the School Department budget; how is that different? Though the management and control of the public schools is vested in our School Committee by provision in our City charter and though the members thereof are elected in City elections yet the powers and duties of such Committee are imposed by the laws of the Commonwealth; hence the School Committee members become almost State officials functioning on a local basis.

Consequently the budget, prepared by the School Committee in November and presented to the Mayor by December 1st, must be honored by the Board of Aldermen as presented to them without increase or decrease, unless upon action in the Courts the budget items are found improper. This budget covers the operating expenses of the schools, the salaries, all supplies, and all books, but it does not cover maintenance and improvement of school buildings, new buildings, or debt service. These items appear in the budget of other City departments, for, while it is the School Department which has exclusive custody of the operation of the schools and instruction therein, it is the City which builds and owns the buildings.

And what has municipal budget-time got to do with the ordinary citizen — except that eventually he will have to pay the innumerable items? Well, in reference to the School Department budget it is time for every Newton citizen to ponder some basic questions about education right here in Newton. This is especially so since the 1955 School budget came in for some sharp criticism on the floor of the Board of Aldermen.

It is time for each one of us to ask what kind and quality of education we want in the Newton schools; we should ask ourselves which is more sacred — high quality of education for our children, the best, or one of the lowest tax rates in the Commonwealth. We are "among the richest cities of its size in the United States," as the Massachusetts Department of Commerce puts it "ranking fourth in the family income in 1949, among the 231 cities in the United States, with populations of over 50,000." Can we afford the best quality in teaching personnel and services, or can't we?

Costs of education have gone up and will continue to rise — we have more children to educate, — (3,738 more since 1945), demanding more buildings to house them, necessitating more teachers to teach them, — (134 new teaching positions have been added and of course salaries have risen. Our per pupil expenditure for 1954-'55 was $309, but four other Massachusetts communities top us, — Brookline, Cambridge, Salem, and Belmont. It is true that 33-35% of Newton's municipal costs go for education, but YOU must decide this crucial question — are YOU willing to pay more to retain the best quality in teaching personnel and to retain and maybe enlarge our special services offered in the Schools.

So important is this question that each of you should call or write your three Aldermen (one Ward and two at-large) right now to let them know your feelings. They are our elected local representatives and as such should be advised on such important matters of policy

Newton Girl Scouts

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Troop 35 celebrated the birthday anniversary of their troop and leader, Mrs. Oscar Ober, on February 7. Mrs. Ober was presented with a sash from the girls. Songs were sung, games played and cake and ice cream was served. The order of refreshments were reversed when the girls ended the afternoon program by making and serving Fancy Pants Hamburgers as a requirement of their cooking badge. Mrs. Joseph Burke supervises the cooking course.

SERVICE PROJECT

If any Newton or surrounding community troop is looking for a service project, we have a most worthy suggestion. Troop 115, Bigelow School, are working for their fair to be held on May 19 at the YMCA as their fund raising project to finance a trip to Washington in April 1957. This troop met and stored their materials, equipment and finished pieces at the club room of the Eliot Church which was completely destroyed by fire two weeks ago. Their equipment and materials can be replaced, through much more hard work, but the four months' time spent in making the articles for the fair can never be reclaimed. It occurred to the writers of your Girl Scout column that this loss to Troop 115 presents an opportunity for other troops to do service within their own community where tragedy has struck. You may want to make an apron, a pretty collar or replace some of their lost equipment. Among their losses were sequins and fancy decorations for collars, felt, material and trim for aprons, paints, paint brushes, ounce balls of wool and cellophane wrapping. We know that the troop and their leader, Mrs. Robert Hunter, will greatly appreciate any service you may render them.

LEARNING ABOUT ENGLAND

The troops have recently had speakers from England on their program. On February 4, Brownie Troop 4 of Angier School invited the two other fourth grade troops to join them for square dancing and to hear Mrs. Jerome Colten tell about Girl Guides in England.

Mrs. Colten told the Scouts of her adventures as a Brownie there, as a patrol leader and as a representative at an encampment at Windsor Castle where the two young princesses visited daily. A lively question and answer period about camping and hiking in England followed.

Joan Decan, Wendy Colten, Enid Perry, Lee Sherman, Iris Yoffa and Mrs. Allan M. Yoffa of Troop 4 were hostesses. Guests from Troop 8 were Jane Freeman, Sally Williamson, and Merle Isenberg; from Troop 36, Carol MacCuspie, Harriet Levine, Laurie Gold, Mary Carven, Christine Anderson, Ann Fisher, Mary Struthers, Meredith Rowbotham, Mrs. Morton Levine and Mrs. Norman MacCuspie.

ST. BERNARD'S INVESTITURE

Mrs. Katherine McEnaney was organist.

Reverend Richard L. Osterman blessed the Girl Scout and Brownie pins. Each leader invested her troop, her assistant leader and troop committee members.

New leaders invested were: second grade Brownie troop, Mrs. Rosemary Bonica; third grade Brownie troop, Mrs. Basil Gargone; fourth grade Brownie troop, Miss Jane Lynch; fifth grade Scout troop, Mrs. Margaret Fahey; sixth grade Scout troop, Mrs. Jane Hogan; seventh-eighth grade Scout troop, Miss Marjorie Holland. There are "frank" conditions in which a television signal can be transmitted over astonishing distances. A Mexico City program has been picked up in Colorado, and a TV set in Jamaica has pulled in a signal from New York City. How does this phenomenon occur... and why can't it be done all the time?

There's nothing phenomenal about radio signals being heard around the world. Regular "long wave" radio earth and bend with the earth's signals along to the surface of the earth. Short wave radio doesn't do this... but the short radio wave does go around the world because it is reflected back to the earth by a layer of ionized air in the outer atmosphere. In this way the signal "bounces" back and forth between earth and sky... thus covering great distances.

The TV signal won't do this ordinarily. It heads straight for the horizon and beyond it into space... right through that layer of air. But rare atmospheric conditions will reflect the signal back... and this produces the unusual situation of long range television reception.

Is your TV signal being "lost en route"? Call on Lee Loumos for the service of every kind to recapture that signal again... for picture-perfect reception.

Temple Shalom Observing Purim Festivities During The Week

In traditional and festive manner, the members of Temple Shalom of Newton are observing the holiday of Purim throughout this current week. Purim which falls this year on February 26, is a Biblical festival based on the Book of Esther which tells the story of self-sacrifice for the sake of all, and freedom for the individual as represented in the lives of Queen Esther and the mentor Mordecai. It is also a festival of great rejoicing with its triumph of liberty and equality—one of the few Jewish holidays of the year free from high solemnity. It is a holiday ready-made for improvised festivity.

The Purim activities of Temple Shalom will begin on Tuesday afternoon, February 21, when the Kindergartners of the Religious School will play host to the Cradle Roll, the Pre-Kindergartners, at a costume party. Games, songs, prizes and refreshments—all symbolic of the holiday will be the theme of the afternoon.

February 24, the congregation will join with the choir and Rabbi Murray I. Rothman in a special program in honor of Jewish Music Month, which will include Purim songs and music.

A Purim carnival in the setting of the city of Shushan will replace the regular Religious School sessions on Saturday and Sunday mornings. Children dressed in costumes to resemble the famous Biblical figures of this festival will spend "Shekels" for games and traditional pastries. The shekels (money) have been earned through good conduct and good attendance for the month previous to Purim, by the children of the Religious School.

On Sunday, February 26, the celebration will include the grades 7-9. A Purim party, organized by the Student Council and sponsored by the PTA will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Religious School building, 175 Temple street, West Newton.

Warren Junior H. S. Notes

The Levi F. Warren Junior High School of West Newton tribute the nation in paying tribute to the Boy Scouts of America on their forty-sixth birthday. That Warren appreciates this world-wide organization that does so much for the good of boys everywhere is evidenced through the school's color guard made up of Boy Scouts and also Girl Scouts. Each assembly is opened with the formal presentation of the National and State flags by the color guard. Serving in this capacity this year are John Derr, captain; Donn Springer, Arthur Bliss, Kenneth Flanagan and Stephen Richmond of the Boy Scouts; Dorothy Reed, Mary Ann Theophile, Catherine Dynes, Joan Schoonmaker, and Helen Kent of the Girl Scouts.

Safety Posters

During recent weeks a campaign has been on at the Warren Junior High School to secure safety slogans for use on posters to be displayed in corridors, on stairways, and in other possible danger spots in the building, as constant reminders to pupils of the need for consideration for the safety of others as well as themselves, by obeying the school's safety rules. The slogans selected as the most meaningful were submitted to Mrs. Jan Swearer, teacher of art, who, with the help of members of the Art Club, made posters bearing the slogans. These are now on display in many parts of the building.

Some of the slogans selected for display were: Walk Single File, or You'll Land in a Pile! Walking Double Will Get You in Trouble! Don't Kill Yourself, Still Yourself! Use the Stairs Wisely or Else! Know Your ABC's—Always Be Careful! Don't Run Fast or You'll Land in a Cast! Don't Skip, You Might Flip! Reported by Elizabeth Carr, Jr. II.

March of Dimes

During the week of the March of Dimes Drive throughout the nation pupils of Warren joined in contributing toward the work of relieving the suffering of so many of their own age group afflicted with polio. Home Room 11 conducted a special project to raise funds in addition to those contributed voluntarily by homeroom pupils. Edward Tejero, a member of the homeroom, provided cartoon films from his own movie equipment for a movie show after school. Chris Perry was in charge of tickets which were nine cents; and Rein Olvet and Jerry Dangel acted as ushers. Among the films, which were run by Mr. Charles F. Tower, who has charge of visual equipment in the school, were Mighty Mouse, Woody Woodpecker and Andy Panda. A total of $3.50 was added to the March of Dimes fund.

Reported by Holly Peck, Jr. I.

Pupil Ancestry

Pupils in Miss Avis Walsh's Jr. III English classes have just finished a unit on "America: A Nation of Nations". A survey of the classes showed English, Scotch, Irish, Italian, Russian, French, German, Swiss, Polish, African, and Scandinavian ancestry. Each pupil selected his own heritage and studied the history, the men and deeds that the country had contributed to America and World progress, the literature, the art, and the music.

Some of the research work was done by committees. Throughout the study pupils learned how to use the local and main libraries to find books, pictures, and recordings to illustrate their units. In exploring the countries of their ancestors in story, song, and pictures, pupils learned how to use encyclopedias, biographies, and histories, and to make correct bibliographies. They interviewed parents and the art and music teachers for specific materials about their chosen country. They learned how to select and organize their materials for presentation orally to the class, and to proofread for errors in spelling, punctuation, capitalization, and sentence structure in their illustrated booklets.

Outstanding booklets and displays of costumes, china, silver, coins, stamps, and paintings were placed in the display cabinets of the Warren Junior High School.

The unit gave pupils a chance to be proud of their ancestry.

and it heightened their appreciation of their own country as a nation who owes much to those who brought their cultures with them from overseas. The whole project, "America: A Nation of Nations," proved rich in occasions for interrelating the language arts (reading, writing, speaking, and listening) with music, art, history, travel, and geography.

Reported by Julie Bergmark, Jr. III, assisted by Miss Walsh.

Map On Mythology

An interesting display on the office floor bulletin board at Warren is a picture map on mythology. The project was done by Sandra Barkin, Diane Appleton and Charlotte Hayward in connection with their English work under Miss Esther Pepin. Pictures showed gods and goddesses with accompanying information about them; then in many cases a connection was shown between a god or goddess and some currently marketed product. For example, included were Mars and the popular candy bar; Mercury and the automobile bearing the same name, also Mobilgas, with their advertisement showing the horse that has wings. Double uses of a name were also shown, as Jupiter, king of the Gods, and also Jupiter, a planet. Projects such as this make subjects such as mythology seem more alive and much more interesting to today's boys and girls.

Reported by Sandra Barkin, Jr. III.

Dog Psychologist at Assembly
Pupils of Jr. I had a rare treat at their last special assembly. After the opening exercises and the flag ceremony, James Gifford, Boys' vice-president, introduced Mr. C. E. Harbison, of Darien, Connecticut, nationally known authority on the care, feeding and training of dogs. His subject was "Training Your Dog". This was his second visit to Warren.

After explaining his subject and why he was particularly interested in speaking before assemblies, Mr. Harbison brought out a well-trained dog of his own, named Jeannie. Together they gave some very cute demonstrations on the training of dogs.

SPOTLIGHT ON WEEKS

Sadie Hawkins, or girls invite the boys, was the theme at the Heart Hop, Weeks' Valentine Dance. Even with a tremendous sale of tickets there were still not enough to meet the demand. Big red letters on the gym wall proclaimed the name of the dance while drawn-bow cupid completed the motif. A four piece band supplied popular music for the nearly 500 pupils who attended. Cold cokes were extremely welcome after a lively jitterbug. Everyone agreed that the Ninth Grade had sponsored another wonderful dance.

With the completion of Meadowbrook Junior High School next week, nearly 600 pupils at Weeks will transfer their entire divisions with their teachers to the beautiful modern school. Since this will leave three vacancies in the Ninth Grade Cabinet and the Treasurer's position on the Council without officers, an election was held last week. The newly elected slate of the Ninth Grade Cabinet is: Linda Rubin, President, Nancy Dutton Secretary, and Robert Reed, Treasurer, with Chris Lee remaining as Vice President. Eddie Polen was elected Treasurer of the Council to serve with the present officers: Hal Cohen, President, Judy Arnold, Vice President, and Marilyn Saltz, Secretary.

Standing The Weather

When the famous New York editor once told his cub reporters that "When a dog bites a man it is not news, but when a man bites a dog, it is news." Like all slogans this one has to be modified and reversed if we would get at the truth about the weather of the 1955-56 winter, for like the old hour-glass by which we measure time, it does not "keep time" unless we turn it upside down.

The weather of this winter has not only bitten in but in very large degree we have turned around and bitten the weather. Our teeth have been on edge and our nerves have growled and barked all over the lot. The constant dull skies, the incessant rain and the obstinate thermometer have made news which overtops all other news. Europe is having at this moment a cold and ice-sheeted winter such as has not been known for nearly a century, and around Boston and Newton, business, domestic life, schools and engagements of all sorts have been scrambled eggs in a frying pan. We have always considered that to talk about the weather is the limit of stupidity, but this winter has given us little else to talk about. To talk about it and yet not be pessimistic and angry will turn out to be our highest report and of wisdom. To be at peace just now with our environment since December 1, 1955 will turn out to be at least a sign of mental and spiritual adjustment to forces out of our control. To a large extent our adjustment to the weather is an expression of faith, that tests our confidence in the universe. Our union with both so-called good weather and so-called bad weather is a kind of marriage contract which in the Prayer Book says, "... must not be entered into lightly or inconsiderately but soberly, discreetly and in the fear of God." It carries echoes of deep meaning into all parts of our nature, and insight on our learning self-control within ourselves when everything outside of us is clearly beyond our control.

All of this kind of philosophy does not offer us a solution of the weather but does throw some light on proper rules of good conduct and good manners toward our inseparable companion. Like an inseparable and trusted companion such a companionship allows us to enjoy a sense of humor at his expense and our friend never gets any more angry at us if we joke about him. There are three weather-stories about this matter which are worth remembering. It is a tradition that when all of Boston complained about the fierce Northeast wind at Park and Tremont Street, Oliver Wendell Holmes remarked, "Boston ought to tether a shorn lamb in front of the Park Street Church because God tempests the wind to a shorn lamb." Holmes thus helped to make Boston warmer! In the same way Mark Twain gave us a good clue when he said "everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it." This has in it a touch of reverence at least.

In my own experience, in my boyhood in Kentucky I heard an old-fashioned negro preacher pray to the Almighty for rain. "Lord, send us rain 'cause our crops is dying an' will starve if rain don't come. Don't send us a sizzle-sizzler! Send us real rain." In the middle of his prayer the rain came, the steeple of the church blew down and the windows blew in with a hurricane! But the old preacher met the situation with some wisdom! He first quieted his frightened congregation and then in a calm self-possessed voice he looked up to the leaking roof and said, "Now, Lord, this is ridiculous." If the old preacher practiced religious impertinence, he at least expressed in his own way a friendship with the Almighty on a cooperative and understandable basis, a quality which many prayers lack.

There are signs also of impertinence in our present-day prophecies that science is foretelling a new sun that will circle the earth and, for a while at least, compete with the sun that we have always known. Irreverence and ignorance can go no further! We are warned that modern science may need our forgiveness as much as the old negro preacher needed it. And the familiarity with which our breakfast-table radio "slaps the weather on the back" is another warning of the same kind, as splendid as it is, if we place it under the control of our minds.

It seems certain that if we cannot understand the weather we can and must stand it. Clad in our finite garments of flesh and blood we are wholly finite and subject to insurmountable inconveniences and interruptions; clad in possible garments of infinity and lose our fears. By adding bad personality or bad temper to bad weather we create total badness out of attainable goodness. To say "Peace, be still," is still our best hope in the face of all tempests!

Make Study of Tuberculosis Meningitis In Children

Dr. Herbert Kaufmann, at Boston City Hospital, is one of 32 pediatricians throughout the country who are cooperating in a study of tuberculous meningitis in children, which is sponsored by grants from the U.S. Public Health Service and by Christmas Seal grants from the National Tuberculosis Association and the Massachusetts Tuberculosis and Health League.

Tuberculous meningitis, which affects the covering of the brain and spinal cord, is the most dreaded of possible complications of pulmonary tuberculosis in children. "Through this study," said Dr. Kaufmann, "it is hoped to determine, on a scientific basis, whether isoniazid should be routinely prescribed for any child who has a tuberculous infection, even though no symptoms are apparent. If this is true, it will be the first drug to prove of value in preventing serious complications in children with first infection tuberculosis. The studies, now nearing the completion of the first year, show that no serious toxic effects have resulted from isoniazid.

The nation-wide research study has developed from a previous research project at the Bellevue Hospital, New York, where Dr. Edith Lincoln had observed that no child had developed tuberculous meningitis while being treated with the drug isoniazid. Dr. Shirley H. Ferebee, who is directing the study with Dr. Carroll E. Palmer, said that within a year, 2,000 children will be involved and that 70 per cent of them will be under the age of five. The children will be treated for one year from the time primary infection is discovered and will be followed thereafter for at least one additional year.

The study involves a budget of $76,618 of which the U. S. Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis Association have allocated a total of $54,509. The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association reports that the meningitis research is only one of forty medical research projects on various phases of tuberculosis sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association through the financial support of its affiliates. The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, one of 3,000 affiliates of the NTA, gives 6 per cent of the Christmas Seal funds raised in Newton to the National Association, which in turn, budgets one sixth of its income to research. Additional research projects and special research demonstrations are being supported in Massachusetts by Christmas Seal funds.

THANKS SCHOOL BOARD
Editor, Newton Graphic:

The following letter has been sent to the Newton School Committee. It is a public expression of gratitude from a Newton veterans' organization for the unprecedented action of the school committee. We are glad to point out to your readers this fine, positive effort.

"As commander of the Lt. Stanton M. Amesbury Post, VFW, of Auburndale, I wish to commend the members of the Newton School Committee for their unselfish action in permitting this organization the use of the auditorium and cafeteria at Levi F. Warren Junior High School on Sunday, February 5.

"The First Grand Annual Baton Twirlers' Jubilee, one feature of the Post's community and youth service program, attracted more than 250 youngsters from the Northeastern United States to compete for nearly 100 trophies and medals. "It was gratifying, indeed, to the Post's members to be able to conduct this contest in such a fine school building. We are grateful for the aid and co-operation given us by James M. Blake, head custodian; Joseph McCormack and Vincent Cucci, custodians, and especially the personal attention given by John J. Foran, school fireman.

"We were fortunate in receiving unusually fine radio, television, news reel, newspaper and magazine coverage for this event. Coincidentally, we are glad that this publicity also focused attention on the Newton school facilities."

HOUSE BILL 1268

Editor, Newton Graphic:

On January 23, 1956, the Legislative Committee on Cities heard House Bill 1268, introduced by Representative Joseph O'Loughlin of Boston at the request of the Alumnae and Home and School Association of the Girls' Latin School. This bill requested the authorization of the taking of certain public lands in Boston by the School Committee for the erection of a new Girls' Latin School building. For two years the School Department has sought this land so that its unique and highly successful system of specialized central schools could be maintained. They were also prompted by the knowledge that, except for the Trade High School for Girls, there was no public school in that area of Boston bounded by the harbor, the Charles River, and east of Dudley street—that large area of Boston representing the City Proper, the West End, the North End, the Back Bay, and a large area of Roxbury—where a girl could obtain a high school diploma. However, the land was peremptorily denied them by the Mayor and the appointed Park Department.

We do not seek to establish a precedent by asking for park lands for already land has been granted to various groups for various purposes. It now becomes a question whether the young student is deserving of the same consideration shown the same group groups. Surely a world famous school is a better advertisement for Boston than a derelict field in the center of town. Certainly in return for taxes paid, the taxpayer deserves an education for his daughter rather than a few petunias on tax-free land for privileged few residents. Too long the cause of education has been the whipping boy in Boston—there is money and land for everyone and everything but the school system.

From the entire state has come support for Bill 1268; adverse criticism has been purely personal. May we therefore hope that the Committee will find it possible to file its report very soon as thousands of parents, alumnae, and friends of the School are vitally interested in its final disposition. Elizabeth Scannell (Mrs. David Scannell, Jr.) President, the Girls' Latin School Alumnae Association.

Dr. John Adams, Jr., Chairman, Friends of the Girls' Latin School.

Nelle R. Kozodoy (Mrs. Max Kozodoy) President, the Girls' Latin School Home and School Association.

"I only regret that I have but one life to give for my Country." The alternate who gave an excellent talk was Richard Haloran, his subject being "Speech for Freedom," a talk totally unrelated to the winner's but nevertheless similarly related.

The Toastmaster for the evening was William W. Russell, senior member of Palmer Russell Co., Realtors, of Brookline, assisted by a new member, Lawrence (Larry) Manning of Newton as Toastmaster who con-

Do You Know Massachusetts

Haverhill Biggest in Shoe Manufacture

Massachusetts continues to lead all other states in shoe production. In December the Commonwealth produced 9,672,000 pairs, 55% more than the second largest state, New York, as reported by the U. S. Dept. of Commerce. New England Shoe and Leather Association reports that in 1954, Haverhill, with value of shoe output of $41,183,247, employing 5,000 production workers who earned $13,303,573 in wages, was the largest shoe producing city of the Commonwealth. Boston ranked second with $37,606,486 value of product, Brockton $33,662,310, Lynn $21,535,785, Lowell $17,461,520, Marlboro $17,111,000, Worcester $16,487,296, Lawrence $14,418,547, Cambridge $11,020,312, Middleboro $10,480,391, Salem $7,338,022 and Hudson $2,329,051. These places produced 66% of the Commonwealth's total shoe output reported at $341,879,135.

High Penetration of Television
Television Magazine estimates that during 1955 the number of television homes in Massachusetts reached 1,328,490, or 92% of the total of families, estimated at 1,450,900. For these sets the retail price was placed at $5,334,024,000. The highest concentration in the state was in Berkshire and Bristol Counties where the number of television homes was estimated at 95% of the total families.

Furniture Output Substantial

Twenty-three countries have issued commemoratives in 1954-55 in honor of the 50th anniversary of Rotary International, and six more are expected to follow suit shortly. Collectors who have chosen this popular topical group usually try to include three earlier issues from Austria, Brazil, and Cuba, honoring Rotary conventions. Those interested will find an up-to-date checklist on these Rotary issues in the December, 1955 issue of Scott's Monthly Journal.

Topicals are those stamps which are collected for their pictures, regardless of country of issue. They are collected according to subject, such as ships, maps, architecture, sports, flowers, etc. One of the most widely collected topical fields is "ships." In February, 1954, a set was issued by the Falkland Islands Dependencies which pleased the heart of many a topical collector. Fifteen stamps comprise the set, and each stamp, in addition to the picture of Queen Elizabeth II, shows a different ship against a background of glaciers, snow and ice. The ships are all vessels which have participated in Antarctic voyages.

This is an extremely interesting set, but the most interesting part to me is the fact that the 15d. value bears the picture of a small ship named the "Wyatt Earp." Now, Mr. Earp, as any TV fan knows, was one of the West's most famous gun-toting peace marshalls. How his name came to appear on a stamp from an authority thousands of miles away was deeply mystifying.

A letter to the Crown Agents in London quickly cleared up the mystery. The ship, a motor fishing vessel, was built in Norway in 1910 and named the "Fanejord" and was of 400 tons displacement. Lincoln Ellisworth, the famous explorer, acquired her about 1935 and used her on two voyages to the Dependencies. He named her after the famous Western gunman for a reason known only to himself. However, I surmise that the reason might be that Wyatt Earp was at one time marshal in Ellsworth, Kansas. She was with the Royal Australian Navy for a while and is now in operation in Australian waters under the name of "Wongala." This set of stamps should therefore be of interest to the collector of English Colonials, of ships, of Antarctica, and of Americana.

COLLECTORS OF AMERICA will also be interested in the new set of stamps recently issued by Colombia, in South America. The set was issued to honor the seventh Convention of the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain which was held in Bogota, the country's capital. Featured are patriots who were responsible for the establishment of freedom in the Americas. San Martin, Bolivar and George Washington appear on the stamps. John D. Rockefeller, the well-known American philanthropist, appears on one of a new Belgian set. Others honored are E. Holboll, the promoter of the anti-tuberculosis stamps in Belgium, and Sir R. Philip, English professor of medicine.

THE UNITED NATIONS has announced its program for 1956, as far as stamps are concerned. On Feb. 17 two values will be issued to honor the International Telecommunications Union. On April 9 two stamps will promote the World Health Organization. Oct. 24 will see the two new United Nations Day, and Human Rights Day will be honored as usual on Dec. 8 with two new values. Designs of the stamps will be based on recommendations of the International Panel of Artists.

THE NEW YORK TIMES has announced that mail may soon be carried on New York's subways. The idea is that the subways would avoid the traffic jams which presently tie up the Post Office Department trucks. It comes as a surprise to me that they think they can find room on the New York subway for a few mail sacks.

GLENN L. MARTIN, pioneer flyer and mail pilot passed away on Dec. 4 at the age of 69. He had many "firsts," including the carrying of mail. Since 1909, when he flew a plane of his own making, this great airman lived for aviation, and he built his aircraft company into one of the world's greatest.

ISRAEL HAS ANNOUNCED that the second group of four in its new set of the "Tribes" stamps have been prepared. These will honor the tribes of Shimon, Yehuda, Gad, and Zebulun.

FROM VATICAN CITY comes a new set of stamps to honor Pope Nicholas V and to mark the five hundredth anniversary of his death. Nicholas V, (Tommaso Parentucelli) reigned from 1447 to 1455. He was the first humanist pontiff and laid the basis of the famous Vatican library.

Today's Chuckle

A boy, four, walked into the room of his aunt while she was engaged in prettifying herself before a mirror and asked, "What are you doing?"

"Massaging my face with cold cream," the aunt replied.

"Would you like a treatment?"

"No, I don't have a cold," the little boy answered.

Your Income Taxes

This is the second in a series of eight articles on Federal and State Income Taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Where can I get the answer to a question on Federal taxes?

If you have an unusual tax problem, you should go to the local office of the Director of Internal Revenue or to a competent tax man.

Is the pension I receive from my former employer considered taxable income?

Your pension is considered taxable income unless you contributed a certain amount to the pension plan through payroll withholdings. An illustration will help to clarify the latter situation:

Assume that a man retired on January 1, 1955, at age 65. During his period of employment he contributed a total of $9000 toward a pension plan. The $9000 represents his investment in the pension plan.

Assume further that the individual received $150 a month during 1955 from his pension. Of the $1800 received in 1955, he will have to report $1200. The remainder, $600, is considered a return of his investment. The taxpayer will continue to report the $1200 each year for the remainder of his life.

The $600 exclusion is determined in the following way: Divide the investment in the contract ($9000) by the annual payments ($1800) multiplied by the number of years a person of the taxpayer's age is expected to live (this number can be obtained from actuarial tables available either from insurance firms or the Director of Internal Revenue). In the case of the taxpayer in this example the multiple is 15, so the $9000 investment is divided by $1800 times 15, or $27,000. The resulting fraction is one-third, which is the proportion of the annual payments of $1800 which is considered a return of investment and not subject to tax. Thus, subtracting one-third, or $600, the taxpayer would report $1200 of his pension income for the year as taxable.

I retired on January 1, 1955, and I am receiving a pension of $100 a month. During my period of employment I paid $3200 into the pension fund. This is in addition to the amount contributed by the employer. How should I report this income in my 1955 tax return?

You will not have to report your pension until you have received $3200. Thereafter, the entire amount received each year will be considered taxable income. Your pension is covered by a special rule which applies when both employer and employee contribute to the cost of the annuity and the annuity payments during the first three years will equal or exceed the employee's contribution.

Are contest awards and prizes considered taxable income?

Generally speaking, yes. The payment received is usually deemed to be consideration for services rendered by the contestant to the company making the award. In some instances, however, the amount received may be considered a gift rather than income for services rendered. A gift is not taxable income.

I am employed at a salary of $120 a week. I was absent from work because of sickness for three weeks. During this period my employer paid me my regular salary. How should I report this on my 1955 Federal return?

If your employer has a wage continuation plan and you were injured or hospitalized for at least one day during your absence, you may deduct $300 as "Sick Pay." If you were not injured or hospitalized, your deduction will be $200. The $100 deduction for the first seven calendar days is not allowed unless an employee is hospitalized for at least one day during his absence or is injured.

In 1955 I sold my residence for a profit. How should I report the sale on my Federal tax return?

It depends on whether or not you replaced the old residence with another residence. The replacement must be made within one year before or after the sale of the old residence.

Example: A residence purchased in 1938 for $8000 is sold in 1955 for $14,000, net of the broker's commission. If the replacement cost is $12,500, the amount taxable as a gain is the unexpended proceeds, $1500. If the cost of the new residence is $16,000, there would be no taxable gain because there is no unexpended proceeds.

When there is no replacement, the gain on the sale of your residence is taxable. However, a loss on the sale of residential property is not deductible because the purchase of a residence is not considered a transaction entered into for profit. If you own the property for six months or less, 100% of the profit is taxable; if you own the property for more than six months, only 50% of the profit is taxable.

I sold my residence during 1955. Two months before I sold it I repapered and painted the

Dr. Albert Buckner Coe To Be Speaker at 3rd Lenten Service

DR. A. B. COE

Dr. Albert Buckner Coe of Boston, nationally known Congregational Christian church leader and Moderator of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches in America, will speak at the third Lenten Service of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church on "Our Conference — Its Work, Its Vision" on Wednesday, February 29, at 8 P.M. in the Parish Hall. Dr. Frederic Groetsema, who has arranged the programs, will lead the meeting.

AS MODERATOR of the General Council, the highest honorary post which it is in the power of the denomination to bestow upon a member of its fellowship, Dr. Coe is the elected leader for the 1954-56 biennium, of around 6000 churches with a membership of 1,283,754.

Dr. Coe came to his national post with an unusual background of knowledge about the different parts of the USA, for he is a Southerner by birth, has held successful pastorates in the Middle West and New England, and is now Minister and President of the historic Massachusetts Conference of Congregational Christian Churches, with headquarters on Beacon Hill, Boston.

Not only is Dr. Coe the member of a family which has supplied leaders in the Protestant ministry for five generations, but he has two sons who are Congregational Christian ministers in Massachusetts and Connecticut. Furthermore, two of his brothers are Congregational ministers.

AS A WORLD traveler, Dr. Coe has visited India and Ceylon, going there as a member of a special deputation for three and a half months under the American Board, and the Near East and Europe in the interests of Relief and Reconstruction work. In the spring of 1955 he made a Moderator's tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

Nationally, Dr. Coe has served his denomination on the Executive Committee of the General Council and was national Chairman of the Congregational Committee for War Victims and Reconstruction. He was a member of the Committee on Direction of the Federal Council Commission for Study of Bases for a Just and Durable Peace.

His interests stretch from Talladega College in Alabama and Berea College in Kentucky to Lady Doak College, in Madras, South India, and Andover-Newton Theological Seminary in Newton, for he is a trustee of all these institutions. He is also a member of the Prudential Committee of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, the oldest foreign missionary society in America.

HE WAS a delegate to the First and Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches, and to the International Congregational Council in St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1953.

Dr. Coe has been a guest preacher in Great Britain and Canada and is in much demand as a speaker in the colleges and universities of the USA. He is an Alden-Tuthill lecturer at Chicago Theological Seminary this year. He has written for various publications and is the author of two books, "Born for Victory" and "Let Us Pray."

Dr. Coe was born in North Carolina and educated at Western Maryland College and Yale.

College Notes

Arthur P. Champagne, of 3 Faxon street, Newton, was elected to the Dean's List at Industrial Technical School in Boston for outstanding scholastic achievement.

He was awarded the gold key signifying membership in the Industrial Technical Engineering Society, an honorary group who have been elected to the Dean's List at least once during their technical training.

College Notes

Judith Field of Newton was a member of the court of beauty at Northeastern University's annual R.O.T.C. Military Ball held in the Sherry Biltmore Hotel, Boston, last Friday.

Miss Field was among six attendants chosen by the University's Seaboard and Blade, military honor fraternity, to wait on Queen Mary Youngworth of Squantum.

Newtonite Of The Week

BY LEWIS B. SIMONS

This week I take particular pleasure in saluting the hundreds of Newtonites who will take part in next Sunday's Heart Fund Appeal.

February is National Heart Month. During this month the American Heart Association and its affiliates ask our support in the struggle to reduce untimely deaths from heart disease. Next Sunday, February 26, one of your neighbors, working as an unpaid volunteer, will come to your home to receive your expression of support to this vital cause.

Why do so many Newtonites rally behind the Massachusetts Heart Association?

Heart disease is the nation's No. 1 health problem. More people die each year from diseases of the heart and blood vessels than all other maladies combined. Heart disease is not restricted to any age group. In Massachusetts over 9,000 people in 1954, under the age of 65, died from cardiac failure. Rheumatic heart disease still remains childhood's worst enemy.

These facts are not given to frighten but rather to point out the scope of the heart disease problem.

The Massachusetts Heart Association is a front line soldier in the fight against heart diseases. Research, education and community service are its weapons.

We do not need an elephant's memory to recall the once appalling death rate of diphtheria, tuberculosis, small pox, typhoid and a host of other diseases. Today these ills are either nonexistent, controlled, or are in the process of extinction. Research, conducted by medical scientists, is responsible for this.

As these other diseases have been conquered through research, so too can heart disease. Research has two ingredients, time and money. These ingredients are used to train and encourage scientists, and to provide them with the tools necessary for their experimentation. The money for heart research comes from us, the concerned public. The degree to which we can be free of heart disease is in direct correlation to the amount of support we lend our Heart Association.

When your Heart Neighbor comes to your door this Sunday, welcome him or her with a generous gift, for a gift to the Heart Fund is truly a gift of life.

News of Day

Elections . . . The big news this week at Day Junior High School is the assembly where the newly elected staffs are inducted. The Student Council handles all student government matters. Miss Helen Vazmaian and Mrs. Eileen Anderson are the sponsors.

Mrs. Lorraine Holmes is the sponsor of the Library Council, which performs many library duties.

The Cafeteria Staff sees that the cafeteria is run in a harmonious way under the guidance of Mr. John Shaw.

Another way students serve

Day Junior High is helping on the Playground Staff at noon time. Miss Katherine Crowley is responsible for the girls and Mr. John Eldert for the boys. Sports . . . The Varsity Basketball team won a nip and tuck battle against Needham by the score of 41-40. It also defeated Weeks by the score of 40-26. The final game of the season was played with Wellesley Junior High with the score of 40-37 in favor of Day.

Future dates . . . Two big dates to keep in mind are: the Leap Year Dance on February 29th, the Science Fair and Open House on March 28th, and the Spring Concert on May 4th at Day Junior High School.
